

HUNDREDS OF PEOPLE KILLED BY EARTHQUAKE IN AN ITALIAN PROVINCE

Entire Villages Devastated
By Frightful Tremors of the Earth.

The Known Dead Up to Present Time, Number 347.

Hospital at Calanzaro Collapses and Many Inmates Injured.

Rome, Sept. 8.—Details of the earthquake in Calabria indicate an enormous disaster. The known dead, up to the present time, number 347. In addition many persons were injured.
Entire villages have been devastated.

Catanzaro, Province of Calabria, Italy, Sept. 8.—A violent earthquake at 2:55 o'clock this morning caused serious loss of life and widespread destruction in Calabria. The towns of Pizzo, Monteleone Di Calabria and Martirano were almost entirely destroyed. At Monteleone Di Calabria seven persons were killed outright and many were injured. The Pizzo district is said to be almost entirely destroyed.

Locally the shocks lasted eighteen seconds. The walls of the hospital here collapsed and some of the patients were injured. The inhabitants of this city fled panic-stricken from their houses.

All the houses at Stefaneli have been wrecked by the earthquake. It is feared that 100 people are buried in the ruins. The villages of Pizzopio and Tripani have been destroyed. A grave news continues to arrive from Pizzo, Monteleone Di Calabria and Martirano, which have been almost entirely destroyed by the earthquake. There are numerous victims. It was hoped that the district of Nicastro had escaped, but that also has been seriously affected.

At Martirano all the buildings have collapsed, including the barracks of the gendarmes. Six wounded men have thus far been taken from the ruins.
There are other victims. Troops have arrived at the scene of disaster to help in the work of salvage.

Rome, Sept. 8.—Light earthquake shocks are reported to have occurred at Castellamare, Naples and Florence.

C. F. PFISTER BRINGS SUIT

For $500,000 for Libel Against Wisconsin District Officials.

Milwaukee, Sept. 8.—On charges of conspiracy, Charles F. Pfister, the millionaire capitalist, banker and newspaper owner of this city, began suit today for $500,000 damages against District Attorney Francis E. McGovern, Assistant District Attorney Henry
F. Cochran, Special District Attorney
Guy D. Goff and others, the three officials above being named in the complaint in their official capacity. The complaint recites that for some years there has been a strenuous political contest between the two factions of the Republican party in Wisconsin, and that the defendants in the suit are members of the faction said to be arrayed against Mr. Pfister.

Milwaukee, Sept. 8.—Charles F. Pfister has brought suit against the Milwaukee Free Press for $50,000 for alleged libel, arising from the recent publication in that paper of articles with reference to the indictment brought against him by the grand jury.

The defendants named in the summons and complaint are: The Milwaukee Free Press company, Harry P. Myrick, Theodore Kronschnager, Jr., Horace A. J. El-ham, James K. Isley, John H. Twirly and Howard Greene.

In discussing the suit, Charles Quarles of counsel for Mr. Pfister said: "We believe that when we brought the civil suit against the Wisconsin Free Press company that we would be given an opportunity to thresh out the original charges brought against Mr. Pfister. The Free Press, however, has stated that that case did not have such opportunity. Hence, we have brought the present suit in order that such opportunity may be given. We shall bring this case to a speedy trial."

"The district attorney never intends to bring the indictment against Mr. Pfister to trial, but intends rather to leave it hanging over his head as an impediment to his original copy of the testimony taken before the special committee of the common council, which investigated all transactions in connection with the letting of the garbage contract, as well as the committee's reports, been stolen from the vaults of the city clerk's office in the city hall?"

The vaults have been searched for several days in the hope of finding the important document, but to no avail. The copies of the testimony and the report are gone, and the officials, who at first were of the opinion that the papers had been misplaced and again and again went over all files, now admit that they have been stolen.

RURAL ROUTES.
Washington, Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—A letter from the post office at Nov. 1 at Kent, Wisc. county, Minn., stating that the post office at Nov. 1 at Frank, Wisc. county, Minn., has been appointed regular, and Ed Clifton substituted rural carrier on Route No. 2 at Bank Rapids.

HARD HEARTED TAX PAYERS WOULD END BRACKEN'S GRAFT

Secretary of State Board of Health Draws Two Salaries.

Formal Protest Is Made to Governor Johnson In Matter.

St. Paul, Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Down in one corner of the basement of the new capitol building, office of the state board of health.

Dr. H. M. Bracken, secretary and pretty nearly the whole board, is in charge. All this might count for nothing, but fame has decreed otherwise.
Dr. Bracken, the secretary, enjoys a total income larger than Governor Johnson, who occupies princely quarters on the floor above, and what is more, the gossip finds he draws a revenue from two state offices. That of secretary, according to the books in the office of State Auditor Iverson, he pays him $2,500 a year, including expenses, while as a professor in the college of medicine at the university the books in the department of the board of control show a monthly stipend of $100, or $1,200 for a year of ten months. There are a few minor perquisites.

Regarding this alleged infraction of the law, the devoted taxpayer might have still been in ignorance had it not been for Minneapolis parties.
Less than a week ago they filed a formal protest with Governor Johnson against Dr. Bracken's "two card draw" and in a letter, Dr. Frank E.
Westbrook, who, it was alleged, drew a salary as a member of the health department, and also as an assistant state pathologist at the State university.

The university pay roll, on file in the board of control, shows Dr. Westbrook as drawing a salary of $220 a month, but the books in the state auditor's office are silent as to his connection with the health department. If he draws anything there it is not down in black and white.

It was this protest from Minneapolis that started an inquiry into the workings of the department, and the fact was brought to light that the secretary, while not only enjoying a salary larger than the three executive officers of the state, the governor, auditor and treasurer, also has authority to check against a sum of money in excess of $42,000. This amount is carried to his credit on the auditor's books and has an addition in the shape of office receipts, which amount to about $800.

Governor Johnson found this out when he compelled Dr. Bracken to cut him for audit the sum of $275 for clears used for smoke social purposes at one of the board meetings. The item was for a box of twenty-five cigars.

"An explanation he told me it was customary," said Governor Johnson,
"but I informed him that I generally paid for my own cigars and I guessed the board would have to do the same."
Dr. Bracken said further, added the governor, "that it was only by the of much trouble that he was enabled to get the board together, and the cigars used in making things generally social."

"I suggested then that if he had any more trouble in getting his board together to let me know and I would appoint one that would get together when called. I would not stand for the silly business."

In explanation it might be said that the cigars smoked by the elect retail at three for 25 cents.

THREE SUFFOCATED IN TENEMENT FIRE

Flames Cut Off the Escape of 120
Sleeping Persons.

New York, Sept. 8.—While trying to save his two children, a son and a daughter, both under 10 years of age, from a fire in a crowded tenement building in East Seventy-first street, early today, Antonio Coleto and both children were suffocated by smoke.
The body of the father was found lying in the hallway of the fifth floor, with the bodies of the children clasped in his arms. Coleto has already helped to carry his invalid wife to the roof, whence she escaped to an adjoining building. There were twenty-four Italian families, including 120 persons, in the building, and all of them were sound asleep when the fire broke out in the basement, and spreading to the hallway of the first floor, cut off all escape from the floors above. A policeman awoke the sleeping tenants, who then swarmed down the fire escapes in the front and rear of the building. Those on the front became panic-stricken when they reached the first floor above the street, where the ladder reaching to the sidewalk had been lowered. None had presence of mind sufficient to drop the ladder, and a policeman climbed to the lower platform of the fire escape, and with his club drove back the frightened men, dropped the ladder and permitted the women to descend first.

Michael Aglin and his wife Mary and daughter Nora were badly burned in a hurried flight from their rooms on the upper floor to the roof. In their haste the Aglin family left three of their children in their rooms and the firemen, who went up on scaling ladders, found the two boys and one little girl perished in a smoke-filled room from which they were unable to reach the fire escape. They were removed in safety and passed down the scaling ladders.

At the height of the blaze, while a tremendous hubbub was in progress, firemen found one entire family sound asleep in their apartments, where the fire had not yet penetrated. The fire was quickly extinguished with a damage of about $10,000.

THE JAPANESE DENOUNCE TERMS OF PEACE TREATY

CORPORAL TANNER ABANDONMENT IS DESIRED BY TOKIO

Elected Commander at the National Encampment at Denver.

Minneapolis Is Chosen as the Encampment
City For 1906.

Denver, Sept. 8.—Corporal James Tanner was elected commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic by the national encampment, today.
The vote was: James Tanner, 447;
Robert B. Brown, 157; Charles G. Burton, 42; George Stone, 15. A great demonstration followed the announcement of Corporal Tanner's election.

The first business before the encampment, today, was the election of the officers for the G. A. R. and its woman's auxiliary set for today in the various conventions. For the office of commander-in-chief there has been a spirited contest, the leading candidates being Corporal James Tanner of New York;
Gen. Robert B. Brown of Ohio; Judge
C. G. Burton of Missouri, and Gen. C.
M. Burrows of New Jersey.

At one of the board meetings, the choice of meeting place for next year. It had been previously settled in advance that the encampment in 1906 would be held in Minneapolis. The only other city that asked for the encampment

CORPORAL JAMES TANNER.
Elected Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic.

In the convention, today, was Dallas, Texas. On a viva voce vote the delegates seemed to be about equally divided between the two cities. A roll call was then ordered and Minneapolis was chosen.

CHOLERA HOLDS THE GERMAN EMPIRE IN A STATE OF SIEGE

Berlin, Sept. 8.—A sort of a sanitary state of siege exists in the district that now extends from the River Oder northward to the Russian border, about 250 miles, and from Danzig to Grodzisko, south of Posen, about 150 miles. But it is a state of siege in which all the inhabitants are auxiliaries of the medical authorities, and the only enemy is the terrifying cholera bacillus, which is traveling in the streams or moving slowly overland from one locality to another, attached to articles of use, or in the systems of persons. The only friend of the bacillus is the cholera, is ignorance, and therefore they say to the thick population of this region:

"If you do not want to die, do as we say. Do not bathe in the rivers. Death is there. Do not hide from us the suspiciousness of members of your family, for fear we may take them away to a hospital, and put all who have been near the sick person under quarantine observation. Do not be afraid and get into a panic."
These and secondary admonitions are reinforced by the police and police and newspaper cautions and sanitary leaflets. There is no lack of advice and observance of it. Therefore, in the million or so of households drinking water is boiled, and domestic animals are held which are about the only things that can be done if the bacillus is not known or suspected to be at work at the house.

Hence, in Berlin the medical council of war sits at noon each day in the ministry of education, taking fresh measures to meet the situation, and deciding on additional means of preventing cholera. The council is being chief of this board in the field is Dr.
Adolf Kafka, head of the bureau of infectious diseases, whose headquarters in the infected area are constantly being changed. His sanitary motor beats river craft, seeing that waterside places and resorts are closed and visiting the cholera stations established at intervals along the rivers. Every physician in the region is in a sense Dr.
Kafka's agent, while his special staff of quite 300 persons is being constantly increased. The announcement of this vigilance, with all the precautionary items had a decidedly reassuring effect on those who live within the affected area.

TROOPS FIRE SHELLS INTO THE HOSPITAL IN BAKU RIOT

Baku, Caucasus, Sept. 8.—Street fighting continued until late last night. The consulates, banks and government buildings are guarded by troops.
Balakhan was completely burned out after the Tartars had plundered it of everything valuable. Although shot down in masses by the artillery the Tartars were not deterred from their work of wreckage and looting.

Fierce fighting and great slaughter occurred at the Balakhan hospital where a thousand Armenians and workmen gathered. Gen. Shirkinz sent a detachment of artillery with three guns to the scene and the commander of the detachment summoned the crowd to surrender.

The Armenians fired with volleys of stones and some shots, which killed one of the gunners. The commander of the troops thereupon opened fire. The first discharge of the three guns miscarried the shells falling in the sea but the second discharge sent the shells crashing into the hospital where they exploded killing an immense number of men and wrecking the building. The maddened crowd charged the guns and captured them after deluging the gunners with burning oil. The latter then fired. Cossacks and infantry reinforced men attempted to recapture the abandoned guns but were driven back by the suffocating smoke.

HARD FEAT To Be Attempted In Airship at Chicago.

Toledo, Ohio, Sept. 8.—Roy Knabenshue has just closed a contract for the most trying feat yet attempted—that of circling the Masonic Temple in Chicago after making a 14-mile drive from the White City Amusement company's grounds.
Paul D. Howe, manager of the company, was the representative with whom the contract was made, and its fulfillment calls for $2,000 if Knabenshue makes the ascension, and five more if he circles the temple.

In speaking of the matter Mr. Howe said: "I saw Knabenshue make the flight in New York, but that he was unable to accomplish the feat in Chicago owing to the greater distance to fly."
Knabenshue, when interviewed, said:
"I know it is going to be a hard one, but I will do it. I would not have entered into the contract did I not believe I could fulfill it."
The performance will take place either
Sept. 15 or 19.

RIIS DISCUSSED As Candidate For Mayor of New York.

New York, Sept. 8.—Jacob A. Riis, the social reformer, whom President Roosevelt once styled "the most useful citizen of New York," is being considered by the fusionists as their candidate for mayor at the coming election. It is doubtful, however, whether Mr. Riis would accept a nomination, as he recently was quoted as saying that he never would be a candidate for a public office.

Aside from Mr. Riis, the names of John W. Good, recorder of New York city; Charles A. Scieren, former mayor of Brooklyn; Calvin Thomas, a merchant, and president of the Municipal Art society, and Franklin Henry Giddings, professor of sociology of Columbia university, are being considered for the head of the municipal ticket this fall.

The Municipality Passes Resolutions to That Effect.

City Again Quiet; No Serious Disorders During Night.

Tokio, Sept. 8.—The city is quiet this morning. No serious disorder was reported anywhere during the night.

Tokio, Sept. 8.—The Tokyo municipality has passed a resolution denouncing the terms and favoring the abandonment of the peace treaty. The municipality had planned a mass meeting at Hibaya park today, but on account of the danger of disorder, voluntarily cancelled the meeting.

Last night's disorders were not particularly serious. Thirteen cars and one railway kiosk were destroyed.
Thirty persons were wounded during the clashes with the police, and many others were slightly wounded by stones and the cruelties of the crowds.
The disturbances in the Kanda district of the city proved not to be serious.
The crowd first threatened to burn the Russian cathedral, but a sergeant of the guard cleverly provoked an them to desist by telling the crowd that if the cathedral was destroyed, he and the guard agreed not to touch the cathedral.

There was considerable disorder and noise in the district but there was no destruction of property and no serious clashes between them and the police.
Demonstrations against the metropolitan police headquarters continued until a late hour. Crowds swarmed around the jail and booted and thrust-ed. The newspapers generally assailed the police authorities for withdrawing street patrols and leaving the city unprotected. Soldiers are proving to be more effective than the police in handling the crowds. The soldiers are popular and the crowds generally obey their orders. Accompanying the ordinary ordinance, increasing restrictions on the press, and giving authority for the arrest of persons guilty of increasing the excitement and other breaches of order. Under this ordinance the emergency ordinance has suspended the publication of the Miyako, the Yurozo and the Niroku.

Strong influences are working toward calming popular excitement and checking the rioting. The belief is that the worst violence has passed, and that conditions will speedily mend.
Gen. Sakuma, who assumed charge of the capital today under the authority of the emergency ordinance, has in his proclamation created a good impression, owing to the conciliatory tone in which it is expressed and its note of firmness in declaring that the soldiers will resort to extreme measures if forced to do so. He has refrained from making a heavy display of military force in the city, having only detailed the guards to preserve order, holding the main garrison of reserves at the barracks, from whence he will call them when forced to.

The municipality has also greatly relieved the situation by cancelling a mass meeting called at Hibaya park, which is the rallying ground for all elements of disorder. Political leaders are counseling this people to be quiet and are conferring with the government, urging the speedy calling of a special session of the diet. Many believe that the issuance of the summons for the special session of the diet will fully restore tranquility among the people.

The report that the trouble has spread at Chiba, forty miles distant from Tokio, has been partly confirmed.
It seems certain that the police station was destroyed, but the destruction of the prefectural office and courthouse is not confirmed.

Japanese representatives of the Associated Press, who have been watching the rioting, report that the character of the crowds has changed materially of late. They say that earlier in the trouble thousands of responsible citizens joined in the rioting, but that now the crowd is largely formed from the disreputable classes, students and young rowdies.

The day has been quiet in Tokio, and no trouble is expected tonight. A heavy rain began to fall at dusk, which drove the majority off the streets and indoors.

STREET CARS ANGER JAPS. Drive Off Crews and Burn Ten Cars.

Tokio, Wednesday, Sept. 6, 9:30 p. m.
—(Delayed in Transmission.)—The city was quiet throughout the day although there was excitement and a tensity of feeling everywhere manifested. Nightfall brought a verification of the prescription of renewed trouble. The streets in the center of the city began filling at dark. The first disturbance occurred in the neighborhood of the residence of Minister of Home Affairs Katsura. A mob again attempted to fire the structure, but were restrained by the guards. Considerable roughness and fighting followed. Menacing crowds gathered in the neighborhood of the Metropolitan police headquarters. They refrained from attacking on account of the presence of a strong police reserve.

The passage of street cars through the crowded streets angered the people, and they began attacking and destroying cars. They drove off the crews and passengers and set fire to the cars. Ten large cars were speedily destroyed. Later an outbreak occurred in the Kanda district of the city, where a fire was started because of popular enmity. Largely directed towards the police, street patrols have been withdrawn and the police have been centered at the danger points.
The withdrawal of the patrols has left the streets unguarded and has given license to much minor disorder. Up to tonight the number of arrests totals 800. They are on charges generally of plotting inciting riot. The Barriers' association has resolved to defend all arrested free of charge.

The number of persons known to have been killed thus far is six.

LEGATION PROTECTED. Paris, Sept. 8.—The foreign office has received a dispatch from Tokio say- ing that the French legation is guard- ed by sixty soldiers, and that the se- curity of the personnel of the legation is not considered in danger. Measures have also been taken to protect the French religious establishments in Tokio.

BIG STICK As Cause of New Jersey Divorce Suit.

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 8.—Mrs. Louisa P.
Harris of this city has petitioned the court of chancery for a divorce from her husband, Daniel H. Harris of Clifton, this state, alleging, among other things, that when Harris sat down to the table with her to eat his meals he brought her a big stick and threatened to knock her down. She also alleged that he kept her shut out of the house for months. Her husband's cruel treatment she believes has caused her nervous wreck and sought relief in the state hospital for the insane.

CONSPIRATORS ARE TO BE PROSECUTED

Contractor and Inspector to Be Arraigned For Frauds.

Washington, Sept. 8.—The criminal prosecution of Morris Busch, contractor, and Robert Charlton, inspector, was ordered, today, by Acting Secretary of War Oliver. This action is contained in a direction to Judge Advocate General Davis to prepare the necessary papers for this prosecution and submit them to the department of justice. Busch holds a contract with the quartermaster's department of the army to furnish fur caps and gaiters to be delivered at the Schuylkill arsenal, Philadelphia. The order for prosecution is taken on the strength of a report recently made by Maj. F. S.
Strong of the artillery corps, acting inspector general, in which it is shown that a conspiracy to defraud the government exists between Busch and Charlton.

Besides the criminal prosecution of Busch and Charlton, Secretary Oliver directs that Busch shall be compelled to complete his contract with the government upon penalty of a civil suit for damages. He also stipulates that if he fails to complete the contract he shall be liable for the recovery of the money paid.
The report of Maj. Strong regarding conditions in the Schuylkill arsenal has led to a suggestion from the inspector general's department which has been

THE WESTERN COAL TRADE

Higher Prices on Account of the Coal Shortage.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—The Black Diamond, official newspaper of the coal industry, reviewing the Western trade, tomorrow will say:

Business in coal in the West has not been quite as active this week as was expected, considering the general stagnation that has prevailed all summer and the fact that much coal will be required for current requirements with the opening of the domestic season. Dealers seem to be pursuing a waiting policy, before taking in the product, and notwithstanding the many conditions which make it imperative that they should be so, they are not buying, many are not accepting the warning, but are still pursuing a dilatory policy. The expected coal shortage, accompanied by congestions of freight at terminal and junction points, looms larger with the advancement of the season.

With the coal shortage becoming more or less a fact, producers are beginning to take a more cheerful view of the situation, and particularly the future. Those who have a large tonnage obligated on contracts are the only ones who regret the interference to transportation which is occurring every day and which will become quite important. In some instances they have little free coal to sell, and naturally they express regret at any cause which interferes with the operation of their mines on full time. Those operators who have free coal to offer are cheerful because it is anticipated that a few weeks later prices will be in better shape than at present.

The western anthracite trade remains more or less quiet, but if there was any volume of business shipping agents would be hard pressed to secure sufficient coal to meet their orders. The coal situation in the region is becoming critical, and reports of all rail coal at Chicago and other Western points have fallen off to a remarkable extent. Evidently the Eastern railroads are giving the short haul the preference in the present emergency, in order to move as large a tonnage as possible. Doubtless they will continue this policy largely during the next 20 days and perhaps longer. This may result in an increased movement of coal by way of the great lakes, but where buyers are wholly dependent on rail deliveries they may have some difficulty in securing supplies when they are required.

ORE SHIPMENTS

For August Show Small Decline From July.

Cleveland, Sept. 8.—The Iron Trade Review says: Although the shipments of ore for August were somewhat less than those for July, the showing is a very creditable one as the heavy rains which prevailed during the month caused much delay in shipping. The shipments for August and for the season to Sept. 1 were as follows:

	August, To September, 1905.	July, 1905.
Acacia	1,000,000	1,000,000

MANY NEW CARS

Northern Pacific in Condition to Handle Heavy Fall Business.

Present Management to Retain Control of Wisconsin Central.

"The Northern Pacific this year ordered 2,500 new freight cars in anticipation of the heavy fall business," said Supt. E. C. Blanchard today. "Practically all of these will be placed in the grain-carrying business, and will run into Duluth and Superior. They are of 50,000 tons capacity each. Formerly cars ranging from 50,000 tons capacity upwards were used by the road, but for the past two or three years none of the smaller variety has been purchased."

Larger freight cars are coming into more general use on all the railroads. The grain shipments are barely beginning now. It will be only a short time before they will be on in full force. The middle of September usually sees the grain moving in good shape. With the 2,500 new cars in service the Northern Pacific should be in good condition to handle all of the shipments over the line, provided prompt service in loading and unloading is given.

The movement of grain over both the Northern Pacific and Great Northern will be on in full blast within a week or two.

ACTIVE IN TEXAS.

Great Interest in Refrigerator Car Lines.

"This is our busiest season of the year, and all of my time and attention are devoted to the fruit business," said E. M. Ferguson, today, when asked if there was anything new in refrigerator car line matters.

"The subject appears to be arousing more interest down in Texas than anywhere else," he continued. "I see the Texas commission has issued an order that railroads must supply refrigerator cars; that shippers must be permitted to use cars at initial points, if they so desire, and that railroads must re-lease cars en route at the actual cost of doing such work. Railroad companies in Texas must, in all cases where perishable freight is to be shipped in carload quantities between points in the state, supply the necessary refrigerator cars. The state has fixed a scale of rates which shall be charged. For 200 miles and less, $25 a car is charged; 400 miles and over 200 miles, $20 a car, and over 400 miles, $35 a car."

"The Texas papers have shown a great interest in the matter, both editorially and in their news columns. A recent issue of the Cherokee County Farmer goes into detail regarding the unfairness of the rates, citing the charges between Texas and Duluth and various other points."

TO RETAIN CONTROL.

Wisconsin Central Road Will Not Change Hands.

New York, Sept. 8.—The mystery which has for some weeks past surrounded the movement of the stock of the Wisconsin Central Railway company, giving rise to rumors of deals with various other railroad companies, as well as to reports of the passing of control from the present management, has been finally cleared up. It is authoritatively stated that the control of the company will not be transferred from the present management. In fact, the developments which have taken place simply assure permanency of control. Now interests have entered the property, however, and purchased a large amount of the stock, and they will act in harmony with the present management. As a director, composed of W. L. Bull, chairman of the board; Newman Erb and other prominent capitalists, has purchased enough stock to insure the carrying out of the policy of those now actively identified with the road.

HE GOT THE RICE.

That Intended For Groom Goes to E. Grenager.

E. Grenager, cashier in the local Northern Pacific freight office, returned this morning from Baldwin, Wis., where he attended the wedding Wednesday of Miss Julia Johnson of Baldwin and J. H. Digby, traveling representative of the Empire East Freight line. Mr. Digby frequently visits Duluth in his official capacity and has a number of friends among the railroad men.

Mr. Grenager came very nearly getting in trouble with the man in the case by tipping off the fact of the marriage beforehand, not knowing that an effort was being made to keep it secret until the ceremony was over. He happened to mention something in connection with the approaching nuptials while in a barber shop, and in a short time the news had spread all over town.

It so happened that the Duluth man left town on the same train as the bride couple, and when he reached the depot he found a good-sized crowd of townspeople on hand, all of them well supplied with rice and old shoes. Most of them were unacquainted with Mr. Digby, and mistaking him for the groom, began throwing the ammunition at the supposed groom. The more he expostulated the greater was the crowd, and in getting rid of the rice, and by the time the real Mr. Digby arrived with his blushing bride there was nothing left to throw.

West Duluth.

The Harmony club which has been in existence in West Duluth for a number of years has probably seen its finish and last night began its last journey at the home of Donald Holmes on Seventy-second avenue. The club has been one of the most enjoyable dancing organizations each winter that the city has had. Rather curiously a majority of its members are about to leave the city at the same time. Some of them are going to the state university while others are going out in the world to seek their fortunes. At any rate the majority of the club will not be here next winter. At the party last evening those of the club who remain in town were present and several of these are leaving within the next day or two. Those present were:

Misses Ada Burnside, L. Phelps, Helen Coburn, F. Allen, Eva Sawyer, B. Meldrum and Gene Meldrum; Messrs. Reginald Graham, James Kirkwood, Robert Dunn, Louis Silger, Sabin Forbes, E. Evans and F. Rockwell.

LEAVE FOR MINNEAPOLIS.

Rev. Dr. Forbes has moved his family to Minneapolis and Sabin Forbes, who will attend the medical department of the state university will leave this evening, the last one of the family to leave West Duluth. Much regret is expressed among West Duluthians at losing such popular and desirable fellow-residents.

GOES TO WISCONSIN.

William Brotherton has left West Duluth to open a barber shop for himself in Fredricks, Wis. Mr. Brotherton has been engaged in the barber business in West Duluth for eight years, the first three being in partnership with his brother, Joseph, and the last five working for his brother to whom he sold out. He left last night much to the regret of "the boys" who feel that they have lost a good comrade and the town a good citizen.

INHERITANCE TAX LAW

Cause of Legal Battle at Iron River.

Washburn, Wis., Sept. 8.—Assistant Attorney General A. C. Titus of Madison was here yesterday in behalf of the state in a claim for a tax on inheritance of the estate of the late Capt. W. W. Lee of Iron River, whose estate nets his heirs $80,000. A good big contest was the result, and it was tried out before County Judge William H. Irish. Henry L. Lee, son of the deceased, who is administrator of the estate, was here, accompanied by his mother, and their attorney, Louis K. Luse, of Superior. William Pitt Bartlett, of Eau Claire, also appeared in the case as attorney for a daughter of the deceased lumberman, who now resides in the East. A. W. McLeod of this city, guardian ad litem for the two minor heirs, was also interested in the case. The four lawyers went over all legal points in the case. It appears, under the new law, eslates of a value of $25,000 must pay an inheritance tax of 1 per cent. On sums between $25,000 and $50,000 there is a tax of 1 1/2 per cent, while on amounts of $50,000 to $100,000 there is a tax of 2 per cent. The estate of Capt. Lee, after all expenses of administration, will net $80,000, but part of this the defendants claim as exempt from tax. The state made a claim of 2 per cent on $80,000, while the heirs claim that they should pay but 1 per cent on $82,000, should pay but 1 per cent on $82,000. The matter was held over for one week, when a decision will be rendered. This case is being watched with great interest, as it is the first of its kind ever coming up in this county.

CREOLE GIRL

Accuses Iowa Photographer With Stabbing Her.

Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 8.—Della Waterman, a handsome creole girl, charged in court here that James Walters, a photographer, attempted to kill her because she refused to pose for him in the "altogether." She says that on many occasions Walter urged her to become his model for indecent pictures, and she refused.

"He came to my home," she said, "and urged me to pose for him. I ordered him out and opened the door for him to go. He turned upon me and plunged a dagger into my breast."

She bare her breast in court, displaying an ugly wound.

IN FAVOR OF SINGLE STATE

Indian Territory Opposed to Joint Statehood With Oklahoma.

Paul's Valley, I. T., Sept. 8.—A meeting of various prominent men of the various nations of Indian Territory was held here to prepare plans for a single statehood convention or mass meeting which will be held in the near future at either Paul's Valley, Ardmore or South McAlester.

The meeting was well attended and was most representative of the leading men of the territory.

Letters were sent from most prominent white and Indian citizens over the territory, which leaves no question as to the wholesale sentiment of some of the most prominent interests of the territory on the single statehood situation, and the owners of these letters are unqualified in their endorsement of the proposed mass territory convention call, and emphatic denunciation of the Muskogee spirit of dividing the commercial and political and social interests of the territories.

From the most reliable source the information comes that the conference already held on a single statehood convention will be one of the most successful mass conventions ever held in the territory.

Speaking of the matter, one of the returned visitors to the Muskogee convention stated:

"The spirit of progress has taken too firm a hold on the people of Indian Territory to permit of the Muskogee convention going unchallenged. The spirit of the Indian Territory and its untold and constantly increasing industrial, commercial, financial and social framework of the spirit of progress, still greater things and while there are intelligent interests of Indian Territory that are opposed to statehood, the whole great people of Indian Territory, as they are made up of merchants, farmers, manufacturers, bankers and other interests feel that the spirit of progress and individual preference should have no place in the actions of men at this status of the territorial affairs."

From all over the Indian Territory letters are being received holding the single statehood demonstration with enthusiasm. Delegates are assured from every Indian district in the territory and unquestionably prove the best reflex of sentiment that has been collected in the interests of the future state.

NO RACE SUICIDE

In the Family of a Pittsburg Policeman.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 8.—Samuel S. Free, one of Pittsburg's best-known policemen, who resides at 317 Dauphin street, does not believe in race suicide and cannot understand why it is feared or why there has been so much talk about it since President Roosevelt brought the question into prominence.

A few days ago Mrs. Free gave birth to twins, which makes in all thirteen children born to her. The twins are the second pair that has blessed the Free household, and the big policeman is very proud as a result.

Free is 62 years old, while his wife is a few years his junior. All their children are living.

BLACK PAINT

On Rustic Seat Stops Billing and Cooing.

Elgin, Ill., Sept. 8.—R. H. Cook, proprietor of a rug factory, was arrested here for continuing to take black paint to a rustic seat near his house. For several weeks Cook has kept a fresh coat of paint on the seat, and many suits of clothes and dresses have been ruined in consequence.

Cook complains that lovers congregate there almost nightly which robs him of his sleep. This is the lowest favorite bench. Therefore considerable feeling exists between Cook and the persistent lovers.

EQUITABLE MIXUP

Causes Discussion In England Regarding Cost of Insurance.

Would Country Be Better Off With Government Insurance?

London, Sept. 8.—The serious discussion throughout Great Britain and the continent of Europe which has followed the publication of reports concerning the Equitable Life Assurance society of the United States has again started a discussion in London as to whether after all life insurance does not cost too much, and whether economically considered the people and the nation would not be better off if the life insurance business of the country were carried on by the government.

Lebauchere, in the London Truth, has figured out that if the life insurance companies continue to increase during the next twenty-five years as rapidly as during the past twenty-five years, that they would own all Great Britain—the real estate, farm lands, as well as London realty, the railroads, all of the banking interests, all of the great manufacturing interests, in fact all that goes to make up complex modern civilization. However, there is little likelihood that life insurance will continue to increase proportionately in the future as in the past, though the extent to which cheap life insurance is carried over among the lower classes of society—the manner in which workmen insure their wives and their children for a few pennies per week can hardly be understood in any country outside of England.

Upon the subject of whether the life insurance of Great Britain costs too much, T. F. Manning, an expert, in an interview said:

"Owing perhaps more to the pushing methods of the companies than to the forethought of the public, life insurance has now reached a point of great magnitude in this country."

"From the latest returns published by the board of trade we learn that 26,045,502 lives are insured, or rather that this number of assurances are in force, for a good many lives are covered by several insurances."

"Anyhow, we may take it for granted that half of the people of the United Kingdom are insured for greater or lesser sums."

"The amount insured reaches the enormous total of over $4,000,000,000, exclusive of $10,000,000, or thereabouts, spent in the purchase of annuities exclusive of life, also, of the business done by sickness and friendly societies, and by the foreign and colonial companies domiciled in this country."

"This is a most satisfactory proof of our growing thrift, but the interesting question arises as to whether we pay too much for the value we receive."

"This question is not easy to answer. It is a question of cost, and is to be considered in the computation, and companies differ so much in their methods that any statement can only approximate the truth."

"The best way, in fact the only way, to ascertain whether the cost is too high is to compare the cost of management with the premiums paid. But this gives results which are not always reliable upon."

Such as it is we may apply it to two classes of our life companies.

"The first class, the eighty-four companies do an 'ordinary' life insurance business, and twenty-one an 'industrial' business. These, then, there are, in all seventy-five British companies in all-seventy doing ordinary business only, twenty-two doing industrial business, and nine companies doing insurance of both kinds."

Last year the eighty-four ordinary companies received nearly $120,000,000 in premiums, and they spent $16,000,000 on commissions and the expenses of management. That is to say, nearly 14 per cent of the premiums paid by the public went in salaries, commission, rent and other expenses. We may add to this the dividends and bonuses paid to shareholders, amounting to $2,000,000, or, according to small amount, the capital also is small, $7,500,000. With this addition the companies spent on themselves nearly 16 per cent of the premiums received."

"But it should be remembered that one of the principal functions of an insurance company is to invest its large funds—the clients' accumulated premiums securely and at the same time profitably."

"When one asks himself whether he is paying too much for his insurance he must consider whether he could invest his annual premiums as profitably as the insurance companies will do it for him. The insurance funds are invested mostly at a rate from 3 to 4 per cent, compound interest. It would be practically impossible for any one to invest his premium of $50 or $60 as about the average premium paid to ordinary companies, 10s to the industrial companies—at compound interest, and this is one of the reasons why life insurance is profitable to the public."

"As a result of the eighty-four companies' investments, $50,000,000 was earned last year. And we ought to take this into account in calculating the ratio of expenditures to receipts."

"If we look at the cost of the management plus commissions is slightly less than 10 per cent."

"This is the all around cost, so calculated to the insurer for the benefits he receives. When we look at individual companies, the ratio of their expenditures to premiums received varies infinitely."

"The matter is too complex to deal with. But it may be said that new business is estimated to be ten times as expensive as old business. Firstly, a much higher commission is paid to agents on the premiums of new than on these old policies. Secondly, there are medical fees, stamps and other items of expenditure. Advertising and even branch office may properly be charged to new policies. So that as much as 50 per cent of the first year's premium may go in expenditures.

"If, then, a company is pushing business energetically, it will show a high ratio of cost of management and commissions to premiums received. Some companies, as the Clergy Mutual and the London Life companies, have no commission, and they show a very low ratio—7 and less than 5 per cent respectively."

"It is the 'industrial' companies which necessarily spend heavily on commissions, and in their case the ratio of cost of management to premiums is very high. The great difficulties they have to face are the high mortality—efficient medical examinations being too expensive—and the heavy cost of frequent collections of small amounts."

"Glancing at the figures of the board of trade, one would say that the poor most certainly pay too much for their life insurance. But this is not through lack of good management on the part of the companies. It arises from the inevitably high expense attaching to the collection of premiums from the very large sum of $23,000,000. No less than 43 per cent of the premiums was, therefore, spent in getting and managing them."

"If we add the dividends to the shareholders ($2,700,000) to the expenditure, and the interest secured ($4,200,000) to the receipts, the percentage of expenses is even higher, namely 45 per cent."

"They manage the business better in Germany. The cost of administration of the government industrial assurance in that country was only 7 per cent of the income in 1901—one-sixth of what it is with us."

"How the Germans manage so economically is not obvious. Our own industrial companies, in spite of the high ratio shown, expend only 28 10d all round, and considering the labor involved, it does not seem possible to cut expenses below that figure."

DESERT IN COLORADO

To Be Changed Into a Blossoming Garden.

Monte Vista, Colo., Sept. 8.—The largest hydraulic fill in the world is being built in the Alamosa river about twenty miles west of this city. When completed it will form a reservoir in the Alamosa, the water from which will irrigate nearly 20,000 acres of land and will change a large part of the valley from a dry, sandy, wind swept plain to a blossoming garden of fruits and flowers.

The reservoir site is all that could be asked for of nature. It is four miles long by a half mile wide, the river leaving the valley through a box canyon twenty feet wide and 100 feet deep. The dam that is now being built will be 185 feet high and 20 feet wide at the base. Constructed by hydraulic methods, it will consist almost entirely of large boulders welded together by concrete.

Water is brought from a point ten miles up stream to the site of the new dam and is there used under heavy pressure to wash down the sides of the canon. The smaller stones and gravel are washed out in the flume below, while the larger stones are allowed to drop to the canon floor, where they are filled in with concrete until the whole mass is as solid as a single stone. From 15 to 20,000 cubic yards of earth and stone can be removed in eight hours by the hydraulic process. The dam will be completed in 1910, and will be in a year, so that the first crops under no commission, and they show a very low ratio—7 and less than 5 per cent respectively."

NEW CANADIAN TARIFF MOVE

Maximum and Minimum Rate as Club Against America.

Washington, Sept. 8.—Washington opinion is not unanimous that the new Canadian tariff move augurs no good for the American manufacturer. The commission which has been appointed to report to the Canadian parliament a plan for revising the present tariff schedule will make a report which, in its effect, will pave the way for raising the tariff wall a few more rows of brick against the factories of Uncle Sam.

The prevailing sentiment north of parallel 49 is for more protection. The Canadian manufacturers, this sentiment is a result largely of the wonderful increase in recent years of the Canadian manufacturing business.

Canada for Canadians is the keynote of the present policy. One of the arguments in favor of the new government tariff of a maximum and minimum tariff has been put forward.

By this device parliament passes a bill which fixes the low and the high point at which the duties may be placed on every article, and leaves to the executive branch of the government the discretion to raise or lower duties on specific articles against any foreign country, according as that country is friendly or the reverse in its duties against Canada.

The Canadian commission will report a tariff bill with the minimum rates certainly not lower than the present Canadian tariff. They certainly will not be lower on any of the important staples of trade with "the states." On the other hand the maximum will be considerably higher than the present schedules. Thus Laurier will stand armed with a "big stick" when he next "speaks softly" to the United States on the subject of more amicable trade relations between the sister countries.

The passage of the maximum and minimum bill will be followed closely by a request for "reciprocity" with the United States; or, to make it specific, for lower duties on coal, ores, lumber and grains sent to the states. As these requests will be refused (vide coal trust, lumber trust, et al), the premier will at once "come back at" the United States with the maximum rates on agricultural implements and the general line of manufactures which go from the United States across the Western Canadian border. That is where the pinch will come for the American manufacturer.

UPON A LAUGH

Depends the Validity of a Woman's Will.

Evansville, Ind., Sept. 8.—Upon the laugh of Mrs. Priscilla Humphrey, who lived in Gheen county, Ind., depends the validity of her last will and testament.

Mrs. Humphrey, a wealthy woman, died about a year ago in Patoka, Ind., and several children were left. The children, who bring the suit to break the will, are acting upon the theory that the human laugh is indicative of a person's mental state.

Several witnesses examined at the trial testified that Mrs. Humphrey had a peculiar laugh, a sort of silly giggle that belonged to a girl in her teens, and that it seemed much out of place for a woman of her age.

The attorneys for the defense assert that the laugh of Mrs. Humphrey was due to the fact that she was hard of hearing.

LAND TURTLE,

Like a Cat, Evidently Has Nine Lives.

Hereford, Pa., Sept. 8.—There is a turtle, an innocent looking, tiny land turtle, in Jefferson township, this county, that promises to outlive the cat that had nine lives.

It is a stray turtle that was found five years ago on the farm of Adam Schoener, and its shell at that time was encrusted with the engraved signature of Schoener's son. Then the turtle disappeared until last year, when it was found up in the truck patch of the Schoeners, and proceeded to help itself to the best vegetables.

Mrs. Schoener, in anger, threw the destructive little creature into Tulpehocken creek, a mile away, thinking to lose it.

But the turtle came back. Crossing the 40-foot-wide stream, it reappeared in the patch and resumed the devastation. Again it was tossed into the same stream, and yesterday, Mr. Turtle, forty-eight hours after his bath, reappeared among the tomatoes.

DEATH FOLLOWS PRETENSE

Makebelieve Auto Accident Prelude to Real One.

Lyons, Sept. 8.—M. Ulmo, a Lyons tradesman, his daughter and three children, while motoring near Lyons, Savoy, drew up in a spot considered the most dangerous along the entire road, and had their picture taken in a pose which suggested that an accident had happened. Two or three minutes later, just as they were restarting, they met an oncoming motor car, which struck the friends of M. Ulmo, killing him on the spot. The other members of the party were more or less injured, the daughter of M. Ulmo sustaining severe scalp wounds.

FAILED TO HEED ALARM

Two People Killed In Collapse of New York Building.

New York, Sept. 8.—Two people were killed when a building at Grand and Moti streets collapsed yesterday. The building is said to have been condemned two years ago, but had been occupied since. Thomas McGovern, a foreman in the building department, is under arrest in connection with the collapse, on a charge of criminal negligence. The dead are: MARGIO GARGISO, 20 years old, and JOSEPH FARINO, 30 years old. Nearly a score were injured, and everyone out of the vicinity of the building was warned not to go near the building, but many paid no attention. The Gargiso girl was passing the building when it collapsed.

ing the building when the collapse occurred and was almost instantly killed. Farino had returned to the building after some of his belongings and was caught by the falling walls, being dead when carried out. The injured persons include several policemen, firemen and tenants of the building, who had declined to leave at the first alarm.

RUSH FOLLOWS Strike of Gold and Copper In Wyoming.

Meeteetse, Wyo., Sept. 8.—The various discoveries of rich mining deposits of gold and copper, which have kept the people of this section in a state of excitement during the past two months, have been followed by another just announced by ex-Sheriff Dudley N. Hale, and which has caused a great rush of prospectors to the scene. Hale has just found a large deposit of copper and gold ore assaying $1,000 to the ton. The find was made on Birdseye creek, six miles from the old Birdseye ranch, and all of the land in that vicinity is being taken up by prospectors. The ore is free milling and the assay made was not selected samples.

COMPLETE RUIN

Of Great Oil Industry Result of Warfare at Baku.

Military Has Gained Upper Hand of Warring Natives.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 8.—Inter-racial warfare and incessant fighting have completed the ruin for a year of the great oil industry of that Caspian port, though the latest dispatches indicate that the military have gained the upper hand in the town itself and that the steadily arriving reinforcements promise to turn the tide in the outlying districts and to enable these troops to drive the Tartars from their positions around the city and to reoccupy the suburban towns. There is little left unburned above the ground in the outlying oil fields of Bakuhan, Romani, Sabunto and Bibelat, from which the crude oil supply for the Baku district is drawn. The extracting plants, including derricks and the oil reservoirs in which the crude oil is stored, have been destroyed. The breaking of the reservoirs unleased a flow of burning oil which it was impossible to extinguish. A large portion of the "Blacktown" quarter in which most of the refineries were located, was also burned. The financial loss has not yet been established, but it will run into the millions. It is stated that the loss in crude oil which will run to waste until the reservoirs can be rebuilt and the refineries again started, will amount to $200,000 daily.

The bloodshed also has been appalling, as the troops in their efforts to restore order had to defend the approaches to the town of Baku and were forced to fight a regular battle with well armed natives in which artillery was employed.

The Tartars and Armenians finally turned their weapons against each other. All well-to-do inhabitants fled by sea or land to Tiflis. The disorders at Baku cannot be traced to an underlying hostility to the Russian government. It is not a revolution, but an inter-racial war between the Armenians and the natives, based on the same causes as the struggle in Armenia.

Both factions offered a stubborn armed resistance to the troops. The Tartars, after driving the Russian Armenian operatives from the works in the oil fields, massacred those who were unable to flee in time, plundered their houses and then applied the torch. The dispatches speak of several thousand killed or wounded in the fighting at Baku, where the Tartars were entrenched in force and more than held their own for a time against the troops. It is said that the standard of the Prophet has been raised and that the Mullahs at Baku are preaching a holy war, as they did at Bristana a few months ago. The Moslems, however, have no special program to carry out at this time and it is expected that order will be restored in a few days with the arrival of more troops from Tiflis. However, the underlying hatred existing between Armenians and Tartars will not be about the first of the disorders.

The statement that a Turkish emissary is working among the Tartars is believed here to be untrue. The Moslems in the Baku region are allied, not with Turkey, but with Persia, to which country they belonged before the conquest of Russia.

It is expected that the arrival of the Shah of Persia at Baku in a few days will complete the situation and this belief probably furnished the inspiration for the Imperial order to the viceroy of the Caucasus to stop the disorders at all costs.

The town of Baku lies in a steep, fortified amphitheater in the town. Most of the refineries in the town. Most of the oil fields on either side, from which pipe lines convey the oil a few miles to the refineries in the town. The so-called "Black town" quarters, the principal or Bakuhan oil field, where the heaviest fighting has taken place, is fifteen miles northeast of Baku. Sabunto and Bibelat are adjoining oil districts. Bibelat, a small but very rich field, lies on the opposite or west side of Baku, just outside the city limits. Most of the surrounding region is inhabited by Tartar tribes, who, in addition to occupying the two districts on the hillsides running down to the port, also occupy the fortified section in the center of the town, which is probably their headquarters. The Tartar quarters are composed of dirty and squalid houses in crooked streets. Many of the streets are scarcely wide enough to permit individuals to pass.

MAIL HANDLERS LACK HARMONY

Lively Rows at Portland and Cedar Rapids Conventions.

Portland, Or., Sept. 8.—Charges of dishonesty against the officers of the association precipitated a fight in the convention of the National Letter Carriers' association, yesterday. Delegate John Hemerwade stated that he had resigned from the executive committee for this reason and made charges that papers of an incriminating nature had been stolen from his grip between Vancouver, B. C. and Portland, Or., while he was enroute to this city to attend the convention. President Keeler denied that the charges were true. Secretary Cantwell of the association was unfounded and disgraceful and his administration had been honest. President Keeler stated that because of the charges he would withdraw his name as a candidate for the presidency.

The debate was participated in by delegates in all parts of the hall. There were several on the floor during the entire discussion, seeking to be recognized. Matters had hardly quieted down when another uproar was created by the question as to what the executive board meant by not reporting the fact that Hemerwade had resigned and the accusation was made that members of the board had attempted to conceal something. The discussion was broken by a recess.

The convention by unanimous vote refused to consider action with the American Federation of Labor. Cedar Rapids, Ia., Sept. 8.—The National Postoffice Clerks' association split in two sections when delegates from fifty-five divisions drew off their badges and tramped them under foot as they left the hall. The chief cities to desert the convention were St. Louis, Detroit, Cincinnati, Dayton, Louisville, Nashville, Cedar Rapids, Omaha, Tacoma and San Francisco. The Boston also agreed to withdraw but failed to keep the promise. The minority refused to consider action with the American Federation of Labor.

NUMBER OF PENSIONERS

Was at Maximum Jan. 21—Has Declined Rapidly Since.

Washington, Sept. 8.—The pension roll reached the maximum number in its history in Jan. 21 last, the number being 1,570,000. Since that time it has declined rapidly. In September of last year and gradually increased for the next four months. The decline began in the first of February and by the following May had reached the figure of 1,400,000. These facts are developed in a synopsis of the annual report of Pension Commissioner Water covering the operations of his office for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1905. The report shows that the number of pensioners had declined to 988,441, of which amount $2,000,000 was paid to pensioners in the month of June. The report shows the following additional facts:

During the year the bureau issued 185,232 pension certificates of which number over 50,000 were original. The annual value of the pension roll on June 30, 1905, was $19,752,225. By the terms "annual value" is meant the sum of the pension payments for the year. During the year 188,883 pensioners were dropped from the roll on account of death and of this number, 30,241 were survivors of the war. The total amount disbursed for pensions for the fiscal year was $19,752,225, of which amount $17,190 was for navy pensioners and $2,562,235 was paid to pensioners of the Spanish war and $10,000 to the survivors of the Civil war, their dependents.

The total amount paid to Spanish war pensioners since 1898 is $11,442,000. The total amount of money paid for pensions since the foundation of the government is $2,000,000,000. Of this amount $1,442,000 has been paid on account of the Spanish war.

The total number of claims allowed, known as "The age order," since that order went into effect, April 13, 1904, up to June 30, 1905, was 5,000.

READY FOR SCHOOL?

Articles for School Wear That'll Give the Utmost Service That Money Can Buy.

Mothers of boys and girls will find that school outfitting is done best at Gray-Tallant Co.'s. No other store so thoroughly solves the problem of clothing children from head to foot—economically and well. It stands to reason, doesn't it, that, if from 10c to 20c of every dollar paid at other stores goes for store extravagance, this store is able to sell that much cheaper, or to give that much greater value for the money. Hundreds of mothers have proved this store—have you?

new era of honesty and public men has arrived, and if the American people will see to it that all who are tainted with graft are put out of office, they may confidently expect some legislation for the curbing of corporate greed.

Advice to Democracy. Louisville Courier-Journal: Here we take issue. We have not said "quit Bryan." On the contrary, we have every reason to believe that Mr. Bryan is about all that is left of organized Democracy. But Mr. Bryan is yet a young man. He is going abroad to study government. Since Roosevelt, the president, is not ne Roosevelt the candidate, why may Bryan, restored to the responsibilities of leadership, not grow in wisdom and grace? It is never too late to mend. Truly as the Courier-Journal is able to render justice to Mr. Roosevelt, when it has reason to approve of him, it is able to render justice to Mr. Bryan under similar conditions. It is an independent newspaper, having no prejudices to consult, nor anywise blind.

either by its antecedents or its personal likes and dislikes. These latter, indeed, have never included either Mr. Roosevelt or Mr. Bryan. Let us repeat that it fully recognizes and comprehends Mr. Bryan's position in the party. It realizes that he is more popular in the country than ever he was. It also remembers that in 1896 he will be twelve years older than he was in 1896, and that, at his time of life, this means much too. No one will appear in the Democratic list against Mr. Bryan in 1900. He will name the ticket and write the platform. "Holed down," the advice of the country Democrats does not read "quit Bryan," but—here we address ourselves to Mr. Bryan himself, as well as to all other Democrats—"quit monkeying with economic buzz saws, and experimental politics in other words, quit rain-bow-chasing and get down to conditions, visible to the naked eye, which are reachable and realizable." The country won't stand to be educated every four years in new schemes of public policy.

There is No Death. There is no death! The stars go down To rise upon some fairer shore, And bright in heaven's jeweled crown They shine forevermore.

There is no death! The dust we tread, Sheds change beneath the summer showers. The forest leaves drink daily life, From out the vernal air.

There is no death! The leaves may fall, And flowers may fade and pass away; They only wait through wintry hours The coming of the May.

There is no death! An angel form Walks over the earth in silent tread; He hears our best loved things away; And then we call them "dead."

He leaves our hearts all desolate, He plucks our fairest, sweetest flowers; Transplanted into bliss, they now Adorn immortal bowers.

The bird-like voice whose joyous tones, Made glad these acres of sin and strife, Shines now an everlasting song, Around the tree of life.

Where'er he sees a smile too bright, Or heart too pure for taint and vice, He hears it to that world of light, To dwell in Paradise.

Born unto that undying life, They leave us but to come again; With joy we welcome them the same— Except their sin and pain.

And ever near us, though unseen, The dear immortal spirits tread; For all the boundless universe Is life—there are no dead.

—CLYDE LYTON.

Paul Revere's Peace Bell. New York World: Good for the ancient Paul Revere bell that hangs in the steeple of Old North church in Portsmouth. Cast more than a century and a quarter ago by the hero of the famous ride to Lexington and dedicated to righteousness and peace, it first began to play its part in the world's history when it rang out the news of the British surrender at Yorktown. Its deep tones carried to the fishermen of Portsmouth and Kittery the tidings that the war of 1812 was ended. Again it rang for the victories of Dewey and Sampson and proclaimed the Spanish-American treaty of Paris.

Its great work was not to end there. When it rang out the starry night plenipotentiaries of Russia and Japan were at an agreement. Last Tuesday it signalled the nation's entrance into a ranking position in the affairs of the world.

The Wind and Sea. The sea is a jovial comrade. He laughs wherever he goes, His merriment shines in the dimpling lines That wrinkle his hale repose; He lays himself down at the feet of the sun, And shakes all over with mirth.

And the broad-backed billows fall faint on the shore, And shrike on the wintry sea; He sings the self-same strain! —BAYARD TAYLOR.

When the Airship Sails. Mother, I see an airship steer Around the Halcyon tower, Have I been drinking, mother dear, To see a sight so dour?

Hush, hush, my child! We're in New York, Where it happens every hour.

But, mother, who's the gentleman Who sails yon flying boat? Who stands as proud as though he had The fastest thing afloat?

But why do all the people shout To see the airship fly? And why do all the hubbucknecks Crane wildly to the sky?

(Hush, hush, my dear—we're in New York— There is no reason why.)

But, mother, they act so queer and wild— It makes me almost sad To hear the crowd behave so loud— I fear I'm going mad!

(Hush, child! you'll not be noticed here, Where everybody's mad.) —WALLACE IRWIN in New York Globe.

DAMAGE TO MICHIGAN FRUIT

Superior Entry: Suffered Peaches In Baskets Now Most of Government Improvements. The Feature In Fruit Market.

Ashland Breakwater Was Not Damaged Seriously By Storm. Lemon Prices Make New High Record—Melons Plentiful.

A review of the damage done the harbor improvement work on Lake Superior during the recent storm shows that the protection work for the new south pier at Superior entry suffered the most and that the loss to the government at this end of the lake will be the heaviest, running up into thousands of dollars, although the government engineers will not make any estimate until they have thoroughly examined the damage. Assistant United States Engineer John H. Darling, connected with the project, left on the government steam launch Violette today, for an inspection trip to Ashland and Port Wing, where damage was done to the breakwater and the pier by the storm. During the storm reports received by the engineer's office from Ashland indicate that the first damage to the breakwater was done by the force of the waves, which had been practically destroyed, were very much damaged, and the breakwater was confined to only a small portion of the exposed end of the pier. The force of the waves, which had been practically destroyed, were very much damaged, and the breakwater was confined to only a small portion of the exposed end of the pier. Michigan peaches are the leading feature of the fruit market this week, and will continue to be so for several weeks to come. The quality of the earlier varieties has not been good and many of them have been offered on the Duluth market up to the present time. The first car of the season was due today, however, and they will be plentiful during the coming month. The Michigan fruit was due earlier in the season, and some consignments were expected a week or ten days ago, but heavy rains through the fruit belt prevented packing. The crop is said to be a large one this year, and unless the storms have damaged it, the supply will be both large, and of fine quality. Michigan peaches come packed in bushel baskets, almost entirely. There are two varieties most common, the Crawford and yellow freestone, and during the next two or three weeks these two varieties will make up a large share of the fruit sales on the local market. The price is lower than that of any peaches which have been received this year. They will sell for 10 to 15 cents per bushel, and lower if the shipments are as heavy as expected.

The supply of California fruit is gradually narrowing down, about the only kinds of California fruit the dealers have left are the yellow freestone peaches, the later fall pears, and some green and red apples. The price of the peaches has been a large one this year, and the supply is sufficient to meet the heavy demand.

The demand for all kinds of melons continues exceptionally heavy, and for watermelons in particular it is almost unprecedented. The crop of melons has been a large one this year, and the supply is sufficient to meet the heavy demand.

Lemon prices continue to soar, and the dealers say that there is now practically a famine of lemons in this country. A crop failure both in California and in Europe, followed by the heavy demand and the fact that the lemons are almost completely exhausted the visible supply, and the price has risen to a high point. Almost any price they choose for them. From about 14 cents a bushel, the price has risen to 25 cents, and the supply is very limited. The Duluth market has been bare during the last week, and the price of lemons is due Monday, they are not expected to arrive until next week.

Apple receipts came to be light. While the crop of later apples may be better, the supply of the earlier varieties is limited, and the price has kept firm about the $1 mark, for the stock that was worth holding.

But few changes have taken place during the week in vegetable prices, or in the market conditions. Potatoes are still plentiful, and the price has kept firm about the $1 mark, for the stock that was worth holding.

On eggs and dairy products market conditions and prices are unchanged from last week. Eggs are firm but unchanged from last week. Eggs are firm but unchanged from last week.

Conditions in the butter market are the same, the creamery prints selling for 21 and 22 cents, and the country butter at 21 and 22 cents. Packing stock is quoted at 16 cents.

The cheese market is very firm and the dealers rather look for a slight raise in prices.

The poultry business is beginning to show signs of the activity which always marks the fall trade. Receipts are running quite heavy and the demand is good. Spring chickens form the bulk of the receipts, and they are selling for 14 cents. A few ducks and turkeys are also coming in, but there is not much demand for them as yet.

No change has taken place in the meat prices or market conditions during the week. Beef is a little weaker, but other meat prices are the same as last week. Beef ranges from 15 to 16 cents, and mutton from 14 to 15 cents.

Considering the brief time that the oyster season has been open, the demand for bulk oysters has been received on the market, and for so early in the season the quality is excellent. They are selling for $3.00 per gallon, which is practically the same price as was paid at the opening of the season last year. As yet mostly all of the oysters that are on the market are being sold in bulk.

Consignments of fresh fish are being received in Duluth every day at the present time. Fish are coming from both the north and south shores of the lake, the district about Bayfield being one of the chief sources of supply. Trout is quoted at 9 cents a pound, pike at 9 and whitefish at 10.

MANAGER MADE PROTEST. Castro Promptly Fired Him From Venezuela.

Caracas, Sept. 8.—The following governmental decree was issued today: Whereas, M. Brun, manager of the French Cable company, has protested before the national government against the decree closing the overland and coast offices of the company, and whereas, this action shows that M. Brun is ignorant of the laws of the republic, the president decrees that the said M. Brun be expelled from the territory of the republic.

A dispatch from Caracas Sept. 5 said that pursuant to the judgment dissolving the contract of the French Cable company, the president had decreed that the company, which remained in office of the company, be expelled from the territory of the republic.

When an attaché of the stationery room of the capitol was asked if the inkstand had arrived, he said: "Yes, I guess so."

In response to an inquiry as to whether it could be seen, he said that it was not on exhibition.

He did not explain who were meant by "they," but evidently "they" have sufficient influence to cause the publicity to be screened down the light.

It is reported that Tiffany, in response to the clamor of a somewhat obstreperous public sentiment, reduced the price to $25. That it is understood is the amount which the taxpayers will pay for the beautiful vice presidential souvenir.

CONSIDER LEVY LEADS POLICE TO OPIUM DEN

Woman, a Friend For the Dealer. Drug, Betrays Chinese.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 8.—Members of the citizens' clothes squad descended upon an opium den on Central avenue and confiscated one of the largest opium outfits which has been captured in recent years. Besides they got Ah Lee, said to be the proprietor, as a prisoner.

The raid was due to the unusually developed sense of smell of Detective Busick of the First precinct force. Busick, passing Ah Lee's place at 64 Central avenue, detected the faint aroma of burning opium floating from the windows of the second floor.

So with Detective Slicker he went on a hunt for information. They talked with women of the neighborhood, reputed to be opium smokers, and they obtained statements from them, though their information was hardly aware of it. They became more reluctant.

In company with a woman, who was persuaded to assist them, officers went to Ah Lee's place. Ah Lee, not suspicious of their search, opened the door, behind the door, sold one opium pill to the woman and accepted 10 cents. The deal was made, and the officers found the opium and that source of women of the neighborhood, and even children of the congested neighborhood are victims of the opium habit.

President Mendenhall of the park board asked for an increase of $5,000 in the park fund in order that the board might purchase twenty-three acres of land bordering on the city of Cleveland. The committee considered the possibility of cutting the interest fund $5,000 to allow for this, but the committee could not see its way clear to allow it.

The only two funds that are likely to get any increase are the board of public works and the police department. The police department will purchase no apparatus this year, and it is believed that the board can also be saved on the interest fund, and some of the members of the committee were in favor of taking $1,000 from the health department fund.

No definite action was taken, but the matter will be given further consideration at the special meeting to be held Tuesday. The levy will not probably be definitely fixed until the final meeting to be held a week from tomorrow. The figures will be sent to the council for confirmation. The council has power to charge the department with the cost of the fund, but cannot increase the total amount.

FIRE AT CLEVELAND. Cleveland, Sept. 8.—The Scher & Becker building, at 29-31 Michigan street, occupied by various manufacturing concerns, was gutted by fire today. The losses will aggregate $100,000.

RAVING MANIAC. From the Bite of a Black Spider. San Bernardino, Cal., Sept. 8.—Louis Jiminez, a Santa Fe section foreman at Elwanda, occupies a cell in the greenroom at the city jail, a raving maniac from the bite of a black spider, which stung him on the back of the neck.

He was taken home, but his condition becoming serious, he was removed to the Santa Fe hospital at Los Angeles, from which he was discharged as cured. Instantly developed, and, suddenly seizing a crowbar, he attempted to brain some laborers, who overpowered and disarmed him.

Jiminez made three desperate attempts to throw himself beneath the wheels of a passenger train before Sheriff Phillips arrived. Supt. Meyer of the hospital diagnosed his case as poisoning from a spider bite, the poison having been absorbed through the skin.

White Sox Begin Post Season Series With Hibbing.

Benefit Game With Duluth Amateurs Will Be Played Monday.

Capt. O'Dea's Northern league champions are up against a rather stiff proposition in today's game at Hibbing. Hibbing has one of the fastest independent ball teams in the state, and in the game against the Superior league team Wednesday, the range men won by the one-sided score of 14 to 2. The Superior team, however, was badly discouraged, and was by far the weakest team in the league when the season closed. The team that Duluth will take to the range, will not be the regular nine, but two or three changes will have been made in it. One of the changes will be the removal of the second base, while O'Dea will move over to the first corner, and Menzie into left field. Menzie of Superior, and formerly of the Duluth team, will play third base. Since winning from Superior, the Hibbing fans have been looking for more Northern league blood. The Northern league has been the topic of the local press, and he with Miller and Powell will pitch the three games. Hibbing has at least two good pitchers in Freeman and Hyman.

STARTLING CLAIM

That Liquor Confiscation Order Affects Duluth and Minneapolis.

Enforcement of the Law Would Mean Total Prohibition.

St. Paul, Sept. 8.—"Every saloon in Duluth, Minneapolis, St. Cloud and the Minnesota cities and villages in all Northern Minnesota, north of Fort Snelling, will be confiscated under the order of the department of the interior providing for the confiscation of liquor in the so-called Indian country, if the treaties of 1854, 1855 and 1863, by which this territory was ceded to the United States, are carried out."

This startling statement was made yesterday, by Congressman Halvor Steenerson of Crookston, who was in St. Paul and was confirmed by United States District Attorney C. C. Haupt.

"Crookston, Bemidji and Cass Lake are not the only towns that will be dry if this law is enforced," said Congressman Steenerson. "We do not object to the enforcement of the law, but we want all the cities and villages in the 'Indian country' treated alike. We are not the only pebbles on the beach; there are others, and if I am not mistaken, Minneapolis and Duluth are among them."

"The treaty under which it is proposed to confiscate liquor on sale in Crookston, Cass Lake, Bemidji, Foston, Walker and other cities in the Red River valley was made in 1853, when that country was ceded to the United States. One of the provisions of that treaty was that the sale of liquor should be prohibited in the territory ceded until otherwise directed by congress or the president of the United States."

"But there are two other treaties which contain the same provision and which cover practically all of Minnesota north of Fort Snelling. The first of these treaties signed September 30, 1854, ceded to the United States the Lake Superior country, including Duluth and the Northwestern part of Wisconsin. Article VII of this treaty reads as follows: 'No spirituous liquors shall be made, sold or used on any of the lands herein set apart for the residence of the Indians, until otherwise provided by congress or ordered by the president.' If the provisions of this treaty are strictly enforced, all liquor in the Lake Superior country will be seized by the government."

"The second treaty was signed Feb. 22, 1855, and provides for the cession of the territory east of the old Red Lake reservation and south of the Wild Rice river. This, I believe, covers the territory running as far south as Fort Snelling, including Minneapolis. Article VII of this treaty provided: 'The laws which have been or may be enacted by congress regulating trade and intercourse with the Indian tribes shall continue and be in force within and upon the several reservations provided for herein, and those portions of said laws which prohibit the introduction, manufacture, use of and traffic in ardent spirits, wines or other intoxicating liquors shall continue and be in force within the entire boundary of the country herein ceded to the United States until otherwise ordered by the president.'"

"That the provision of these treaties prohibiting the sale of liquor in the territory ceded is valid has been decided twice by the United States supreme court in the case of the United States vs. Forty-three Gallons of Whisky. That case originated in the seizure of the stock of goods of Barnard Leavelle of Crookston by the United States marshal in 1872, made on the ground that the liquor was introduced contrary to Article VIII of the treaty of 1853. The late United States Senator Cushman K. Davis appeared for the defendant in that case, and a decision was handed down by the United States district court in favor of Laravie. The government appealed the case to the United States supreme court, which held in 1876 that the provision in the treaty was valid, thus reversing the decision of the district court.

The case was sent back to the district court for a new trial and Mr. Davis, who again appeared for the defendant, raised a new point that the internal revenue laws taxing the liquor traffic legalized the traffic, and decided that the provision of 1853 was valid. This decision was handed down in 1883.

STATE FAIR RACES.

Track In Good Condition But Air Heavy.

St. Paul, Sept. 8.—Despite threatening weather about 8,000 people were in attendance at the state fair yesterday, a large portion of them witnessing the races. The track was in good condition, but the air was dead and heavy and not conducive to fast time. Both events, however, were well contested. The show-ing made by Borawood, a 3-year-old, in the 228 pace, was remarkably good for a youngster. He finished a close second in one heat and was well up in all the others. Ed Fitch, the winner of this race, also won the 230 pace on Monday.

BURNED AT STAKE.

Negro Fiend Pays Penalty of Crime In Texas.

Waxahachie, Texas, Sept. 8.—Steve Davis, a young negro, who confessed to murdering Mrs. S. P. Norris, aged 20, last Saturday night, was burned at the stake yesterday. A mob consisting of 3,000 persons tied the negro to a piece of gas pipe that had been set in the ground, piled fagots around him and set the mass on fire. The sufferings of the negro were of short duration, owing to the fierceness of the fire, which was fanned by a gale of wind which blew across the prairie. The husband of the woman is said to have set the match to the pile and started the blaze that consumed the negro. This is the third negro that has been burned in this section of Texas within a short time. One of these was lynched at Sulphur Springs and another at Waco.

PROVIDES FOR EMERGENCIES

Water Department Will Rent Temporary Quarters For Crew.

The board of water and light commissioners yesterday authorized the renting of temporary quarters for an emergency crew whose duty it will be to attend without delay to any breaks in the water mains. Plans have been underway for the water department for the sale of two lots which it owns at First street and City-Attorney Bert Fisher says that the improvement cannot be made this year for the reason that the city is unable to sell the property mentioned until all claims against the municipality have been paid. It was expected that sale of the lots would raise funds sufficient to erect buildings costing from $1,000 to $3,000.

MASONS ARE CHOSEN.

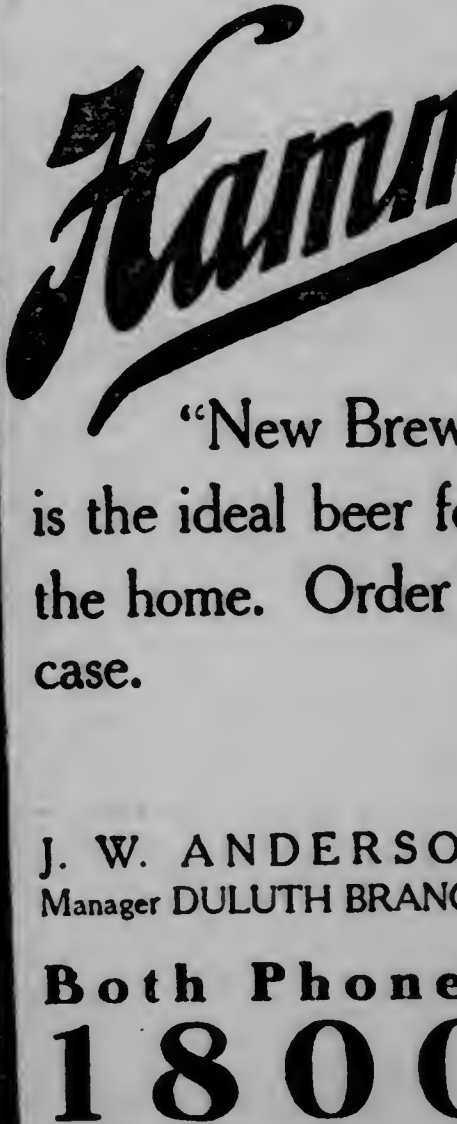

They Will Lay Corner Stone of Superior's Federal Building.

It has been definitely settled in Superior that the Masonic lodges of that city will conduct the program of laying the corner stone of the Federal building. Dr. H. A. Russell and Fred Thompson have been selected by the Masons to act for them.

Possibly the corner stone will not be laid until spring as has not been decided yet whether to lay the stone in the courses of granite or in the superstructure of limestone. If it is decided to lay it in the limestone, the ceremonies will not be held until winter is over, otherwise the stone will be put in place in October, as originally planned.

The Masons have not appointed any arrangements committee yet but this will be done in a few days. An early date Mayor O'Hare will probably appoint a committee from the commercial club and other committees.

HOW THE BOYS WILL LOOK NEXT WEEK, dressed in new Columbia Suits, and on their way to the seat of learning.

Our second floor, which is principally devoted to the Boys' and Children's Department, is rapidly filling up with the new Fall goods, and is by far the largest boys' clothing store in this part of the country.

But we take pride not so much in having the "largest," as in running the "best" boys' store in Duluth.

Here are a few preliminary announcements for the school days.

There are good School Suits here at $1.95. These are made in popular Norfolk style for boys 8 to 14 years old.

Then the pretty belted coats—an ideal School Suit with two pairs of trousers, one a plain pant and the other a knickerbocker—$4.00 and $5.00.

In the old-fashioned and ever-popular plain two-piece School Suits we show mixtures and plain colors without end—$1.95, $3.00, $4.00, $5.00 and $6.00.

For the little tots who go to the kindergarten we have a dozen pretty styles of Russian Blouse Suits, Eton Sailor Suits and Norfolk Suits; also Sailor Suits with the sailor collar—$2.50, $3.00, $4.00, $5.00 and $6.00.

The older boys who wear long trousers suits will find this a good store for them. We know growing young men are good dressers, and not easy to satisfy. Then fathers can't get better clothes than the sons do here. Clothes made by such firms as the Stein-Bloch Co., and Carson, Meyer & Co., at prices from $5.00 to $25.

Heavy ribbed cotton Hose—the best on earth for lively school boys—$1.25.

OHIO CELEBRATION.

Buckeye Picnic at Lester Park Saturday.

Unless weather man H. W. Richardson foretells his misadventure and allows it to rain, a jolly crowd of former Ohio people will celebrate their first picnic at Lester Park tomorrow afternoon. Messrs. Ellis L. Millar, Clinton Brooke and Thomas S. Wood, the committee in charge of this picnic have decided that no set program would be arranged for, letting affairs shape themselves after the basket dinner at about 2 o'clock. Word has been received from Hon. J. Adam Reed that if possible to return from St. Paul in time he will be present. Registration cards are provided for asking the present Duluth address, former Ohio address and maiden name of married ladies, from which a complete roster is to be made, hoping to form an Ohio association for mutual acquaintance and friendship. It is urged that any one at all interested in this picnic will feel at liberty to be present as it has been impossible to reach everyone by the formal postal card invitations.

HEALTH OF POPE

Not Alarming and Physician Takes a Vacation.

Rome, Sept. 8.—Dr. Lippini, the physician in attendance on the pope, has just left Rome for his vacation. It is said that the doctor did not wish to go, but Plus X insisted, in order to show to the world that, notwithstanding the many alarming rumors recently spread about his health, he could get along very well for a few weeks without a doctor.

For the first time in many years, all the officers of the Vatican, military bodies and many prelates of the pope's personal entourage have also been granted leave of absence at the express wish of Plus X, who urges that the fact that circumstances keep him a prisoner in the Vatican does not give him a right to deprive his dependents of their well-earned vacations. With other prelates, however, Plus X has this year been unusually severe for reasons known to him personally. It is said that a cardinal who asked the pope's permission to spend a few weeks at the waters of Montecatini was told that there need not be any hurry, that the pope himself was getting along very well without going to a watering place, and that he expected that at least a few of the prelates would remain in Rome for the ordinary transaction of business.

RAPID FIRE Courtship Will Result in an Early Marriage.

St. Louis, Sept. 8.—Harris Franklin, millionaire ranch owner of Deadwood, mining partner of E. H. Harriman, and Mrs. Sadie Rohr, a beautiful and accomplished young widow, leader in best Jewish society circles in St. Louis, announce their engagement to be wedded some time this fall. They met at Atlantic City a few weeks ago, where Mr. Franklin, seeing Mrs. Rohr in an elevator of the Hotel Rudolph, first sight, and immediately sought and obtained an introduction. He took the lady's heart by storm, and in three days they were betrothed.

ONE PENNY RAILWAY VERDICT CLUB

Jury Gives Plaintiff One Cent in Watch Suit. Kind.

Nearly $100 Is Spent in Fighting a $20 Case. Local Railroad Men Are Planning to Get Together.

One penny was the verdict given in the municipal court this morning, to James H. Macey, a railroad engineer, who brought suit to recover for being done in a watch trade with J. Scanlon, a telegraph lineman.

Since the case was a jury trial, and both parties had attorneys' fees to pay, the total expenses will probably amount to nearly $100, and as a result of the jury's decision one cent will change hands, between the two parties in the case.

The trade which was the cause of the suit took place about three years ago, on the plaintiff's engine, while on the road to Two Harbors from Duluth. Marcy claims that Scanlon represented to him that his watch was a twenty-one jewel, railroad special movement. Marcy was in need of just such a watch, and when Scanlon said he was hard up and needed $10, the trade was effected, Marcy giving Scanlon his watch and $10 for the supposed railroad special movement.

Marcy claims that the watch he received did not keep time, and on taking it to a jeweler he was informed that the movement was not worth more than $1.50. He claims to have asked Scanlon to trade back, and alleges that the latter agreed, promising to pay the $10 in a few days. Marcy claims that the movement in his watch had been changed before the return was made, and that he was cleverly swindled, but this Scanlon denies.

The suit was to recover $20, which included the $10 and the value of Marcy's watch. "Mr. Marcy has been beaten in a watch trade," said Attorney A. E. McManus for the defendant. "He should not have been so easily swindled."

Just how the jury arrived at its verdict, the attorneys were unable to see. If Marcy was entitled to anything, he was entitled to the full value of the watch and the $10 in addition. It is believed by the court officers that the jury's verdict is in the form of a gentle sarcasm at the expense of the two parties in the suit, who expended about $100 in fighting a $20 case.

ENVOYS GUESTS OF GEN. GRANT. New York, Sept. 8.—Mr. William Brewster, the Russian peace envoy, was a guest of Gen. Grant at the latter's home on the Hudson river.

He was the only representative on the envoy's staff.

WAIT FOR NEXT SATURDAY, SEPT. 16.

After working day and night for three weeks we could not get ready for this Saturday, simply because we wanted to place on sale Saturday, September 16, 1905, the finest and most complete line of cloaks and ladies' suits for the fall and winter wear, but watch for the advertisement in The Herald next Friday evening, and bear in mind we will also place on sale all of the goods that were slightly damaged by water in our place about three weeks ago.

Ladies, look happy, because you surely will get the biggest bargains in cloaks and suits ever advertised by any large or small cloak store in this city. It is simply beyond comprehension, the wonderful values that will be offered at the Duluth Consignment Co., at 24 East Superior street, on Saturday, September 16, 1905.

It will, without doubt, be the greatest money-saving event of this season. Some of the goods are unpacked already. Come and feast your eyes on the most beautiful creations of this fall and winter's cloaks and suits. We are sure that we have the most stunning patterns and styles as will be shown in other style stores.

So put your money away down in your purse and wait for this wonderful knock-down of high prices in fall and winter cloaks and suits.

Remember the date, a week from tomorrow, Saturday, September 16, 1905, at the Duluth Consignment Co., 24 East Superior street, next door to the Tribune office.

Duluth railroad men are planning the formation of a club similar to those in existence in other railroad centers in the United States. They have been discussing the project for some time, and a meeting will be held within the course of the next sixty days, when a name for the organization will be decided upon and a board of officers elected.

A constitution similar to that of the Northwestern Railway Club of the Twin Cities will probably be adopted. This makes the following persons eligible for membership:

"Railroad officials and all persons having charge of the design, construction or repair of railroad rolling stock, or any department pertaining thereto. Also editors or associate editors of the railway press, and any person connected with or engaged in the manufacture of or dealing in railroad supplies."

The Duluth club will be organized along the same lines as the Twin City organization, and meetings will be held in some hall at least once a month. The hall has not been selected yet.

The purpose of the club is to bring the railroad men together to discuss improvements in the construction of rolling stock; the operation of roads and other things of interest to all of them. The club will also have social sessions from time to time, and it may be decided to devote a part of every meeting to musical and literary programs. Those members who can sing will be called upon to show their prowess as vocalists, and possibly more elaborate social functions will be held once or twice a year.

Members for the new club will be solicited from the Duluth railway offices in town during the next few weeks, and the organization will probably begin its career with a long list of names. No one has been mentioned for the officers yet.

HE GOT TOO MANY DUCKS

Duluth & Iron Range Road Cruiser Tells Hunting Experience.

As the days grow shorter the thoughts of men lightly turn to duck shooting. Some of the enthusiasts in the Wolvin building were treated with a duck-shooting story this morning that filled them with a desire to throw all business aside and get out in the thickest of the wild rice.

P. Thomas, one of the Duluth & Iron Range road's cruisers, is in town today, and in speaking casually of duck shooting and the situation this year, he said this morning: "About four years ago I went after some ducks in the vicinity of Howling Lake and believe me, it has never been my good fortune since to see ducks in as many numbers. After an outing was over, we could hardly look a duck in the face."

We started out with some misgivings, but with a bit of ammunition and a desire to kill many birds, everything went along all right, although at the outset we did not see many ducks.

"It was late in the fall and a cold, drizzling rain, was falling. Sitting in a heap in the canoe, we were feeling pretty discouraged, and I thought we would have to quit the quest and turn back to civilization. But just as we were about to do so, a man yelled at us from the shore. 'He was apparently standing in a boat in some shallow water, and as he accompanied his yell with much hand waving, we went over to see what was on his mind. When we got up to him, he said: 'Follows. I am getting sick of this. I have been half a day and I've got eight hundred ducks. I guess I will go home. He gave us some ducks to eat right away and told us that all we had to do was to stay around there and pick 'em off in as large numbers as we chose. So we stuck.'

"We staid until the next day and shot many, many ducks. I don't believe we kept count. The next day, however, the ice on Howling Lake was strong enough in some places, to permit us to walk on it. We dragged our packs, and we saw hundreds of ducks there and ran after them and chased them out of the wild rice. We were tired of shooting them. On the way back, we stopped at a settler's cabin. He had a sort of barn there full of frozen ducks, all as fat as butter. He told us to go in and help ourselves but we already had all we could conveniently carry."

EDDIE FAY, The Postoffice Robber, Defies the Police.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Eddie Fay, postoffice robber and expert jailbreaker, is in Chicago, according to Postal Inspector James E. Stuart, and his presence offers a splendid opportunity for one of Chief Collins' men to make a record. Though they are aware of his presence, Stuart says, not one of them has yet tried to hunt him down. "Fay is badly wanted, but he has sent out a death threat to the police and threatened with death the first man and all men who attempt to arrest him," Stuart said. "Since Fay escaped from the jail at Jacksonville, Fla., he has threatened a number of policemen and declared he would 'get' Inspector Stuart if he caused his arrest."

ENORMOUS SALARIES

Paid the Officers of the Various Insurance Companies.

Officers Also Make Much Money on the Side.

New York, Sept. 8.—The salaries paid to the officers of the New York Life Insurance company were the subject of the opening inquiries when the insurance investigation was resumed today. Edmund Randolph, treasurer of the New York Life, testified that the salary of President John A. McCall, of that company, had been increased from $40,000 in 1892 to $50,000 in 1893, $75,000 in 1896 and $100,000 since 1901. The salary of George W. Perkins, vice president, Mr. Randolph testified was increased from $20,000 in 1893 to $25,000 in 1897, $30,000 in 1900, $55,000 in 1901, and then reduced to $25,000 in 1902. The reduction in salary was due to Mr. Perkins going into partnership with J. P. Morgan. Mr. Randolph's statement of the salaries of the other officials showed a steady increase.

John Clavin, a director and member of the finance committee of the New York Life, was the next witness. Mr. Clavin described the company's method of making investments through the finance committee. The lists of investments as a rule were prepared, he said, not by individuals, but by a great number of financial institutions—practically the whole financial community. "The proposals were first passed on by a sub-committee which eliminated the impossible ones. If the proposals came on the day of the finance committee's sitting, the whole finance committee considered the proposals. "Does the New York Life from time to time enter into syndicate agreements?" asked Mr. Clavin. "Yes," Mr. Clavin replied. "Do they come before the sub-committee on finance?" "No," he said. "Do they come before the whole finance committee. Written agreements are drawn up and a synopsis of them is recorded in the minutes of the finance committee. "Doesn't the New York Life enter into syndicates when it does not take the bonds itself?" "It never enters into syndicates unless satisfied it is a good thing for the New York Life to hold bonds the syndicate handles; it never enters into syndicate transactions except with the intention of taking bonds."

The inquiry into the Mutual Life Insurance company was begun yesterday afternoon. The testimony drawn from an officer of this company showed that the Mutual controls many trust companies, among them the Morton Trust company, the Guarantee Trust company and the United States Mortgage and Trust company. On deposit with these companies the insurance company keeps hundreds of thousands of dollars against which it does not draw. It was explained that the prosperity of the trust companies meant the prosperity of the insurance company. The insurance deposits draw 2 per cent interest and the trust companies pay as high as 20 per cent dividends on the par value of the stock or 5 per cent on the market value.

THE COURTS MUST DECIDE

Extent of Order Closing Saloons in Northern Minnesota.

Washington, Sept. 8.—Referring to the controversy in Minnesota as to the extent outside of Cass Lake Indian reservation of the order of the commissioner of Indian affairs forbidding the sale of liquor at the agency, Commissioner Leupp said today that the department of justice to take care of any legal complications that may ensue. Mr. Leupp confessed his gratification over the prospects of a judicial settlement of the question involved, because of the need of a modern interpretation of the law under which the order was issued. He says that this statute, like many others bearing upon the administration of the Indian bureau, is old, and possibly of doubtful interpretation under present conditions, and adds that he will welcome a court test of it as well as of other laws of the same character.

CONDEMN POLICE.

Japanese Papers Say Their Actions Excited Crowds.

Tokio, Wednesday, Sept. 6, 8 a. m.—(Delayed in transmission)—With the exception of the Kokumin, the government organ, the newspapers this morning generally express anger over the action of the police in closing Hibaya park and attempting to suppress meetings. They say the measures of the police were unwarranted and foolish and served to excite the crowds.

The Jiji says: "Such a deplorable phenomenon in a city where the emperor resides is highly significant that the only course open to the cabinet is resignation. The Hochi deplores such occurrences in the capital of a victorious country and says that Tokio has been converted into a St. Petersburg. It further urges a refusal to ratify the treaty of peace, which it says is the sole cause for 'the shameful and sad occurrences.'"

The Mainichi says: "Hear the voice of the nation! Head the expression of the nation's desire. The nation's voice is full of anger. The resignation of the cabinet might appease popular indignation. All the papers avoid the use of the word 'mob,' and openly sympathize with the destruction of the police stations."

DIAMONDS FOUND

In Elliott County, Kentucky, Says South African Expert.

Total Cost of Prospecting the Property Fixed at $100,000.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 8.—David Draper, a diamond expert of Johannesburg, South Africa, passed through here this week for Richmond, Va. He is due in London Sept. 25. He has just returned from Elliott county, Ky., where he investigated and inspected land between Iron and Creeches creeks. He is the first diamond expert from South Africa to investigate the possibilities of finding diamonds in Kentucky.

A correspondent took the report Mr. Draper made of the mines to W. L. McCarty, the owner. Mr. Draper in his report says that if these diamonds are on the surface in South Africa as they are in Elliott county, Ky., hundreds of thousands of dollars would have been invested in prospecting before now. His report says that garnets, limonite, olivine, diopside and magnetite are found in the thick growth of vegetation would preclude the possibility of systematically searching for them. He calls attention to the fact that some of the diamonds were only discovered after twenty-five years of mining operations. It was evident to mining experts that diamonds existed there.

He says the total cost of thoroughly prospecting the Kentucky property would be $100,000. His report states that it would only require the finding of five carats of stones per acre in Kentucky to make the mine a paying one. The pipes he examined had a population of 100,000 in the 1900 census. Its county seat is Elliottville.

CATARRH

A UNIVERSAL DISEASE

Catarrh usually begins with a cold in the head, but does not stop there. The mucous membranes all become inflamed and secrete a filthy, unhealthy matter which is absorbed by the blood and distributed to all parts of the body. The patient is then continually hacking and spitting, the nose is stopped up, the ears have a ringing or buzzing noise, the throat becomes sore, and as the unhealthy matter more thoroughly saturates the blood a general feeling of despondency takes possession of the system.

I had Catarrh for about fifteen years, and no man could have been worse. I tried everything I could hear of, but no good resulted. I then began S. S. S., and could see a little improvement from the first bottle, and after taking it a short while was cured. This was six years ago, and I am as well today as any man. I think Catarrh is a blood disease, and know there is nothing on earth better for the blood than S. S. S. Nobody thinks more of S. S. S. than I do. Lapeer, Mich. M. MATSON.

Local applications cannot cure Catarrh, because they do not reach the seat of the trouble. They only relieve the inflammation and temporarily relieve the disease, but as soon as they are left off the trouble returns. The only way to cure Catarrh is to treat it through the blood. S. S. S. soon clears the blood of all Catarrhal matter and purges it of all irritating poisons, checks further progress of the trouble and completely cures the disease. S. S. S. keeps the blood in perfect order so that in the meantime the system from the system all waste matter that will produce Catarrh. Nothing equals this great vegetable remedy in the cure of this disease. Write for our book and any medical advice you wish. We make no charge for either.

ROMANTIC STORY

Girl Marries an English Doctor Whose Life She Saved.

She Held His Head Above Water For Several Hours.

Clarence, Mo., Sept. 8.—Society in this section of the state is much interested in a romance which includes a wild stage ride in the Colorado mountains, the saving of a man from drowning and the wedding of one of Clarence's most attractive and popular young women.

The parties to the story are Dr. Arnold Kingsley and his wife, who was Miss Perle Shale, considered one of the prettiest girls who lived in Northern Missouri.

It is a case of reversal of the conventional story of the man saving the girl from drowning and then a wedding. In this instance it was Miss Shale who did the heroic act of saving the life of Dr. Kingsley, nursed him back to health and then became his wife.

The cruel policeman figured in the story to the extent of arresting Dr. Kingsley and the stern court was an actor in the drama, finding Dr. Kingsley on the technical charge of cruelty to animals, the real charge being, it is said, that Dr. Kingsley refused to pay the damages claimed by a liveryman for the smashing of his coach and the death of one of his horses.

The opening scene of the drama was at Palmer Lake, Colo., a fashionable summer resort between Denver and Colorado Springs, where Dr. Kingsley had rented a coach and four and was giving a party, supposedly in honor of David H. Moffatt, the millionaire banker and railroad magnate of Denver.

Mr. Moffatt, however, was not one of the party, and it is said that he has stated that he does not even know Dr. Kingsley, nevertheless the party, which numbered twelve, went on its trip along the mountain roads in the vicinity of Palmer Lake.

Dr. Kingsley, when he started on the trip, refused the services of a driver, saying that he was fully capable of piloting the vehicle to one side, slipping from the road and overturning down a cliff and landing, with its occupants, in a mountain stream below.

Trapped under the wreck was Dr. Kingsley, his head under water and in imminent danger of drowning.

Unmindful of her own injuries, Miss Shale held Dr. Kingsley's head above water for some hours until help came, which enabled the rescuers to take him from under the wreckage.

The attentions of Dr. Kingsley to Miss Shale at Palmer Lake had been marked, and it was no surprise when the young lady and her mother accompanied the doctor to Denver to his home, where he was recovering from his injuries.

Then it was that Dr. Kingsley proposed marriage, telling Miss Shale, so the story goes, that he would give her $100,000 a year.

The wedding ceremony was performed as soon as Dr. Kingsley was well on the road to recovery, and cards to friends here and there were sent, and the many admirers of the bride had of the romance.

Spreading efforts were made to make the Kentucky fields pay, without result, and although capitalists from all over the United States came to that section, no diamonds of value were discovered. The specimens were examined by Tiffany of New York, and his experts pronounced them the genuine article.

Some years ago the first evidences of diamonds were found in the Kentucky mountains. Samples of the rocks were sent to Washington, and the United States geological survey at that time, and the experts pronounced the diamonds pure and equal to the South African product in value.

CURZON AS PREMIER

Former Viceroy of India May Unite With the Liberals.

Downfall of the Balfour Ministry Is Considered Probable.

London, Sept. 8.—It is possible that the two great parties of Great Britain, the Conservatives and the Liberals, are about to see the entering wedge of the line of cleavage and the greatest split in party politics witnessed since Joseph Chamberlain started the world with his repudiation of free trade and his commencement of a campaign in favor of protection.

It is beginning to be believed here that the resignation of Lord Curzon of Kedleston as viceroy of India, the trouble for the Conservatives, Baron Curzon is a Conservative, but this fact makes him all the more powerful in the eyes of the millions and millions of people the position of premier is any greater than that of viceroy of India. The gap between the two posts is certainly not so great as might appear at first blush.

Lord Curzon knows the game, and he is ambitious. His American wife is also ambitious to have him return to London and leave his imprint on public affairs there. And his American father-in-law, Mr. Leiter, is on record as saying that the youthful Lord Curzon is appeal to the country during the hot summer months was not without effect. Even the Liberals agreed with the Conservatives that the summer time was not propitious for a campaign. Roughly speaking, it would appear that the chief difference between the Liberals and the Conservatives in the matter of the time of holding the election is that the Liberals want it next fall. The Conservatives are not so sure. And if the weakness of the government is put off the crisis until next spring. And if the Conservatives are not among the possibilities.

In case Lord Curzon should play his cards right, it is not impossible that he may find himself in the lead of the Liberal party. Mr. Campbell-Bannerman is not regarded as a really strong man—the type of man to command and demand attention at the hands of the voters of Great Britain. Then it would undoubtedly be sweet revenge for Lord Curzon to succeed where Lord Balfour failed.

It was the fact that Mr. Broderick sided with Lord Kitchener instead of Lord Curzon which brought about the destruction of the influence of the Indian viceroy with the home government.

Lord Curzon must choose the post of war minister in the United Kingdom, thereby making himself Lord Kitchener's superior and forcing his ideas upon India through the war office from London and through Lord Curzon's hands.

The whirling of time has brought stranger reverses than that. One thing is certain, that Lord Curzon has already been honored by a Conservative administration in being made viceroy of India and being given the direction of the political affairs of a greater number of human beings than owe allegiance to any monarch living except the emperor of China. It is a question whether in the eyes of millions and millions of people the position of premier is any greater than that of viceroy of India. The gap between the two posts is certainly not so great as might appear at first blush.

Lord Curzon knows the game, and he is ambitious. His American wife is also ambitious to have him return to London and leave his imprint on public affairs there. And his American father-in-law, Mr. Leiter, is on record as saying that the youthful Lord Curzon is one of the ablest men of the times. Beginning public life as assistant secretary to the late Lord Salisbury, he has risen with such rapidity that in 1888, when only 38, he was appointed to the post which he has just laid down by speaking. It is impossible to think that a man with the trainings and the ambitions of Lord Curzon will be able to retire while in the prime of life from public life, especially if he returns to England at a time when Great Britain has become a hotbed of imperial politics.

Political wisecracks may be disposed to discredit the idea of Lord Curzon associating himself with the Liberals. For he is an ardent imperialist, and his was the policy which carried the British to Lhasa the other day. And Lord Rosbery has been constantly and continually booming Lord Kitchener for minister of war. If great soldiers like Kitchener may be said to have any politics then the man of iron, who went to Khartoum and who was Lord Roberts' chief of staff in South Africa, may be said to be a Liberal. But with his present opponent in India a power in the Liberal circles in London, it would probably not take Lord Kitchener long to become a full-fledged Conservative.

One thing is certain, and that is that the next few months will see more politics to the square inch in Great Britain and Ireland than has been played by any party, or by any parties since the days of Gladstone and the home rule agitation.

SERVED ONLY THREE HOURS

In the Penitentiary For a Sentence of One Year.

Leavenworth, Kan., Sept. 8.—For a prisoner to serve only three hours in the penitentiary for an original sentence of one year and one day is unusual. This is true in the case of T. J. Attaway. It was through the recent ruling of the attorney general of the United States that the prisoner was released from confinement by Marshal B. H. Colbert of the Southern district of the Indian Territory. He was sentenced at Chickasha, T. P., to serve sentence of one year and one day for false pretense. The sentence was given on Oct. 1904.

Instead of bringing the prisoner to the federal penitentiary at that time to serve out his sentence, he was allowed to go out on a suspended sentence, and it was not until Aug. 5 that the court ordered that he be brought to the federal penitentiary to serve out his time.

The attorney general had ruled that allowance of good conduct should commence from the date of sentence and not from the time the prisoner is received at the penitentiary. This ruling was made June 19, 1905. Attaway was therefore entitled to deduction from his sentence of two months and twelve days, which would cause his term to expire on Aug. 7 of this year.

The prisoner could not be released in the Indian Territory on this ruling for the reason that he had to be brought to the prison, and it was for the reason that the marshal wished to comply with the ruling of the court that the prisoner was sent here, even after his sentence had expired.

Attaway was received at the prison in the customary manner. He was taken to the deputy's office and the warden had a receipt for the prisoner given to the marshal. The prisoner was compelled to be photographed the same as any other convict, for the reason that the officials wished to have some evidence that they had him in confinement for a time at least. He was given a bath, dressed in the regular prison clothes while he was being measured and photographed. YELLOW CRUST ON BABY Would Crack Open and Scab Causing Terrible Itching.

CURED BY CUTICURA

"Our baby had a yellow crust on his head which I could not keep away. When I thought I had succeeded in getting his head clear, it would start again by the crown of his head, crack and scale, and cause terrible itching. I then got Cuticura Soap and Cuticura, washed the scalp with the soap and then applying the Ointment. A few treatments made a complete cure. I have advised a number of mothers to use Cuticura, when I have been asked about the same ailment of their babies. Mrs. John Boyce, Pine Bush, N. Y."

NO SUNDAY SHAVES

Will Be the Rule Hereafter In Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 8.—Barber shops are to be closed on Sunday hereafter. The board of public safety issued an order to this effect to the chief of police. It is in response to the appeal recently made by a delegation of barbers to Mayor Holtzman. The Sunday closing question has been agitated for some time. Most of the barbers have opposed closing on the ground that it would cause them to lose trade, while the men have asked for closing in order that they might have a day of rest. Union workers have been agitating the closing movement since the board of public safety and this department refused to take a hand in the controversy. Thomas Madden, president of the board, said it was represented to him that the matter was in the hands of the prosecuting attorney and that until he had disposed of it the board should not interfere. In the meantime Prosecutor Benedict has said that he could take no steps, and he put it up to the city police.

Capt. Madden says he is not opposed to Sunday shaving, but that under present conditions he thinks it is unlawful. It will be for the courts to decide. In some places the courts have held that Sunday shaving is a necessity and cannot be stopped. It is understood that in spite of the board's order of today some of the boss barbers intend to resist the law by trying to run their shops.

WOMAN SEEKS HER HUSBAND

Mrs. F. B. Kimball of Detroit Trails Deserting Spouse.

Seeking a husband whom she claims to have deserted her in the East, Mrs. F. B. Kimball, aged 30 years, made application to A. P. Cook, secretary of the county poor commission, this morning, for transportation to Knife River.

The woman reached Duluth by rail on transportation which she alleges was furnished her by the poor commissioner at Detroit, Mich., Sept. 6. She first applied to Sheriff Bates, but was informed that the only department of the county that could render her any assistance in the transportation line was the poor commission. Mr. Cook took her case under advisement, but did not issue the desired ticket, the policy of the poor commission in the past having been decidedly against giving tickets to women in search of their husbands, particularly when they were young women, without children, and not residents of the county.

Mrs. Kimball, it was claimed, had no assurance that her husband is still residing at Knife river, or whether he will have anything to do with her if she locates him there.

NOW READY FOR THE JURY

Judges Dispose of All Divorce Cases For Trial.

Aside from one divorce action, there was little doing in district court this morning. Tomorrow will be the regular day for special sessions and next Monday the jury cases will come on for trial.

Main some divorces on the previous term calendar, but these will come on in their regular order as they are reached by the court.

Besides the cases mentioned yesterday, in which the court dealt with misdeemeanors, one or two cases were disposed of in the afternoon. Ambrose Briggs was granted legal separation from one Briggs, after a hearing of seven days. Carrie Mikkila was granted legal separation from Edward A. Mikkila, and Edward Kriz was granted legal separation from Ida Kriz.

Sale of School Suits.

The Eagle Clothing company offers unusual bargains tomorrow in school suits for boys and young men. The firm has secured the exclusive agency in Duluth for the famous Viking system, and to introduce this celebrated make, has inaugurated a sale that will appeal particularly to parents who are on the lookout for durable and stylish clothing for their boys at a material saving. The different styles and prices are described in the firm's advertisement in today's issue.

School Shoes

Past experience has proved to hundreds of parents that our School Shoes wear about twice as long as other shoes sold at the same price. The reason is that we personally select the material used in the manufacture of our shoes. Our profits—it's true—are small on a single pair, but, by shoeing half of the School Children, it pays us in the end.

OPEN BIDS FOR PAVING

Board of Public Works Considers Fifth Avenue Improvement.

Bids were opened this morning by the board of public works for the paving of Fifth avenue west from Michigan to Second streets.

Several kinds of material were called for in the specifications. One set of bids was for sandstone blocks for the whole distance. Another called for sandstone as far up as First street and cedar blocks for the rest of the distance. Another called for creosote blocks between First and Second streets and a third for sandstone to Superior street and cedar blocks for the rest of the distance.

All of the bids have not yet been figured out, but Sang & Preston were the lowest bidders for the sandstone blocks, submitting a bid of $7,476.12 for the pavement from Michigan street to Second.

Several other bids for small sewer contracts were also opened and the contracts awarded.

Washington, Sept. 8.—The Armour car lines today filed with the interstate commerce commission a denial that the commission has any jurisdiction over its refrigerator charges, taking a position identical with that of the Santa Fe refrigerator dispatch that it is not a common carrier and is not the agent of a railroad.

NAILED FAST TO COFFIN

In Accordance With an Old Superstition.

New York, Sept. 8.—A Budapest "Pester Lloyd" correspondent in "Pravda" writes: A peasant named Thyoda Besza died, and as his death was regarded as somewhat inexplicable, or, perhaps, as somewhat suspicious, the authorities to have been given by the authorities to have the body examined. The gentlemen found the body fastened by hands, feet and neck with long nails to the boards of the coffin, while another nail had been driven through the heart. Investigations showed that this had been done by the witch of the village, Olga Iokan, who had received instructions from a committee of villagers. She had often carried out this operation on persons who suddenly died, as the people believed, or, in such cases, if this precaution were not taken, the body would rise again and infect the nearest relatives with the disease from which the person had died.

SHOE NEWS FOR THE KIDS

ANOTHER VICTIM

Harry Bryant, Who Went Down on Pretoria, Buried.

Wife Thought Husband Safe and News Prostrates Her.

Although his name did not appear on the list of those who lost their lives when the barge Pretoria foundered on Lake Superior, Harry Leo Bryant of Duluth, went down with the craft.

His wife, who is employed as a caretaker at the Lyceum theater, was not notified of his death Wednesday evening, and the remains were brought to Duluth from Bayfield late Thursday afternoon.

Had she read his name in the list of dead when it was known that the Pretoria had gone down, the shock would not have been so great to Mrs. Bryant. Not seeing there in the accounts of the accident, she supposed that her husband had been rescued, until the receipt of the telegram brought down her hopes with a pitiful crash. She was nearly prostrated by the news.

The funeral was held this morning at Stewart's undertaking rooms, and the interment took place at Forest Hill cemetery.

Mr. Bryant had sailed on the Great Lakes for many years.

Storekeeper Is Fined.

Because he sold malt whisky without a liquor license, John Peterson, a well-known storekeeper at Zim, this county, was yesterday fined $50 in the court following his plea of guilty to the charge. Peterson, in pleading guilty, explained that he did not know he was violating the law, supposing that in selling the malt whisky that he was dealing in a patent medicine. The facts in the case showed that his offense was one of ignorance of the law rather than of intention.

CHARLES TILLY

WITH ASSAULT

Indictments Are Returned Against Malner and Mainella.

A second return, comprising four indictments against persons residing in St. Louis county, was made by the grand jury this morning. Only one of the indictments, however, is made public for the reason that the other three are charged with crime in not in custody and the two others are out on bail furnished at the time they were bound over to the grand jury.

Charles Malner, who is said to have assaulted John Kujonen with an ice pick, in the town of McKinley, August 29, is indicted for assault in the second degree.

Michie Mainella, who was one of the persons indicted yesterday, is charged with assault in the second degree. It is charged that he cut Carl Hanson of this city with a knife, June 15.

LABOR PICNIC

Zenith Park.

The Labor Day committee has made final arrangements for the postponed Labor Day picnic and it can now be announced officially that the picnic will take place Sunday at Zenith park. It was decided a few days ago to have it there if transportation facilities could be arranged satisfactorily. That has now been done so that all now depends on the weather. If that is favorable the picnic will be a success. If not, the picnic will likely be abandoned entirely.

It has been arranged that transportation to and from Zenith park will be available at the foot of Sixty-first avenue west to which place street cars can be taken. The pleasure barge Outing will be towed to and from the park by a tug, the steamer Mary Main will take passengers and a number of launches will be pressed into service. The fare will be 5 cents. There will be dancing in the afternoon and evening. The whole of the program of sports arranged for Labor Day will be pulled off and it is expected that quite an enjoyable time will be had. Those desiring grand privileges can secure the same by applying to James Welsh.

PORT REPLIES

To the Protest Made by American Minister.

Constantinople, Sept. 8.—The port has replied to Minister Lehmann's protest regarding the Armenian, Greek and Turkish, said to be an American citizen, who was condemned to death at Istanbul for murder, reiterating its old contention in regard to the status of naturalized subjects. The reply refers to Article 4 of the naturalization laws which declares that naturalization, without the consent of the Turkish government, will not be considered forcible when they return to their country of origin.

MURDER WAS ATTEMPTED.

New York, Sept. 8.—Jacob H. Thompson, Times, today was found unconscious and apparently dying from the effects of a fractured skull, a stab wound, and a bullet wound in the chest. The police believe that murder was attempted.

NEXT SESSION AT ESCANABA

Northern Swedish Methodist Conference Accepts City's Invitation.

St. Paul, Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The early morning session of the second day of the Northern Swedish Methodist conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, opened with a half hour of devotions, conducted by Rev. Dr. C. W. Nelson of the Theological seminary at Evanston, Ill.

The conference then listened to reports on candidates in the courses of conference studies.

The report of Dr. Nelson, of the seminary at Evanston, of which he is financial agent, was received with gratification. Of the sum of $50,000 which he had sought to raise for an endowment fund, $22,000 has been subscribed.

The conference was required to elect two trustees for the institution and chose Rev. Dr. Nelson as the clerical trustee and John Brandt, a banker, of Murdoch, as a lay trustee.

Visitors who addressed the conference were Dr. J. H. Forney, assistant secretary of the board of church extension; Rev. S. W. Dickinson of the American Bible society; N. A. Palmer of Ohio, member of the Anti-Saloon league; and Mrs. Anna Sandridge of the Asbury hospital, Minneapolis.

The conference accepted a cordial invitation from Escanaba, Mich., to hold the next session in that city. This afternoon the annual conference sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. Nelson, after which the annual meeting of the Alumni association of the Theological seminary at Evanston was held.

This evening there will be a young people's service, to be addressed by H. Sundstrom of Escanaba, Mich., and A. G. Beck of Two Harbors, Minn.

FOLK AND STAFF

Pay Their Way to Portland Exposition.

Jefferson, Mo., Sept. 8.—Governor Folk and his military staff, who will leave Kansas City Saturday to attend the Portland exposition, will pay their own way. The governor will pay his own personal expenses, including railroad transportation. He will not allow the state commission to pay them as they wanted to do.

The governor also insists that each member of his staff who goes pay his own way. This will be the first time in the history of the state that the governor's staff have borne their own expenses on an occasion of this kind.

The governor takes the position that the state should not pay for the expenses of the staff, but that it should stand against the use of passes.

Since Governor Folk has been in office, he has not used a railroad pass, even when he is outside the state.

WILLIAM ROCKEFELLER

Much Amused By Comment
By a Barber.

Harrogate, Eng., Sept. 8.—Mr. and Mrs. William Rockefeller and Miss Rockefeller, this week, have been coming from London by automobile. After a few days at the Yorkshire spa they continued their journey to Scotland. They occupied a suite of nine rooms at the Grand hotel.

The day after Mr. Rockefeller arrived he went to the barber shop in the hotel and asked to be shaved. His mustache having been clipped into the semblance of a scrubbing brush. The barber, who tried to stop the razor and rather the oil of the magnate's face, at the same time wishing to amuse his unwell client, said:

"We have the wealthiest man in the world staying here," he said.

"Who is that?" said Rockefeller.

"Rockefeller, sir, the great oil king."

"But," said Mr. Rockefeller, "perhaps it is the rich man's brother who is a very poor man. For instance, if your brothers were rich, would it necessarily mean that you were?"

"No," said the barber, "but in this case I do not know which Rockefeller is. Anyhow I should not want any thing more than to have the rocks this man in the house has."

Mr. Rockefeller returned to his room, told his courier of the incident, and laughed heartily. All the smart people at the Grand hotel were abnormally concerned in all the doings of the Rockefellers. Nothing is known here of his reported automobile accident.

TURTLE BATTLES

With Five Men and One Is Badly Wounded.

South Norwalk, Conn., Sept. 8.—Four East Norwalk fishermen paddled into port yesterday with the turtle, and one of the fishermen, unaccountably and with arm gashed, in the bottom of the boat, as the result of a fight with a 60-pound turtle, the largest and most vicious of this species ever brought into Fulton market, which escaped from Captain Charles E. Duroess.

Capt. Duroess offered a reward of $50 for the turtle, and when it was brought in, he was taken to his room and kept there.

The fight broke off shortly in the tough and speared through the back of the turtle, which was then taken to the water. The water was beaten into foam and red blood was seen on the turtle's back.

The men and with his flippers almost over his head with their oars. Those who were on the turtle were crushed and broken.

In the thickest of the fight Swanson was struck by either one of the flippers of the "animal" or by his beam and a long

YOUNG MAN WANTED

In Colorado Is Jailed at Cumberland, Wis.

Cumberland, Wis., Sept. 8.—City Marshal Ed Pierce, successfully landed Louis Baker in the local cooler yesterday morning. Baker, who is alleged to have passed a bogus check for $150 on the Stockgrowers' National bank of his home city and then left for Northern Wisconsin. Knowing that Mr. Baker had visited Cumberland, Wis., and suspected that he had gone thither, the authorities in Colorado notified Ed Pierce to keep his eyes open, and promised him $50 reward if he was successful in catching the man. Mr. Pierce did so, and it took the party nearly two hours and carrying a crutch. Approached by the local enforcer of the law and asked if his name was Baker, the man said no, but that his name was Morris. When further pressed, however, the man admitted that in Colorado he had gone by the name of Louis Baker. A sheriff is now on his way from Colorado.

HYDES QUIT GOTHAM.

Family Resents Attack on Former Equitable Chief.

New York, Sept. 8.—New York is to lose the Hydes entirely. The abuse heaped on the family name by reason of the Equitable scandal has proven too much for them.

Mrs. Sydney Dillon Ripley and Miss Anna Ripley are already en route for Europe. They are the sister and niece of James H. Hyde, and it is understood that their stay abroad is likely to be of a prolonged nature.

Like her brother, Mrs. Ripley, who lost her husband last winter, bitterly resents the attacks which have been leveled not only against him, but also against their father, the founder of the West Duluth banquet, where he made a great hit, so that those who have been invited to attend the realty house in Duluth with a three-day hearing something very good from him.

Early Saturday morning the members of the exchange and their invited guests will leave the Union depot for a trip over the ranges, visiting several Local real estate men are fast completing plans for the entertainment of members of the St. Paul, Winnipeg and Superior real estate exchanges, and the Minneapolis real estate board, who will be the guests of the Duluth exchange, next Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 16 and 17.

A banquet will be given for the visitors at the Commercial club, Saturday evening. The program for this affair has not been announced yet, but it is known that among others C. C. Cokefair of the Great Northern Power company will speak. He will probably talk on the water power and what its future means to Duluth.

Mr. Cokefair has appeared as a public speaker only once, and that was at the West Duluth banquet, where he made a great hit, so that those who have been invited to attend the realty house in Duluth with a three-day hearing something very good from him.

Early Saturday morning the members of the exchange and their invited guests will leave the Union depot for a trip over the ranges, visiting several

START THE WORK

New Dredging Outfit Will Be Completed By April 1.

Duluth-Superior Dredging Co. Contract Calls For 130 Men.

Napoleon Grignon has been awarded the contract for the construction of practically all of the dredging outfit of the new Duluth-Superior Dredging company, or that part of it which is made of wood, at least, and actual work of building the big dredges was begun this week, at the foot of Sixth avenue west, where the company has established temporary yards and headquarters.

The contract calls for the completion of the dredges by the first day of next April, so the company may be in condition to begin the season's work on an equal footing with the other dredging outfits. Quite a lot of oak and fir construction timber has been arriving during the week and more of it will be landed at the Sixth avenue yards from time to time. A crew of fifteen men is now at work, and within two weeks this number will be increased by 120 more, who will be given steady employment all winter, until the contract is completed.

There are to be three of the dredges, two ten-dipper dredges and one 20-dipper hydraulic. The dipper dredges will be the largest and most up-to-date on the lakes. It is said that only two or three others as large are at present in existence. Their capacity will vary, according to the material they work in, but, ordinarily, they will have a capacity of 3,000 cubic yards a day each. The hydraulic outfit will handle about two-thirds this amount in a day's work. The hulls of the bigger outfits will measure 120 feet long, 41-foot beam and 14 feet in depth.

In addition to the dredges, four scows, with a capacity of from 500 to 1,000 cubic yards each, will be built at the temporary yards this winter. At least three of these will also be required to handle the work of the company. These have not yet been purchased. It may be found necessary to have them built especially, unless suitable boats of this kind can be picked up along the lake.

When the three outfits are in operation about seventy men will be required to keep them going during the season of navigation. The permanent yards of the concern have not yet been definitely decided upon. It is known, however, that they will be in Duluth, somewhere along the bay front.

Most of the dredge machinery will come from the Eastern steel centers.

JOY KILLS WOMAN.

St. Louis, Sept. 8.—Joy because of the return of her son after a year's absence, caused the death of Mrs. Sophie Bringer, aged 63 years. She was a widow and Henry Bringer, her only son, had been in the West, a long time, turning Thursday from the Portland exposition, where he had been playing in a band. She was overcome at seeing him and suffered paralysis followed by her death today.

ARRESTED FOR ASSAULT

Steamboat Mate Accused of Breaking Charles Johnson's Nose.

Accused of breaking a man's nose because he refused to take a line from a steamer, John Doe, whose true name is supposed to be Lennon, was arrested and brought into court today on a warrant of assault in the third degree. He is the mate on the steamer Salvia. On the boat's last trip into Duluth a man named Charles Johnson was standing on the dock, and when the steamer was about to land the mate asked him to take a line. He refused, and the mate is accused of assaulting him after the boat landed. The mate denies that he is the man who committed the assault, and the case is being heard in the municipal court, before Judge Windom, this afternoon.

NORTH BUTTE IS HIGHER

It Rallies Again and Passes the $39
Mark.

North Butte was again very active on the Boston exchange today and had a sharp rally. The closing price last night was $39.75 bid and $39.50 asked, and throughout this morning there was a steady advance with but slight reactions. At the close, the price bid was $39.25, and $39.50 was asked. The total transactions for the day were 2,355 shares. The stock has this week become one of the active ones on the Boston exchange.

J. G. HOWARD IS LUCKY

Recovers Pocketbook Containing Cash and Draft
For $3,100.

After losing a pocketbook containing $129 in cash and an accepted draft for $3,100, John G. Howard found it this morning in the yawl of the steamer Kerr.

Mr. Howard was out on the bay last evening on the steamer Fern, and he used the yawl belonging to the Kerr in making several trips to the boat and back.

After landing on shore he missed his pocketbook and returned to the Fern to make a search for it. He thought he had lost it in getting in and out of the hatchway on the Fern, but a thorough search of the boat failed to reveal it.

This morning he thought he would make one more trial, and as a last chance he went to the steamer Kerr, which was tied up at the ore dock. He lifted the tarpaulin in which had been thrown over the yawl, and there, in the bottom of the boat, was his pocketbook. It had dropped from his hip pocket while he was rowing and the men on the Kerr had not discovered it in pulling the boat aboard.

JEFFRIES TO BE REFEREE

Conditions Surrounding the Britt-Nelson Contest Are Unsavory.

San Francisco, Sept. 8.—James J. Jeffries will referee the Britt-Nelson contest tomorrow at Colma. After all the wrangling and objections that have been advanced by the Nelson side against the retired champion, Jeffries still says he will act as referee. This is almost the only saving feature of the situation today.

The developments of the past twenty-four hours have served to strengthen the growing opinion that all was not right in the understanding between the boxers.

The declaration of Nolan, manager of Nelson, late last night, that there was no side bet of $10,000, and that the boxers have a secret agreement to split the purse, winner to take 60, and the loser 40 per cent, did not come as a surprise to the general public, but has served to stem the enthusiasm to some extent.

There is a sentiment, however, growing that once more the public of San Francisco and of California in general, has been "taken in" by the pugilistic promoters, who, in order to create interest in the coming battle, have not hesitated to resort to every device to divide the public and create an interest in favor of the box office.

The wrangle of the managers of the two boxers, has opened up the whole unsavory arrangement and proves to be a blow that will require a long time to wipe out of the memory of the sport-loving Californians.

The arrival of Jeffries on the ground late last night has proved beneficial to the box office. Many of Jeffries' friends believed that when he reached San Francisco and learned of the unsavory criticism of Manager Nolan, who a few days ago accepted Jeffries as referee without demur, the former champion would promptly decline to act as the judge in the ring next Saturday.

Jeffries then gave out the statement that he would stick to his word and act as referee.

"I believe the public wants me," said Jeffries, "and I will be in the ring tomorrow. Both men will get a square deal. The fight promoters this morning declared that Jeffries would referee and that both Britt and Nelson would be in the ring at 1:30 tomorrow afternoon."

FEELING IS FIRMER

Strength Comes to Wheat
From the Foreign Markets.

Close to Export Basis and Some Is Worked—
Flax Lower.

Duluth Board of Trade, Sept. 8.—Clear weather throughout the Northwest caused bullish sentiment in wheat at the opening and in the first hour prices sold lower, but after that there was a good buying and a rally. Higher cables were responsible for some of the firmer feeling. Liverpool closing $\frac{1}{2}$ higher. Berlin was $\frac{1}{2}$ higher, Paris $\frac{1}{2}$ lower and Antwerp $\frac{1}{2}$ higher to $\frac{1}{2}$ lower. A New York export report from Antwerp said the French crop does not appear to be as good as last year and the situation in India is regarded as critical and these facts probably had something to do with the advance at Liverpool.

New York wheat that 31 loads of Manitoba wheat were reported to have been worked yesterday, but that not all of it can be worked. Duluth exporters are working some Manitoba wheat every day. The size of the New York report is probably due to duplications.

This morning there was a good export trade and in American wheat New York reported 32 loads worked and it is believed here from the fact the markets are very close to a working basis. This fact caused a rally in the market and toward the close and the closing was firm. September wheat closed $\frac{1}{2}$ higher in Duluth, $\frac{1}{2}$ in Minneapolis, $\frac{1}{2}$ in Chicago, $\frac{1}{2}$ in New York and St. Louis and $\frac{1}{2}$ in Kansas City. Winnipeg was $\frac{1}{2}$ higher.

In the Liverpool market closed unchanged to $\frac{1}{2}$ higher, but in American markets it was firmer. December corn in Chicago being up $\frac{1}{2}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$. December wheat closed $\frac{1}{2}$ higher.

The Daily News Bulletin of Chicago puts the world's supply of breadstuffs on Sept. 1 at 12,424,000 bushels, or 1,000,000 less on the same date a year ago. The largest day's export for wheat was 1,000,000 bushels, against an average of 1,500,000 bushels in the same month a year ago.

The wheat movement in the Northwest is just getting under way. Duluth is not yet very busy, but it is getting better today of which 30 were durum wheat. The durum wheat is all being sold for export. Of the 19 cars of spring wheat 8 graded No. 1 northern. Minneapolis had more than 40 cars.

One of the Duluth elevator lines this morning reported that the largest of the houses yesterday were as large as the largest day's export for wheat. It was more than half the houses have been closed a year ago.

Cash receipts at Duluth were 20,000 bushels last night, and at Minneapolis 100,000 bushels last night, making a total of 120,000 bushels. The Duluth receipts were 20,000 bushels, last year 20,000 bushels. Minneapolis receipts were 100,000 bushels, last year 100,000 bushels.

Primary receipts of wheat were 212,000 bushels, last year 212,000 bushels. Shipments 250,000 bushels, last year 250,000 bushels. Clearances of wheat and flour aggregated 1,000,000 bushels. ADVANCE IN COPPER STOCKS

Market Relieved of Pressure and Had New Support.

Generally Expected That Bank Statement Will Be Favorable.

New York, Sept. 8.—Opening prices in the stock market rebounded vigorously from yesterday's depression. Gains of a large fraction of a point were made by the principal active stocks. Canadian Pacific jumped 24, Reading and Smelting rose 14 and Union Pacific 10. The market was broad and active.

A little wavering followed the opening, however, and the market was generally steady. After a number of stocks had established a new level of support, the market moved upward. SURVIVORS ARRIVE.
Members of Ill-Fated Sevona's Crew in Duluth.

Five survivors of the wreck of the steamer Sevona, which foundered in Lake Superior Saturday, have arrived at the Head of the Lakes. They are Firemen Seil Nelson, Otto Schmidt, and Paul Stockel. Officer William Long and Deck Hand George Stale.

The men arrived over the Northern Pacific from Bayfield, clad in little beside overalls. They were taken in hand by members of the local union of marine firemen and fitted up with suitable clothing. The union will look after the men until they are able to secure employment.

Primary receipts of wheat were 212,000 bushels, last year 212,000 bushels. Shipments 250,000 bushels, last year 250,000 bushels.

NEGRO CEMETERY.

On Farm Which Was Sold For $65,000.

New Rochelle, N. Y., Sept. 8.—President F. A. Stratton of the Westchester Lighting company, who recently paid $65,000 for a farm on the Wilmet road, in upper Rochelle, has made the discovery that he acquired with the property a negro cemetery with 400 graves in it. The cemetery is in the center of the farm and was established seventy years ago by an old Huguenot, John Soule, who used it as a burying ground for his slaves.

Space for graves in this cemetery for many years was free to the families of dead negroes, but about thirty years ago the place fell into the hands of a man who, fearing the negroes might claim the right of way to the cemetery, made them pay $1 for each funeral through the farm.

Negroes of New Rochelle are much excited because they have heard that Mr. Stratton intends to build a large country mansion on the place, which will mean that the cemetery will be wiped out and the gravestones razed. The negroes have no control over the graveyard because the man who died the property to use as a cemetery named a board of trustees, but failed to provide for any one to succeed the members of the board. The last member of the original board of trustees died twenty years ago.

Better to Do Right Than Be Sorry Later.

No matter who your doctor is, a great deal depends on the accurate filling of the doctor's prescription and the purity of the drugs that are used. That's why we try to impress on your mind not to take chances with your prescription, because it might mean death to the one whose life you want to save.

Take your prescription to Boyce, the druggist, and you are not taking any chances, because he uses none but the purest of drugs, employs the most expert prescription clerks at the Head of the Lakes, and has gained a wide reputation of doing just as the doctor orders.

TO SUPPRESS ALL DISORDER

Gen. Sakumo Issues Proclamation to the Japs at Tokio.

Tokio, Thursday, Sept. 7, 5 p. m.—Gen. Sakumo, commander-in-chief of the Tokio garrison, has issued the following instructions: "By imperial ordinance I have been authorized to suppress the disorder in Tokio and its vicinity and maintain peace and order in the same locality. Judging by the occurrences and the numerous people assembled at several places in the last several days and during this period riotous acts such as the burning of government properties and Christian churches and destroying cars, occurred. These acts are said to be the outcome of temporary excitement without calm consideration. But every measure will now be taken to stop a recurrence of the acts."

The leader of the political parties and members of the lower house of the diet, met at luncheon, today, at the residence of the speaker of the house and informally agreed to urge the cabinet promptly to call a special session of the diet.

It was agreed to represent the present condition as being on the verge of anarchy, resulting from the outcome of a collision between the forces and the people and to urge speedy measures to restore order by peaceful methods. An extraordinary session of the diet is believed will tend to peaceful ends.

The Asahi asserts that the obstinacy of the government is responsible for the attacks on the Christian churches, adding:

"Had the government lent an ear to the popular voice, and refrained from enraging the people by its obduracy, Tokio would have been spared the shame and humiliation of the mob, resulting in the destruction of the mission property. Foreign susceptibility has thus been touched. We regret the occurrence greatly."

The Asahi blames the home minister and the chief of police, and declares they should not remain in office.

The Jiji resents the humiliation of the proclamation of martial law, and demands the resignation of the cabinet.

UNIQUE LEGAL CONTEST.

Bloomington, Ill., Sept. 8.—A unique legal contest is on at Pekin, where Former County Judge William R. Curran is defending a suit brought by the Santa Fe Railroad company for a nickel, alleged by the company to be due for storage charges on a door which was carried to Pekin by the plaintiff company.

Judge Curran called several times at the freight offices of the company and asked for his property as soon as he received word that it had arrived, but on each visit was told that it was not ready for delivery. After the third call he got out a writ of replevin and secured possession of his door.

The railroad entered suit against him for their nickel charges, and he refused to pay. Although a lawyer of note himself, Judge Curran has employed other counsel and will contest every inch of ground in the suit.

He says that he will fight the case through the courts of last resort, and is willing and able to pay the expenses of the same. He says that the principle is a vital one, and that the company must be defeated. He says that if they are allowed to charge consignees as they did in his case, it reasonably follows that they will soon confiscate his goods.

What Disturbances Armistice.

Be Fortified Against the Effects of Treaty

Terms of Treaty.

Soya and that Japan is to have a free hand in the government of Korea becomes known, it is said that the popular indignation will be considerably allayed.

ANOTHER ATTACK

Made on Home Minister's Residence at Tokio.

Tokio, Sept. 7, 9 a. m. (Delayed transmission.)—Another attack was made on the residence of Home Minister Yoshikawa, early this morning. The members of the mob closed in on the building, into which they threw fire brands and succeeded in starting a fire. The military guards ex-

The guards captured twenty of the attacking party and imprisoned them within the compound.

Later on the crowd sent emissaries to the guards who begged for the release of the captives.

Their petition was refused and the guards are still holding their prisoners.

RUMOR OF SECRET TREATY Between Russia and Japan Again Revived.

New York, Sept. 9.—A dispatch from The World from London revives the frequently and officially denied story that a secret treaty has been made between the emperors of Russia and Japan.

"The intermediaries in the nego-

"It provides that the emperor of Russia—not the empire—shall pay $500,000 indemnity to Japan in five years, less the amount which Russia will pay Japan for her care and maintenance of Russian prisoners of war, $100,000, as provided in the treaty of Portsmouth.

"It is reported also, that Russia agrees in the treaty to give Japan a free hand in China, though this point is not so certain as the

"The compact was made without

Mr. White, Sept. 3.—Baron De Ro
today gave the details of a story called fr London to the effect that a secret treaty had been arranged directly between the Russian and Japanese emperor of Japan providing, among other things, that Russia should to Japan an indemnity of 100 mil million dollars to be paid for care of maintenance of the Russian prison ers of war. Baron De Ross declared today that the treaty was founded and was absurd on its face.

WOMAN TAKES HER LIFE

AN EVIDENT CITY OF PITTSBUR

In commenting on the report, Booth said: "The figures show race suicide is a fact, and I think so in Pittsburgh than any of the large cities of the country. There is also another feature. At the present advanced age the physicians are 50 percent more babies than they did 50 years ago. The advance made since 1904 has reduced the loss of cases to the minimum. Taking this into consideration together with the increased population and such a decided increase in the birth rate, it shows something is radically wrong. It is a proof that President Roosevelt is in his theories on race suicide."

PROMINENT MAN

Although Young, Bishop McDowell Is Leading

Rev. M. S. Rice So Thinks of Head of Coming Conference.

When the Northern Minnesota conference of the Methodist Episcopal church opens its annual sessions at Eveleth Oct. 4, Bishop P. W. McDowell of Chicago will be in the presiding officer's chair. Bishop McDowell was appointed by the board of bishops to take charge of the conference, upon the death of Bishop Joyce.

"Bishop McDowell is one of the most remarkable and most prominent figures in the Methodist church today," said Rev. Dr. M. S. Rice, in speaking of the approaching conference today. "He is an exponent of the new and vigorous life of the church."

"He is one of the youngest men ever appointed bishop, and he was elected only about a year ago. Prior to his appointment he was secretary of the educational work of the Methodist church and before that was chancellor of the Denver university."

"The bishop has a number of ideas that are new to this conference, and among the innovations at the coming session will be a matter for the little town of Eveleth to take care of the big gathering. But that little town will certainly do it—self proud. I believe that this is the first time that a conference has met on the range."

"There is a splendid church at Eveleth, and Rev. Robert J. Taylor, its pastor, will be a great help to the bishop. The conference will open Tuesday evening, with a reception for the presiding officer, Bishop McDowell, who will lecture that evening. His topic has not yet been announced."

The principal address of the second evening will be delivered by Dr. C. M. B. Mason of Cincinnati, whose topic will be "Work of the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society." Dr. Mason is a colored speaker of great prominence and has worked long and hard in an effort to uplift his more fortunate brethren.

On Thursday evening, Dr. F. D. Gamewell of Pekin, China, will deliver an address on "Missions Work." He has spent some time working among the Celestines and his talk will undoubtedly be as interesting as any during the conference.

Dr. Robert Forbes of Philadelphia will probably address the conference Friday evening on "The Board of Church Extension." Dr. William F. Anderson of New York will talk on "The Board of Education."

Saturday afternoon (and in the evening) the addresses will be made by Dr. E. M. Randall of Chicago, secretary of the Epworth League, and Dr. J. E. McFarland of New York, whose topic will be "The Work of the Sunday School Union." Oliver W. Stewart, the well-known prohibition worker, will deliver an address Saturday evening in one of the halls of the city and will speak Sunday afternoon in the church.

Sunday will be the most important day of the conference. The principal sermon of the day will be delivered in the morning by Bishop McDowell. Ordination ceremonies will be conducted in the afternoon, and in the evening memorial services for the deceased members of the conference will be held.

Some important changes will probably be made in the pastors at the head of the Lakes at this conference, but, of course, it is impossible to say now who is to be transferred.

New York, Sept. 9.—Chairman Shonts of the Panama canal commission announced yesterday that he has awarded a concession for feeding and housing the greater part of the canal employees to J. E. Markel of Omaha, Neb. The amount involved in the contract, which covers a period of five years and will become operative as soon as Mr. Markel concludes certain preliminaries, is not disclosed, but runs into millions of dollars.

H. Balfe & Co. and Hudgins & Dumas, both firms of this city, who were the only other bidders for the Panama concession, yesterday sent telegrams and letters to President Roosevelt at Oyster Bay, protesting against the award of the contract to J. E. Markel. At the same time the two firms addressed letters to Chairman Shonts, withdrawing their bids. In the belief that this action might invalidate an award to Mr. Markel by leaving only one bidder in the field, in a statement given out, the protesting firms declare the Panama contract involves no less than $50,000,000.

Circumstances connected with the awarding of this privilege seem to indicate a collusion, one entire section of our bid having, as we discovered by examination, been credited to Mr. Markel as an original production, while the precipitation with which bids were called for without public advertisement and with an irregular time set for receiving and opening said bids in the presence of the bidders' warrant us in the assumption that there was a prearrangement to award the contract to Mr. Markel and that other considerations were sacrificed to this end."

BOOTY FROM CHICAGO FIRE HAS BEEN FOUND.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 9.—A dispatch from Traverse City, Mich., to the Free Press says that $100,000 worth of gold, silver and jewelry, worth of gold, silver and jewelry, were found in the ruins of a storehouse destroyed by fire in Chicago in 1901, the year of the great Chicago fire. Stories of treasure buried on North Fox island have been in circulation in the Great Lakes region for many years. Frequent attempts have been made to find it, and the final success is supposed to be the result of the recent discovery of a chart drawn and hidden by one of the robbers.

MARK'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

PURE—WHOLESOME—RELIABLE
MADE FROM CREAM OF TARTAR DERIVED SOLELY FROM GRAPES, THE MOST DELICIOUS AND WHOLE-
SOME OF ALL FRUIT ACIDS

Its superiority is unquestioned.
Its fame world-wide.
Its use a protection and a guarantee against alum food.

Alum baking powders, their true character disguised, are urged with great effrontery upon the public. Their promoters are aware of their unwholesomeness, but the enormous profit in their manufacture, as they cost but two cents a pound and are sold at twenty-five cents a pound, or twenty-five cents for twenty-five ounces, overcomes all consideration upon the part of their makers for the health of the consumer.

Alum baking powders retard the digestion of food in the stomach, while cream of tartar baking powder promotes it. These are facts, and they are of serious import to the public.

SIGNED NOTES FOR MILLIONS

Clerks Served as Alleged Purchasers For New York Life.

New York, Sept. 9.—Yesterday's session of the legislative life insurance investigation committee was devoted exclusively to the affairs of the New York Life Insurance company, and a searching examination was made of its officers, who appeared on the stand, beginning with the salaries paid to the officers, the line of inquiry extended through all the details of the company's participation in various underwriting syndicates for road securities, the New York Life's connection with trust companies and finally to the close of the day developed the fact that it was not an unusual thing for clerks or messengers in the employ of the company, with salaries as low as $50 a year, to sign notes for millions of dollars secured by the company in relieving its books of undesirable securities.

An interesting feature of the day was the statement that Thomas W. Lawson of Boston, might be called as a witness. The committee's chairman, State Senator Armstrong, said if the information Mr. Lawson is supposed to hold could not be secured from other sources, the Boston financier would be asked to testify. Not being a resident of the state Mr. Lawson cannot be compelled to testify.

Editors Thompson
DIES FROM INJURIES.

New York, Sept. 9.—Jacob H. Thompson, exchange editor of the New York Times, who was found unconscious in his apartment in the St. James hotel yesterday, died at Flower hospital at 9:30 o'clock last night without having regained consciousness. Mr. Thompson was fully clothed when found. He was in an apparently dying condition.

There is much of mystery surrounding the case, Coroner Scholer expressing his belief that the injuries sustained by Mr. Thompson were the result of a fall after a stroke of apoplexy, while the police maintain that murder was done. Coroner Scholer was with the injured man to the end, hoping he might regain consciousness and make a statement.

The police theory of a crime is connected in by the suspicious circumstances, the entire staff agreeing in the statement that Mr. Thompson had been beaten. The American consul in New York has been unable to have received all his injuries by a simple fall. There is, however, no known motive for a murderous attempt upon the editor.

LOCAL LAND DECISIONS.
Three Contests Dismissed and One Sustained.

The register and receiver of the Duluth land office have made four decisions in homestead entry contests in the neighborhood of Ashawa. Three of the contests were dismissed while in a fourth the contest was sustained and the entry cancelled. The contests in which dismissal was ordered were the following:

Charley Edin vs. Peter Pesola, involving a homestead on the northwest quarter of 17-63-20; Sam Barsh vs. Janni Hannine involving homestead rights to the southwest half of 9-62-20; Charley Edin vs. Peter Pesola, involving homestead entry rights to lots 5, 6, 11 and 12 of 6-62-20.

The contest which was sustained and on which the entry was ordered cancelled was in the case of John C. Murphy vs. Andrew Holmsund involving rights to the east half of the northeast quarter and the east half of the southeast quarter of 24-61-1. Abandonment was charged in each case.

MATE FINED FOR ASSAULT

After hearing the testimony against Philip Lennon, the mate on the steamer Salvonta, accused of breaking Charles Johnson's nose, Judge Windom yesterday afternoon fined the prisoner $20.

Lennon is claimed to have assaulted Johnson because the latter refused to throw off the steam's line from the one docks on August 27.

He claimed that he was not the man who had committed the assault, and another employe on the boat bore out his testimony, but both Johnson and a companion positively identified Lennon as the man and the court found him guilty. The prisoner and his friend both claimed that the assault had been committed by a wheelman who had left the boat on her last trip to the lower lake ports.

LADIES OF THE G. A. R.
ELECT THEIR OFFICERS.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 9.—The ladies of the G. A. R. elected their officers yesterday as follows: President, Ruth E. Pool, Denver; senior vice-president, Margaret Stevens, New Jersey; junior vice-president, Annie Barnum, Minnesota; treasurer, Ella Jones, Pennsylvania; secretary, Catherine Ross, Colorado; Chaplain, Anne Weaver, Iowa.

MINNESOTA WOMAN WILL NOT BE PUNISHED.

New York, Sept. 9.—Mrs. Beatrice Young, who recently shot Mrs. Catharine Morgan at the Hotel Imperial, yesterday secured her freedom, when the shooting case came up in court, by promising to become a voluntary exile from New York and go to the West. She will probably go to her former home in Winona, Minn. The shooting came near causing Mrs. Morgan's death, but the injured woman recovered and herself proposed that Mrs. Young

"On Thursday evening, Dr. P. D. Gamewell of Pekin, China, will deliver an address on 'Missions Work.' He has spent some time working among the Celestials and his talk will undoubtedly be as interesting as any during the conference. Dr. Robert Forbes of Philadelphia will address the conference Friday evening on 'The Board of Church Extension.'"

Dr. William F. Anderson of New York will talk on 'The Board of Education.' It's poor satisfaction to have your neighbor tell you about a wonderful bargain sale after it is all over. Of the next one, get your information in time—from the ads.

Saturday afternoon, and in the evening able addresses will be made by Dr. E. M. Randall of Chicago, secretary of the Epworth League, and Dr. J. F. McDowell of New York, whose topic will be 'The Work of the Sunday School Union.' Other W. E. C. C. of the well-known prohibition workers will deliver an address Saturday evening in one of the halls of the city and will speak Sunday afternoon in the church.

Sunday will be the most important day of the conference. The principal sermon of the day will be delivered in the morning by Bishop McDowell. Ordination ceremonies will be conducted in the afternoon, and in the evening memorial services for the deceased members of the conference will be held.

Some important changes will probably be made in the pastors at the Head of the Lakes at this conference, but, of course, it is impossible to say now who is to be transferred.

ALLEGED GRAFT IN CONTRACT
Award of Chairman Shonts
For Panama Supplies Protested.

New York, Sept. 9.—Chairman Shonts of the Panama canal commission announced yesterday that he has awarded a concession for feeding and housing the greater part of the canal employees to J. E. Markel of Omaha, Neb. The amount involved in the contract, which covers a period of five years and will become operative as soon as Mr. Markel concludes certain preliminaries, is not disclosed, but runs into millions of dollars.

H. Bate & Co. and Hudgins & Dumas, both firms of this city, who were the only bidders for the Panama concession, yesterday sent telegrams and letters protesting against the award of the contract to J. E. Markel. At the same time the two firms addressed letters to Chairman Shonts, withdrawing their bids, and stating that this action might invalidate an award to Mr. Markel by leaving only one bidder in the field. In a statement given out, the protesting firms declare the Panama contract involves no less than $50,000,000.

"Circumstances connected with the awarding of this privilege seem to indicate a collusion, one entire section of our bid having, as we discovered by examination, been credited to Mr. Markel as an original production, while the preliminary with which bids were called for without public advertisement, and with no regular time set for receiving and opening said bids in the presence of the bidders, warranted us in the assumption that there was a predisposition to award the contract to Mr. Markel and that other considerations were sacrificed to this end."

BOOTY FROM CHICAGO
FIRE HAS BEEN FOUND.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 9.—A dispatch from Traverse City, Mich., to the Free Press says that $50,000 worth of gold has been unearthed on North Fox island off Grand Traverse bay, in Lake Michigan. The gold is supposed to have been hidden in Chicago in 1871, the year of the great Chicago fire. Stashes of treasure buried on North Fox island have been in circulation in the Grand Traverse bay region for many years. The recent discovery of the gold is said to be the result of a search made by one of the robbers.

murder was done. Coroner Scholer was with the injured man to the end, hoping he might regain consciousness and make a statement. The contests in which dismissal was ordered were the following:

Charley Edlin vs. Peter Pesola, involving a homestead on the northwest quarter of 17-62-20; Sam Harsh vs. Jann Schultze, involving homestead rights to the southwest half of 3-62-20; Charley Edlin vs. Nick Mattson, involving homestead entry rights to lots 5, 6, 11 and 12 of 6-62-20.

The contest which was sustained and on which the entry was ordered cancelled was in the case of John C. Murphy vs. Amedeo Falson, involving rights to the east half of the northeast quarter and the east half of the southeast quarter of 24-61-1. Abandonment was charged in each case.

MATE FINED
FOR ASSAULT

After hearing the testimony against Philip Lennon, the mate on the steamer Salvatona, accused of breaking Charles Johnson's nose, Judge Windom yesterday afternoon fined the prisoner $20.

Lennon is claimed to have assaulted Johnson because the latter refused to throw off the steamer's line from the ore docks on August 27.

The contest which was not the man who had committed the assault, and another who had been on the boat at the time, both Johnson and a companion positively identified Lennon as the man, and the court found him guilty. The prisoner and his friend both claimed that assault had been committed by a wheelman who had left the boat on her last trip to the lower lake ports.

SIGNED NOTES FOR MILLIONS

Clerks Served as Alleged Purchasers for New York Life.

New York, Sept. 9.—Yesterday's session of the legislative life insurance investigation committee was devoted exclusively to the affairs of the New York Life insurance company, and a searching examination was made of its officers, who appeared on the stand. Beginning with the salaries paid to the officers, the line of inquiry extended through all the details of the company's participation in various underwriting syndicates for railroad securities, the New York Life's connection with trust companies and finally that it was not an unusual thing for clerks or messengers in the employ of the company, with salaries as low as $10 a year, to sign notes for millions of dollars to sell certain securities in order to satisfy the Russian government. Two clerks signed notes aggregating $2,500,000, and the books of the securities appeared as sold to the same parties, although they really had been turned over to the New York Trust company as security for the loan made on the notes on the two insurance companies' employes.

It was declared since 1899 the New York Life insurance company had not been connected with trust companies, but subsequently it was admitted that the stock of the New York Trust company is now held for the New York Life by a committee of trustees. The New York Trust company is a connection of the Continental Trust company.

The committee adjourned in the afternoon until 10:30 o'clock next Tuesday morning.

EDITOR THOMPSON
DIES FROM INJURIES.

New York, Sept. 9.—Jacob H. Thompson, exchange editor of the New York Times, who was found unconscious in his apartments in the St. James hotel yesterday, died at Flower hospital at 9:30 o'clock last night without having regained consciousness.

Mr. Thompson was fully clothed when found. He was in an apparently dying condition. There is much of mystery surrounding the case, Coroner Scholer expressing his belief that the injuries sustained by Mr. Thompson were the result of a fall after a stroke of apoplexy, while the police maintain that

LADIES OF THE G. A. R.
ELECT THEIR OFFICERS.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 9.—The ladies of the G. A. R. elected their officers yesterday as follows: President, Ruth E. Foot, Denver; senior vice-president, Margaret Stevens, New Jersey; junior vice-president, Minnie Barrum, Minnesota; treasurer, Ella Jones, Pennsylvania; secretary, Catherine Ross, Colorado; Chaplain, Anne Weaver, Iowa.

MINNESOTA WOMAN
WILL NOT BE PUNISHED.

New York, Sept. 9.—Mrs. Beatrice Young, who recently shot Mrs. Catharine Morgan at the Hotel Imperial, yesterday, secured her freedom, when the shooting case came up in court, by promising to become a voluntary exile from New York and go to the West. She will probably go to her former home in Winona, Minn. The shooting came near causing Mrs. Morgan's death, but the injured woman recovered and herself proposed that Mrs. Young

Dr. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

SOME OF ALL FRUIT ACIDS

Its superiority is unquestioned.
Its fame world-wide.
Its use a protection and a guarantee
against alum food.

Alum baking powders, their true character disguised, are urged with great effrontery upon the public. Their promoters are aware of their unwholesomeness, but the enormous profit in their manufacture, as they cost but two cents a pound and are sold at twenty-five cents a pound, or twenty-five cents for twenty-five ounces, overcomes all consideration upon the part of their makers for the health of the consumer.

OPENING OF SCHOOL.
"And then the whining school boy, with his satchel
And shivering morning face, creeping like a snail Unwillingly to school."

Monday the public schools of the city open their doors after the vacation season—which has been depressingly short this year, the young people declare—and 12,000 boys and girls, from kindergarten to high school, will take up another year's school work.

Theoretically, they return to the opening of the school year with enthusiasm revived by the vacation rest, and with a new energy and devotion to their studies born of the impatience with which they have awaited, during the latter part of the vacation, for the return to their books. Theoretically, this is the way they return. In many cases, probably, unless boys and girls have changed some lately, they actually return to the opening of the school year after days of mental writhing and regret at the fast-dwindling vacation days and alarm at the speed with which school drew near, appalled at the prospect of months of confinement in the school room and of devoting time to study that could be used in play.

Many there are, no doubt, that hail the return of school days with glee and joyful anticipation. There were pupils of that sort in school when the present generation was there, too. But they were not in the majority, by any means, for numerical supremacy was held tightly by those too full of animal spirits to find much room for love of lessons and work.

But in a day or two, when the young people have adjusted themselves to conditions again, it develops that it is not so bad after all. It develops that it is not all lessons, but that there are many interesting things happening on the way to school, during school, and on the way back at night. It is possible, they find, to give due heed to the call of duty as personified by the schoolma'am, and still find time for play. In short, like all other difficulties the world presents, it looks a lot worse a little way off than it does close to, and the more we sit and chum with gloom and permit our spirits to freeze at the prospect, the greater the trouble grows. In a few days the school routine has become as much a part of every day as it was last June.

Duluth has good schools and plenty of them. Opportunities for education are rarely good here, and these schools are open to the sons of the poorest as well as to the sons of the richest. The public school is the nearest approach to a true democracy there is in the world, and nowhere on earth is the rule of equality so absolute and frills like money, position and social standing so useless. The privileges that the young people of today are having in Duluth would have seemed priceless boons to many people raised under different circumstances.

The beneficiaries of these opportunities will appreciate them to a greater extent when instead of the opening of school it is the beginning of life's real work that is at hand.

THE SAVING GRACE.
The attacks on Christian churches and civilized institutions like the street cars in Tokio will find the anti-Jap in the belief that Nippon's civilization is but skin deep, and that it takes but a little scratch to reveal the barbarian underneath.

Of course that is true of any race. Somewhere under the white skin, more or less deep, the savage still lurks, and upon occasion he struggles his way forth and resumes his sway. Then he sneaks back, when the blood in him has calmed down, and the civilized part in very much ashamed of the incident, and tries to forget it and to make others forget it. Naturally, as the barbarism of the Jap has been but recently covered with civilization's veneer, it does not take so long to uncover it, and when it is uncovered it is more natural in its ferocity. Considering these circumstances, so far the Japs have behaved pretty well.

The overwhelming sense of obedience to the mikado, which is also a relic of barbarism, is the main thing that keeps the Japanese back in their riotous atrocities. It is sufficient to dispute him, but all right to dispute his statements and even to throw stones at them if it is convenient and safe. But the spirit of complete obedience to the mikado's authority, born of centuries of pre-civilization life, will be all that saves Japan from a destructive upheaval of the aboriginal nature of its people. And that saving grace, be it remembered, is the fruit of barbarians, not of civilization.

BACK TO THE SOIL.
With broad acres in Northern Minnesota waiting only for the industry of the settler to reveal their uncommon fruitfulness, it seems a little queer to hear that they are returning to the abandoned farm of New England, but such is the case, and not only are the long-abandoned farms being occupied, but the settlers are making a living out of the soil. They could make better livings with less work on the fertile acres of Northern Minnesota, but they doubtless will not hear of that until the legislature opens its heart and broadens its mind enough to properly equip the propaganda of immigration with funds for advertising. So sympathy with them on this score, while it is irrefragable, need not figure in a discussion of the tendency that has produced the result of turning again the long fallow furrows of New England's rocky hills to productiveness once more.

One theorist, in discussing this condition, ascribes it partly to a tendency to look with suspicion upon the public lands yet unoccupied in the West. Why there should be such suspicion, if such suspicion there is, the theorist does not state. It would be interesting indeed to know if such a tendency exists, and if so what occasions it. But really The Herald believes the theorist much mistaken. "Back to the soil" is the cry, East, West, North and South. The dream of thousands of workers in the manufacturing centers and elsewhere is to finish the earthly service in tilling the soil. So they have been slipping away from the factory towns in unnoticed multitudes, picking up the abandoned farms of New England and seeking out the more richly fruitful virgin fields of the West.

The New England farms, many of them, rocky and stubborn, were abandoned long ago by men who settled upon prairie and forest acres in the West, leaving their unyielding hills to be sold for a song or to go for taxes. Since then more enlightened agricultural methods make it possible to scrape a living from the scanty soil between the rocks, where it was impossible when the lands were last tilled. But when lands so productive as those of Northern Minnesota can be had from state and federal governments or private purveyors on terms so reasonable, it seems sad to think of men turning to an attempt to realize their dreams of agricultural independence upon the reluctant soil of New England.

SHOULD BE REPRESENTED.

The greatest state fair ever held in Minnesota, which is of course the greatest state fair ever held anywhere, closes at Hamline today, after a week of unbroken success. Attendance records have all been broken, no previous year's fair having approached it in this respect.

This is all as it should be. Minnesota is a great state, and it is fitting that its greatness should be thus displayed. To the officers of the fair whose efforts have been principally responsible for its success, great credit is due. The fair is representative of Minnesota, and of all its industries except the iron industry—one of its greatest. Enough counties were there with individual exhibits to show the different patterns of the state. But there are over eighty counties in Minnesota, and not a quarter of that number were directly and specially represented there. This is the one feature of the fair that does not seem right.

Northern Minnesota was especially conspicuous by its absence. Aitkin and Itasca counties, two close neighbors of this county, both had exhibits, and highly creditable they were, both to themselves and to the state. But St. Louis county was not there, and in her absence she kept away from the fair all representation of her great iron industry.

The fair is a good thing. It not only shows the outside world what Minnesota can do, but it forms a sort of clearing house of ideas by which people interested in different industries can exchange experiences and suggestions. Therefore there cannot be too much of it, and it cannot be too well patronized.

Northern Minnesota wants settlers, and it wants to show the world what it can do in order to attract them. No county of Northern Minnesota that wants settlers should be unrepresented at the next fair, and there should under no circumstances be another state fair without a full exhibit from St. Louis county. This county now owns a handsome building on the grounds, which is rented to the state fair management for a small sum and usually used as a restaurant. This county could easily fill that building with a large and representative exhibit, and it should do so, by all means.

THE UNEMPLOYED.

Has too much sympathy been wasted upon the "unemployed"? Are the "unemployed" out of jobs largely because they do not like to work?

Leroy Scott, representative of one of the magazines, has been making investigations that convinced him that the answer to both of the questions should be in the affirmative. He says the problem is not to find work for men but men for work, and he adds that 90 per cent of the men out of work want work less than anything else on earth.

Probably there is much to what this writer says. No doubt many idle men are idle because they hate work. But scattered through the mass of the unemployed there are plenty of men who are the victims of misfortune, and who are willing to work if they get the chance. To say that every man's career is in his own hands, and that if he fails it is his own fault, is putting the case too flatly. It is generally true that failure is due to defects in the individual, but these defects may be congenital, and should be blamed to parents rather than to the person afflicted. But it is true that "bad luck" cuts less figure in the world than many folks think. Many a victim of "bad luck," if he is honest with himself, can trace his misfortune back to some failure of his own; either lack of alertness to seize an opportunity, laziness, lack of motive and ambition, or any one or more of a horde of weaknesses.

During March and April, Mr. Scott shows, charitable societies in New York distributed 28,000 cards offering work and financial and medical aid to unemployed men. These cards were handed to men in bread lines, patrons of free soup kitchens and missions, lodgers in municipal lodging houses and police stations. At two Philadelphia lodging houses for the unfortunate advertisements for men are posted every morning, and but two or three out of every hundred even look at the advertisements. Many jobs are refused by men in absolute need because they are particular about work or wages. As Mr. Scott sat listening to talks between representatives of a charitable society and applicants for work, he observed a man whose family was being supported by charity. He had been put at work the day before at $1.75 per day, and he came in to say he had quit his job because he would not work for less than $2 per day for any man.

Mr. Scott's conclusions were quite decided in form. He appeared to have no doubt that all but a very few of the unemployed are undeserving of sympathy. Yet who can withhold sympathy from the failure, the man who has tried and failed and who, though it is his own fault, is hungry and miserable? Hunger, the primal craving, the basic want of mankind, is irresistible. Theoretically, he who is hungry because he will not work deserves to starve. Actually, few there are cold-blooded enough to let him starve simply because he deserves it. The strong should always pity the weak, and pity does not wait upon reason, but acts upon impulse.

MARRIED MEN WANTED.
The action of the proprietor of the Cafe Martin, in New York, in offering premiums to the circle of employees who will get married, is indicative of the belief in many minds that married employees are more reliable, steady and trustworthy. This view is entirely reasonable, and has the weight of logic with it.

Recently Mr. Martin announced that to any of his employees who had been with him for more than a year he would give $100 when they married. This did not end it, for he said further that when, in the subsequent years, married employees became parents, there was $50 more per child in it for them. The results of the offer were almost immediate. One of the cooks is going to get $200 of the maida, and between them they will get $200 out of their generous employer with which to start out upon their matrimonial voyage together. It is reported that numerous other employees are looking serious and thinking of taking advantage of the offer.

Martin's scheme is sensible. Not only does it create in the minds of his employees a high estimate of his generosity and of his disposition to do the right thing by them—which is absolutely essential to the proper relations between employer and employee, by the way—but by bribing them into matrimony he is increasing their steadiness and reducing the chances that they will change places. A waiter, particularly in such a place as Martin's, must have had the blunting of moral perceptions necessary before one will accept a tip for work already paid for, and naturally the waiters of New York are rather restless, with a large percentage of criminals. By anchoring them to wives, Martin figures that he is not only anchoring them to their present jobs, but that he is also reducing the chances that they will get into trouble through dishonesty.

The married man is more fearful of his place and more tender in his regard of consequences than a bachelor, naturally. This is vastly to his employer's interest, of course, and sometimes against his own, because he will suffer things without revolt that he would not stand a moment if he were single and independent. Often the anchor of marriage prevents a man from striking out when it is really his duty to himself to do so.

That the policy is altogether favorable to the employer, however, there can be no possible doubt. The Galveston News of Sept. 1 is a resume of the commerce of the port of Galveston for the trade year just closed, with a review of the important improvement work in progress there, which including constructing a sea wall and raising the grade. The issue is a notable triumph of newspaper work, and the showing made for the city is little short of marvelous.

THE FIELD SURVEY.

The Japanese people seem to think that gold brick labelled "peace" which a number of smooth, much-whiskered individuals sold to them, is not all that it might be.

An Alabama court imposed a fine of 1 cent upon a man who whipped his mother-in-law. There must have been some aggravating circumstances about the crime to make the punishment so severe.

It is said that President Roosevelt plans a purely literary career after he leaves the White House. He will have no trouble in getting consideration for his literary wares, anyway.

It is getting near the finish of the hay fever germ, unless he is the same one that works winter times as grip.

The long absence of any strikes from Chicago conditions must be making it seem awfully tame and strange to the natives.

The Indianapolis News says: "The evidence in the Taggart case is all in. So are the parties to the litigation." So, it might be added, is the public.

Robert Bacon, the new first assistant secretary of state, seems to have been taken by the public with a sigh of relief that Loomis is out, and with a feeling that if Roosevelt says it's all right it is all right.

The bribery laws would cover a lot of the "tipping" that is being done, without any further legislation.

People that "put on" usually are very successful in fooling themselves into believing they are fooling other people.

The standpatter is a man who has let either his intellect or his prejudices petrify on him.

Mr. Rockefeller says he is tired of seeing his name in print. Perhaps there are others of the same mind, but Mr. Rockefeller will have to retire from his prominence to bring about a change, and even then it would have to be such a violent effort that he would break into the front pages.

The reports from St. Paul indicate that it is still feasible, when no salary is looking, to hold two jobs and draw two salaries, even if you are only one man and capable of but one man's work.

All but two counties in Massachusetts in the recent census showed more women than men, while all of the Minnesota counties showed more men than women. Get together.

Hotel Gossip.

Judge L. D. Woodside of Salem, Mo., a democrat who says he admires a good many things about President Roosevelt, is a guest at the McKay. He came North for his health something more than a week ago, and already feels that he is greatly improved. This is the judge's first visit to the Head of the Lakes. He is well pleased with the city and its surroundings. His two daughters, Miss Emily and Miss Gratha, who accompany him, are even more enthusiastic in their expressions of praise when speaking of Duluth and its climate.

"Missouri is the greatest state in the Union," said Judge Woodside. "Draw a line around Missouri and within the circle you will find a region which will produce everything known to the farmers and fruit growers of the United States, including some pretty fine men and women. Our mines produce a variety of metals, and this is a good country to live in."

For the first time in thirty years Missouri went republican this year. Conditions will be different when the time of the next presidential election arrives, and the democratic nominee for president will have to make the state a republic. The people there did not like Parker and they simply refused to vote for him. This fact reflects upon the state of the mind of the people of Missouri. It is a very strong hold on the people of Missouri, and it is difficult to see how they can get out of it. I believe that the people of Missouri are not yet ready to reform work. I am disgusted with Parker. Roosevelt is not unpopular with them, but even if he makes a run for a third term, I do not think it possible that he would be successful in trying to get the state, unless some man even more unsatisfactory than he could be found by the Democrats. I take Roosevelt as a man of his word, and do not believe that he would be successful in trying to get the state, even if he makes a run for a third term, I do not think it possible that he would be successful in trying to get the state, unless some man even more unsatisfactory than he could be found by the Democrats. Hibbing

Hibbing, Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—August W. Hatch, formerly Great Northern operator at this place, returned this morning and will resume his old position here. He was in the employ of the Chicago, Minneapolis & St. Paul railway during the late strike, having been recently reinstated from a trip through the East when the strike took place.

Mrs. D. D. McEwen is visiting friends at Floodwood this week.

Miss Alice Gannon of Minneapolis, and Frank E. Downing of St. Charles, this state, were married at the home of the bride's parents in Minneapolis, Wednesday evening, Aug. 30. The bride was formerly a teacher in the village school.

The ladies of the Maclellan gave a very party Friday evening at Central hall.
About fifty people were in attendance and took part in the game. Refreshments were served.

Miss Ryan and Mrs. James Kuller of Minneapolis, have been the guests of Mr.
and Mrs. F. D. Durr of Central street several days the last week.

Reno, Thursday morning, this week.
The bride was formerly a teacher in the people formerly resided in this place, and has a host of friends on this end of the state who extend congratulations to the happy couple. The bride was attended by Miss Elizabeth Brennan, while S.
Down acted as best man for the occasion.
The bride was carried to the altar in cream silk and carried a beautiful wreath of bridal roses. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. McGregor

HEARING ON DAMS TUESDAY

Government Engineers Will Hold Public Meeting at St. Paul.

The meeting of the board of United States engineers to consider the matter of dams and reservoirs at the headwaters of the Mississippi river will be held next Tuesday, at the office of Maj. Derby, in the old customs building in St. Paul. At this meeting every person or corporation interested in any way in the abolition or retention of the dams, or who has suggestions to make to the engineers as to what disposition should be made of them, will be given an opportunity to be heard.

The board is comprised of Maj. Chit-enden, chairman; Maj. Potter and Capt. Judson, all of the United States Engineering corps, and appointed by the chief of engineers of the United States, under authority of the secretary of war. This board will hear all argument in connection with the subject matter, and will afterward make its report to the chief of engineers, who in turn will transmit a report, with recommendations to the secretary of war, and the latter official will act.

There have been several inquiries at Maj. Potter's office as to the date and date of the hearing, and it is anticipated that in view of the agitation over the matter, the chief of engineers, the attendance at the meeting of the board will be quite large.

SPLINTERS OF GOLD ARE KICKED FROM MOUNTAIN TOPS

Farmers Grow Crops In Summer and Mine Gold In Winter—One County
In Oregon Produces $1,000,000 a Year.

Portland, Ore., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Not long ago, Dave Briggs, a boy living with his father near the thirving little city of Grant's Pass, in the southern part of Oregon, was wandering about on the top of a mountain near his home. He saw a mass of splintery rock formation something like a piece of half-rotten wood that had been struck sharply and split both crosswise and lengthwise. Dave kicked at the mass, which stuck out of the ground. A lot of splinters fell off and rolled down the mossy side of the rock. The boy picked one up just for curiosity. It felt like a heavy rock. It was heavy. It was gold.

The boy filled his pockets with the splintery gold and returned home. He had discovered a very valuable gold mine near his home. The gold was in the form of a mountain. The ore was decomposed quartz, running hundreds of dollars to the ton, and some of it solid splinters of gold. The metal could be extracted from the quartz by the use of cyanide. The cost, because of its remarkable rottenness,
the crushing process was simple.

In the Josephine section at the Lewis and Clark expedition you will find gold creeks. There are vast areas of land in the county which still belong to the United States government and never have been surveyed. This land is mostly mountains for the most part, but the richest quartz mines have been opened.
The gold is in the mountains, with pick and shovel, and with the use of dynamite inviting the prospector. A grub stake is not absolutely necessary. The prospector can grow his own vegetables, catch his own fish, and with our fine soil and climate it is too easy to grow crops, so we let the other fellows, for the most part, do the prospecting—except what we do on our own farms when other work is slack.

Josephine is a city of nearly 5,000 people, beautifully located and substantially built. It is the metropolis of the county, and the only big town.
Its banks receive and send out the entire output of gold, amounting annually to about $1,000,000. That is pretty good for one county and for one town, which has practically no reputation at all outside of Oregon.

Bruin.

Miss Emma Rudolph, a school teacher shot at and wounded a bear which sought her in the woods at the foot of Hunter's Park. The shooting took place yesterday afternoon and more than a dozen people were searching for Bruin when the shot from Miss Rudolph gave the direction that was promptly followed to leave Hunter's Park instantly.

The bear's sudden departure, almost hide-whole, caused much disappointment among the hunters, who had hoped for the privilege of sending a shot in the direction that would have permitted him all desired for honey and long naps at

The bear seen yesterday was a big shaggy fellow and first made his appearance in Rollo's front backyard, Oxford street, near Roslyn avenue. He received a warm welcome from the neighbors and soon departed. The alarm was sounded through the neighborhood, however, and the good citizens who had been waiting for a week to gaze at a bear, all grabbed their guns and shot him in not much time.

Bruhn was next seen in a monolog on the lawn in front of W. C. Sherwood residence. Later he fled to T. Whoopees' garden, after which he left the vicinity. He did not get so close that he had refuge until after Mr. Rudolph had succeeded in speeding the departing guest, however.

PARISIAN TYPE OF THE TAILORMADE

GEO. BAKER

Variety in the Many Modes of the Great Makers—The Short Coat Equally Favored with the Long One—Double Skirts and Draped Corsage—The Ceinture Retains all of its Importance.

While Dame Fashion and her devotees are supposed to be fickle, fickle as the wind that blows, the followers of fashion who are wont to cast an oblique eye over things cannot fail to note that the Parisienne is anything but fickle in her devotion to any one style, once she has made up her mind that that special mode is a particularly becoming one to her.

We, on this side of the water, are far more unstable in our fashions than are the French. No sooner has one mode made a bit and attracted a following than the ones who first adopted and launched it declare that it has become too popular, and immediately they drop it from their repertoire of fashionable effects. Then they run and demand something new. If not more attractive, something to replace the one design, and on the same game go on.

The French are far more constant in a fashion that pleases them, and it is for this reason that the whole world follows them in matters of the toilette. It is not in vain that the masses of who are not following some fashion, but are content to follow the one in vogue.

A striking example of this is furnished in the question with which the Parisienne clothes in the little details of the blouse and even collar. The mode that the best makers on this side have at close intervals from the great houses of Paris, houses whose label is an earnest to the moment in the matter of style, but the current fashion for a few months little time to come, are similar to the most fascinating of these little details in which the whole world follows.

Some of these are made with a narrow chemise that is to be closed inside the coat, and these novel chemises, or rather collars, are all covered for the latest coat sleeves, then little coats are all of them as fanciful of cut and make as well may be, are liable to be changed at intervals, and it balances the wearer to provide some new and love effect that shall show through the elegance with that the right result. The coat fronts, too, are similarly treated, and many of the new costumes in this effect are furnished in three pieces—the coat, skirt and a line or embroidered blouse, very transparent and mounted with a double skirt or a chiffon cloth lining. The corsage, though, catches the eye and skirt in color, if not always in material, and, indeed, the favored fashion in corsages employs either silk or velvet ribbons, more place silk, or else a soft panne velvet that drapes to perfection. So cleverly handled are these effects that there is not even a hint of bulk or bulk in their outlines, and the sweet curve of the waist line is followed with the most flattering results.

But, while the short coats are beloved of the Parisienne, there are those who prefer some other design, and for these the long coat has been produced in a multitude of designs that cannot fail of a most cordial acceptance in the newer modes. All sorts of shapes and outlines are represented, and, while the redingote is the foundation of them all, there are so variously worked out that there is but little, if, indeed, any, resemblance whatever to the original design.

The girl with correct proportions, be she tall or petite, will find the long coat of one-piece construction by far the most flattering to her allure, for the long and unbroken lines will add a liltiness and a grace to the figure which a coat with the length broken at the waistline by a corsage can never confer.

Like the short coats, these longer garments employ all of the fashionable materials in excellent advantage. There are satin-faced, bronzed, smooth and lustrous henriettes with a shimmering light in the draped folds—and, on present, draped models are not absent from the new line—those novel self-plaid silkenettes that meet so many demands of both tailor and dressmaker, and the heavier silks, especially those of more persuasion, which develop into almost anything that the couturiers has a mind to make, anything from a smart tailor-made of the dresser type right on up to the most elaborate dinner or ball gown.

One charming design makes excellent use of the name of princess lines in other types of dress. This is a street costume, in which the coat displays a hollow top that rounds well off above the waistline, and has the lower or skirt part built up in princess lines almost to the bust, the skirt portion so cleverly fitted that it is difficult to believe that a silk waist is to be worn beneath. In this instance the coat extends almost to the ankle, the skirt part below the curve of the hip being extremely full. The dress skirt is one of those skirt designs in which both side and box pleats are prominent. In the dresser types of the tailor-made mode there are some skirts that at intervals, affording an effect of fancy panels introduced to vary the monotony of a plaited design.

The skirts to those into productions are as many and as varied, or perhaps even more so, than the jackets that top them. In the dresser types of the tailor-made mode there are some skirts that at intervals, affording an effect of fancy panels introduced to vary the monotony of a plaited design.

There is quite a vogue for yellow in many connections. Yellowish lace takes precedence of pure white for pretty nearly all purposes, except lingerie; and there are whole coats of this fascinating fabric in the yellowish tinge to be worn with skirts of white broadcloth or white chiffon velvet, this latter being grand chic for formal wear at present in Paris, in spite of the thermometer and the calendar. But, then, September is distinctly an autumn month over there, and the heat of summer has well gone by ere it is half way through.

cardinal silk, embroidered in self colors to fill in the neck and sleeves, the velvet ribbon of the henriette frill being used on the gimping too.

The ceinture remains delightfully prominent in all of the new gowns. What with the many corset makers bending all of their energies to produce a tapering waist effect, and the fashionable dressmakers adding their quota likewise, small wonder is it that the success of the gown depends largely upon just how this one little feature is managed. Deep and deeper and deeper is the way that one would describe the latest showing of these; and the least prominent ceinture now boasts of at least four inches in depth, where last season two was considered sufficient. Many of them ought to be catalogued as corselets, rather than belts or girdles; and even the short and not too slender girl can wear these when the front is sloped down to a gentle point at the lower edge and the top follows the same, or even more marked slope from the under-arms to the center front.

Another very marked feature of the fall fashions is the favor with which slashings are viewed. Coats, sleeves and skirts are slashed to show either the same or some contrasting material beneath; and more often than not ribbons are laced through wrought rings or eyelets on either edge of the slashing, producing a fascinating latticed effect.

Fanned skirts have alternate wide and narrow panels, the broader ones with eyelets worked all down either side, and silk or velvet ribbon laced through, so that they lattice over the narrow panels. These latter are usually pleated, the pleats attached down or well pressed as far as or slightly below the knee, and the ribbons tying in a splendid bow where the pleats are released. This is quite a favorite mode for young girls' gowns, and especially for party dancing frocks for the girls of some dozen summers or less.

Brides and bridesmaids are making their appearance in many quarters that heretofore they have not been permitted to occupy. Our grandmothers would have smiled, either indulgently or indignantly, at the suggestion of bridling are today; but their granddaughters are today laying especial stress upon this feature, and frills of tulle, lace, moire, faille, franglaise and other silken weaves are not considered as being up to all the requirements of style unless a certain amount of bridling is displayed. Broad and velvet ribbon are favored combinations in this connection, and from the narrowest sashette to the broad diamond weaves with their many palliating woven in at convenient intervals, there is hardly a pattern of broad that is not in use for trimming some kind or another of a silken gown.

For demureness uses the silken coat is tending to itself all of the novel features of fashion. Either it is very long, indeed, or else it is one of those short saque-shaped affairs that make no pretense whatsoever at fitting, or even suggesting the lines of the figure. These seem to be no sort of a halfway mode or a compromise in these; either very long or very short is the rule, and sleeves seem to reverse this idea. The long coats almost invariably display a half or three-quarter length sleeve, while the short coats have a full-length one.

The circular skirts that are making themselves so very prominent in the later fashions are most of them lined throughout with a silk of changeable hue. This lining is secured in with the skirt itself, top and bottom, and it is very often caught, also, into the bias front and back seams that the imported models in such skirts display. This makes the application of the required interlining much more facile, and oftentimes the princess haircloth is secured in with the silk, the former being cut to shape with the latter, and the two secured in together. Some sort of a blinding at the edge is imperative with this style, even when the skirt is cut to clear the ground all around, and bias velveteen is used by the best makers, since this does not rub or chafe the smart silken black shoe which dominates the mode for the coming autumn and winter months.

Some Features of the Fall Fashions.

The touch of velvet upon the gown, no matter what its genre and character may be, is one of those dainty little devices whereby Dame Fashion declares to the initiated the newer modes.

No matter how it is applied—although there are set rules to this effect—it simply must be prominent in the trimming scheme of the gown. On the tailor-made just an unlined collar and cuff is very often the only manifestation of this decree; while on the dresser type of this very popular mode, those that the Parisian tailors designate as demi-tailleur, it declares itself in far more obtrusive fashion. One gown that has just been imported displays those fascinating little ladders of velvet ribbon bows all down the front—it is a long coat, incidentally, on the coat skirts where they are slit after the Directoire fashion on both sides, and again on the sleeve where the fullness of the upper arm is laid in pleats below the elbow, the little slit square bows seeming to hold those full pleats flat in place.

The circular skirts which the later manifestations of the mode display in such number are at their best when trimmed with flat folds of the goods. These are put on after various patterns and devices, but in every instance they are piped with velvet, and that usually of a contrasting color. Velvet-covered buttons are employed to emphasize many a design, and braid motifs—those wide conventional designs—are at their best when some bright-colored velvet gleams through the open spaces of the pattern as a background.

Another charming device is the prevalence of the gimping, or the underbodice, as some prefer to term it. The cut-out neck—and it is square, round or oval, V-shaped, Dutch or heart-shaped. Just as fancy may prefer, or as may prove most becoming to the type of feature above it—the short half sleeve that the summer fashions introduced are to be retained as

The Princess Redingote.

The lines of the princess model are variously reproduced in the later manifestations of the tailor's art, and in the smart walking costume pictured they are very effectively followed in the redingote that tops the short walking skirt. The material is one of those self-plaid silkenettes that are so much in vogue, the color one of those indeterminate greens that it is hard to classify. The coat is arranged with a solero top, the skirt part built up in princess lines to follow the figure closely. An elaborate scheme of bridling in the sashette, which matches the silhouette in tone defines the prominent lines of the coat, and a touch of richness is added in the velvet collar and unlined cuff that ends the sleeve, which is secured with the elbow cuff a double effect. Below the curve of the hip the coat hangs in full folds, while the skirt is one of those elaborately pleated models, broad box pleats at intervals making for a grand effect. The lining is smooth at the band, and the skirt deserves the increasing outward line from hip to hem.

BEN-HUR

ATTRACTIONS AT THE LYCEUM

The Great Theatrical Spectacle, "Ben-Hur," Will Occupy the Stage All Week, Beginning Monday Evening.

That splendid theatrical spectacle, "Ben-Hur," which has been a marked success in America, England and Australia, and which was seen here two years ago at the Lyceum theater, will open an engagement of a week at the Lyceum beginning Monday evening.

It is a matter of pride with the owners of the dramatic rights of "Ben-Hur" that the high standard of the production is kept up from year to year, and the theater-goers of Duluth will have an opportunity to witness what is practically an absolutely new production of both scenery and costumes. Every-thing with the company this year is new, and was seen for the first time at the Metropolitan Opera House, St. Paul, last week, when the first performance of the season was given. It is said to say that never since the original opening of the play at the Broadway theater, New York, in 1899, has the play been graced with such a scenic investment as it now possesses.

Duluth has seen the "Ben-Hur" production, and can very well indulge in another view of it after two years. The business of the play when it was here before was large, and there is reason to expect that this second engagement will be equally satisfactory to those financially interested in the matter.

"Ben-Hur" has been praised by clergymen of all denominations and all religions. It appeals equally alike to the Protestant, the Jew and the Catholic, and also to the regular theater-goer. The production comes back here this time even greater and more splendid than when it was last seen here, made in the mechanical effects of the play and the acting company is said to be better than the one seen in the original production in New York six years ago. The company numbers fifty more people than it did when it was last seen here, and is brought up to its present state of perfection as a special feature for the closing year of its tour.

The engagement should be a memorable one here, as it is probably the last opportunity the theater-goers of the Northwest will have to see this world-renowned spectacle.

The expense of the "Ben-Hur" are so great that the management will not dare risk taking the play where there is no certain success. A business that would seem great to the ordinary attraction would not even pay the traveling expenses of this organization.

Of the play itself, for the benefit of those who have not seen it, it may be said that it is a picture of the surroundings of singular beauty. Before the curtain rises in the Lyceum theater is placed in absolute darkness. Music of a devotional nature outlining the motive of the play to which at times an invisible chorus is added, is given before the opening. The prelude shows the "Three Wise Men of the East" watching the Star of Bethlehem. It is an impressive picture, as the star glows and throbs with living light. Nearer and nearer it approaches, until it bathes the whole auditorium with the splendor of its radiance.

The scene of the first act is laid on the roof of the palace of Hur in Jerusalem, showing a vast expanse of the house-tops of the city of David and a superb view of the country beyond. The second act gives the first stage representation of the interior of a Roman war galley with the slave oarsmen at work tugging away at the heavy oars to the sharp beat of a cruel overseer. Then there is a battle and the sinking of the ship, the wreck and rescue on the open sea.

The third act shows the grove of Daphne and the fountain of Castalia, two views of enchanted land. Here are dancers and singers given up to pleasure for pleasure's sake. We are transported to the land of Inter-act-ers of Egypt with a Cleopatra exercising the allurements and wickeries which tempted but did not encompass the ruin of Ben-Hur.

Then comes the famous race. Blooded horses run at top speed in full view of the audience. Thousands of people appear to look down upon the contesting charioteers. We see them turn and twist, and also the regular theater-goer. Then comes the famous race. Blooded horses run at top speed in full view of the audience. Thousands of people appear to look down upon the contesting charioteers. We see them turn and twist, and also the regular theater-goer. The production comes back here this time even greater and more splendid than when it was last seen here, made in the mechanical effects of the play and the acting company is said to be better than the one seen in the original production in New York six years ago. The company numbers fifty more people than it did when it was last seen here, and is brought up to its present state of perfection as a special feature for the closing year of its tour.

The engagement should be a memorable one here, as it is probably the last opportunity the theater-goers of the Northwest will have to see this world-renowned spectacle.

The expense of the "Ben-Hur" are so great that the management will not dare risk taking the play where there is no certain success. A business that would seem great to the ordinary attraction would not even pay the traveling expenses of this organization.

Of the play itself, for the benefit of those who have not seen it, it may be said that it is a picture of the surroundings of singular beauty. Before the curtain rises in the Lyceum theater is placed in absolute

METROPOLITAN AND THE BIJOU

Gilmore Stock Company and High Class Vaudeville at Metropolitan—Fine Vaudeville Show at the Bijou.

The Gilmore Stock company present the roaring farce comedy, "A Box of Monkeys," at the Metropolitan next week. It gives an opportunity for an abundance of clever acting and the display of elaborate costumes and pretty scenery.

The vaudeville numbers will be given by artists direct from the principal vaudeville theaters of the East. Low Nelson, monologue-comedian and vocalist, will give some clever numbers. W. P. Crowell, known as Bicycle Bill, will present a novelty in the cycle line performing many difficult tricks and doing fancy riding.

Mr. Anderson will render one of the latest illustrated songs. The moving pictures for the week will be the following: "The Automobile Parade," which is just off the camera, and a number of other pleasing subjects will be shown.

Mathews are given daily at 2:30 and 3:30 and evening performances at 7:45, 8:45 and 9:45. Doors open, thirty minutes earlier.

with a series of short plays worked into a diverting bill in which two trial performances at Middletown and Lebanon, Ohio, in their trip ball, assisted by Laura Bellini, who is a sister of Dolly Doolittle, and a number of other vaudeville stars.

The collapse of the McCadden American circus has left a number of performers and circus people stranded in Grenville, France, where the American colony is reported to be causing a fund to send the unfortunate people back to this country. The circus was organized by J. T. McCadden, a brother-in-law of James A. Sullivan, and long associated with the management of the Brevin and Bailey show.

It is said to have encountered bad weather from the start in Europe, and was a losing venture from the outset. Among the circus people stranded at Grenville are: The Potters, aerial artists, including Harry Potter with three men and one woman; and the Streator American Zouaves, sixteen young men of Streator, Ill., in a scullion made their first appearance with "Piff Paff Puff" in Cleveland last week. Miss Kingston played Dolly Dimples and Mr. World has one of the principal comedy parts.

Frank Wiltach says that now that Clyde Fitch has written a play for Viola Allen he may become as famous as Hall Caine. The answer is that Mr. Wiltach is Miss Allen's publicity promoter.

Will West, Harry Vokes and Margaret Daly Vokes opened their season last week in Lynn, Mass., in the old Ward and Vokes success, "A Pair of Planks." The piece has been worked over for the present season, and is sent out to fill the place of the former well-known musical farce combination. Harry Ward, assisted by his wife, Lucy Daly, will be seen as an individual star later in the season in a new piece.

Lulu Glaser likes Rochester as a trial horse, as nearly all of her starring successes have been produced there. It was on this account that Rochester witnessed late last week the initial performance of her new comic opera, "Miss Dolly Doolittle." The book is by Harry B. Smith and the music by Victor Herbert. The piece is said to be a bigger hit than anything Miss Glaser has been seen in as a star.

The rumors that the Rogers Brothers after the end of the present season will sever their connection with Kiaw and Erlanger, has been confirmed. It is now stated that their next manager will be William Harris, who managed them before they joined the Kiaw and Erlanger ranks. No reason for the stars parting with their old managers has been given, it being said that the separation is mutual and entirely agreeable to all parties concerned. This may be true, but seems rather odd that Kiaw and Erlanger should allow such profitable stars as the Rogers Brothers to get away from them.

In the past season, eight years ago, the one-time vaudeville team has been a standard attraction throughout the country, and the matter of business they have established an unusual record almost everywhere. It is conservatively estimated that this partnership in the time it has lasted, including this season, will have earned close to half a million dollars.

Ray Templeton will be the opening feature of the new Coliseum theater in Chicago, which begins its season early next month. It will be a new venture all around, as Miss Templeton is to appear there as a star in the new vehicle, "Party-five Minutes From Broadway," which was written for her by George M. Cohan.

Edward Abeles and George Boniface, Jr., will be the chief comedians with Edna Aug when she makes her starring debut in the Four Leaf Clover in New York. The pair has arrived in this country from London, and under their direction rehearsals of the musical comedy will begin this week in the East.

Charles Warner is to arrive in this country shortly, and will be seen in vaudeville, where he is to present a condensed version of his powerful play, "Drink."

It was Thomas Carlyle who said that all genius was akin to slavery. Sarah Bernhardt, now on her way to America, exemplifies this in the honor of her character, Mrs. Richard, who is a perfect barbarian in her defiance of conventionalities regarding the treatment of a slave. She is in the role of a slave, picked out by a king in the interest of the human race, and is to be seen in the role of a slave, picked out by a king in the interest of the human race.

Sally Stacey, equestrienne. Billy Wallace, gentleman rider. Sirk family, of six, in trick bicycle riding. Charles Tompkins and wife and Wyoming Jack and wife, rough riding and lariat throwing. Robert Stacey, ringmaster. Three American Indians. William Allen, general manager, who was a press agent with Barnum and Bailey before he joined with McCadden; William Vogt of Chicago, treasurer; J. Harper of Zanesville, Ohio, superintendent of the circus; and a host of employees of lesser importance are among the stranded.

Ray F. Comstock is the comedian catch of the season. This is George Evans, "the Honey Boy." If New York managers were wise they would never let him off Broadway. Evans is responsible for most of the "latest" that have been handed out in the way of gag for the past five years. He is a real up-to-date comedian, and after his starring tour the coming season he is a real up-to-date comedian, and after his starring tour the coming season he is a real up-to-date comedian.

London, Sept. 9.—Sir Charles Sharpe, the English football referee who officiated at the first international series of matches in Canada and the United States. He is a big fellow with a kernal of spirit in him, and every time his foot comes in contact with the ball he is sure to get a kick. He has earned high honors at the game, and is good at almost everything he does.

The team has taken the appropriate title of "Phillips' Footballers," and has been famous in the early days of association football. The team has been very successful in the past, and the arrival of the title has given much pleasure to a large number of object of the visit is to popularize the English style of football, and to show the Canadians the difference between the English and the American style, and running with the ball is entirely barred. Among the best players of the country Fred Milnes plays regularly. He has won the championship more than once—three times. Mr. Milnes is business with his father as an iron merchant. He is a fair haired young fellow of independent means, and has been known to play six strenuous matches in a season.

The team is undoubtedly the best in the city. Vivian J. Woodward of the Toronto team is by far and away the best center forward in the world. He has been known to play six strenuous matches in a season.

on his shoulder and his feet are apart. Hickman, who is of the slugger type, has a nice position at the plate. He is together and straight. He takes the ball swinging, bent over hitting the ball as hard as he can. He steps forward to the pitch. A first class hitter stands up straight and easy at the plate is Joe Kelley, whose batting stance is admirable. Kelley faces the pitcher more than most batters, and differs from Hickman in that he is ready to make a quick stab at the ball at any instant from the time it leaves the pitcher's hands until it scoots over the plate.

Mike Donlin, of the New York Nationals, is another batter who is well way prepared. Like Kelley and Hick-

most of the time in a natural manner at the plate as Kelley, but makes more of a lunge. His feet are neither too close nor too far apart, and that he takes a short step up to the ball, and a quick lunge and meet on the bat. When he swings it, he has it under good control when doing this. As can be seen from the above, Kelley is a freer hitter than Donlin; that he makes a freer, wider swing, gets the bat under control more easily, and bounces the bat further up and gets his hands in better position. As for Jimmy Williams is a batter who swings free and grabs the bat. He does all his batting with his hands in front of him, and he does not start until the ball is almost at the plate. Bresnahan is a freer hitter than Kelley, but he is hard and not started until the ball is almost at the plate. Bresnahan, the Nationals, fuses around a good deal in the box, it being a favorite trick of his to blow the men forward as before he breaks. He has a good swing and meets the ball as it comes. He is a hard man to fool, is as strong at the bat as in the field, and the Nationals are not so much of a team and motionless until he is ready to swing, then with an easy step makes the ball fly. The Nationals' favorite hitters in baseball is Mike Grady, of St. Louis Nationals, straight as an arrow, and he is a freer hitter than Kelley on his shoulder and not a move until he is ready to swing. Few batters in the world are as free as Mike Grady.

Fred Pfeffer had a most peculiar way of batting. He is a freer hitter than Kelley. His body position is not unusual, but with the bat grasped in a peculiar manner, he comes straight up and down, like a man carrying a flag pole, but waving it slightly. Pfeffer is a freer hitter than Kelley. Pay Dougherty, a good hitter, whose motion that is a cross between Kelley and Pfeffer. He is a freer hitter than Kelley. Pfeffer's batting is ability to hit the ball squarely. Bowerman is a freer hitter than Kelley. Pfeffer's hands seemingly are not as close to the bat as Kelley's.

Most of the men mentioned above are freer hitters than Kelley. Each has a different manner of going about it. The different means to achieve the same end. Boston, Sept. 9.—Joe Walcott retired from the ring. He made the statement the other day and went on to tell why he was so titled to some consideration. "My hand," Last week I went to Jacksonville, where there were boxing champions. The promoter told me, mine asked me if I try them out, and I did. My hand did not last six rounds. I knocked them both out. The hand that had been shot, not just it, back in the game. I am ready to fight anyone who wants to. I have defeated me at that weight class. I don't care who comes looking for a box corner. I am ready to be boxed to meet my own ready."

I had been asked to box at a club in Chelsea, and if they or someone who too glad to go on, had a good rest and now am looking for a box corner. I am the weight unless the man who wants to look for the title. Then he

THE MOTHERLAND'S GIFT TO AN AMERICAN MEMORIAL

A Stone From an Ancient English Churchyard Will Be Placed in Provincetown's Pilgrim Monument—Progress of the Fund For Erecting the Memorial—Quaint Surroundings of the Spot Where the Mayflower First Landed.

Provincetown, Mass., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—In a store window on the quaint main street of this town on the sandy extremity of Cape Cod there is on exhibition one of the stones which will be used in building the Pilgrim Monument to commemorate the first landing of the Mayflower pilgrims on this side of the Atlantic.

One might almost say that it is the only stone on the Cape, for anything larger than a pebble is hard to find among the pine-covered dunes of this land's end; there are, however, a few other slabs brought here for special purposes. This particular stone, like all the rest, is not a native. A few weeks ago it rested in a wall in the village churchyard of Austerefield, Eng., the town from which Governor William Bradford and several others of the pilgrims originally came.

And this is the explanation of the stone's being here. It is to be used as the first block laid when the Cape Cod Pilgrim Memorial association, which already has in hand more than $20,000, begins work upon the monument that is to grace the summit of Pilgrimage Hill, and add to the many attractions of the curious old fishing town.

To have brought this stone from its historic setting in England to the fitting place of the Pilgrims, where they spent several weeks before setting out on their voyage, is a fitting tribute to the Pilgrims, who have summed up the old-fashioned peninsula of Cape Cod of today. Here is a land that is loyal to its traditions. The people on this arm of Massachusetts are found always to be fully alive to the significance of their position and doing everything in their power to make the town and its surroundings as attractive as possible to the large number of the American public who visit it for the cooler parts of New England at the time when the hot waves of heat roll across the continent. The results, too, of their efforts are apparent in the comfortable and well-kept houses, pleasant cottages and camps on the shores of sandy-bottomed lakes, the growth of lilacs to the long beach on the ocean side nearly to Highland light, and the growth of the white-washed towns that have grown up on this end of the Cape, most of them different from that discovered by the pilgrims—described in the "Relation" as "much like the Dutch in Holland, but much better, the crust of the earth a little deeper, excellent huckleberries, all wooded with Oaks, Pines, Sassafras, Juniper, Birch, Holly, Vine, and Ash, Walnut, the wood for the most part open and without under-wood, fit either to grow or to be cut, at night or people returned, but found not any person, nor any place, which smelled very sweet & strong, and of which we burnt the most part of the time we lay there."

The fund of the Cape Cod Pilgrim Memorial association is growing rapidly, and no doubt the plans for the monument will be matured within a short time.

VIEW OF MARKSMEN'S CAMP AT SEAGIRT SHOOT.

MARKSMEN AT SEAGIRT IN ACT OF SHOOTING—DULUTH MEN ARE FIFTH AND IN ROW.

The showing made by the Minnesota team in the recent national competition at Seagirt has greatly increased the interest in rifle practice in Duluth and throughout the state, and next year it is hoped that Minnesota will stand among the leaders in the competition.

The team which returned from Seagirt this week stood thirteenth among thirty-seven competitors. Minnesota led all the Western states, including Washington, Wisconsin, Oregon, Michigan, Kansas, Montana, California, Texas, Missouri, Nebraska and Hawaii.

Only eight of the state teams made a better showing than the Gopher state. They were New York, Ohio, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Illinois, Pennsylvania, District of Columbia and Rhode Island.

In addition to these state militia teams the four divisions of the regular service stood ahead of Minnesota, the infantry standing second, the marine corps fourth, the navy fifth, and the cavalry eleventh.

This was Minnesota's first appearance in the competition, and she led all the states who entered for the first time.

New York won the trophy for the second time. The Empire state is represented by a team of crack professionals, nearly all of whom are in the employ of some gun or powder company, and they carried off the honors against the men from the regular service.

The following is the standing of the thirty-seven teams:

New York	4283	Connecticut	2691
U. S. Infantry	4282	Ohio	2691
U. S. Cavalry	4281	Florida	2691

HE OUTWITTED JAY GOULD

The Strange Career of "Lord Gordon-Gordon."

London, Sept. 8.—Chief Justice Bain's recent death in Manitoba recalls the story of one who knew the facts at first hand, and is now at liberty to recount them for the first time. The late Jay Gould was merely a link in a chain of events which had its beginning in a French street jewelry shop, Edinburgh, and ended at Winnipeg. The whole story is buried in the archives of one of Scotland's noblest houses, in the grave with a Scotch Episcopal clergyman in the vaults of an Edinburgh firm of solicitors, in the private papers of the late Chief Justice Bain and in an unmarked mound on the banks of the Red River, where the city of Winnipeg now stands.

What follows is merely an sequel to an incident connected with the life of one of the most mysterious criminals of modern times, the man who outwitted Jay Gould in the zenith of his financial career, and who, in the process, caused the relations between the governments of the two great branches of the English-speaking race to become strained.

In the early '80s a slight, aristocratic-looking young man stepped from a carriage into the jewelry establishment of Mr. Marshall, the most fashionable jeweler of his day in Edinburgh. There was evident taste in his selection. He was dressed in a velvet smoking jacket, and he carried a small silver case in his pocket. He was a young man of about thirty, with a refined and scholarly appearance, and he was a Scotchman, as was shown by the bill of the jeweler, which was in Scotch Gaelic.

The next world knew of Lord Gordon Gordon was his appearance in London as a guest of a well-known corporation solicitor. From this shrewd adviser of financial investments, Lord Gordon learned that the records show that Lord Gordon borrowed over $10,000. Shortly afterward he was heard of on a criminal charge at the Scotch court, then the fashionable hotel of the United States metropolis.

At this time the financial world was agitated by the colossal schemes of Jay Gould and Jim Fisk, among which the wrecking of the Erie railway, then one of the chief railways of the continent, was a considerable factor.

There is a mystery surrounding the origin of a report which soon spread through Wall street and into the counting houses of the wealthy and speculative that the good-looking young titled Britisher, registered at Lord Gordon Gordon at the time of the wrecking of the Erie railway. These interests were great and were presumably hostile to the Gould plans.

The story is told in the newspapers of the time that Lord Gordon Gordon was the only man of the day in the financial world of the United States who dared treat Jay Gould cavalierly. The American millionaire, so runs the account, was kept kicking his heels day after day in the ante-room of Lord Gordon's apartments while waiting for an opportunity to confer with the supposed representative of the British interests in the Erie railway. The first interview resulted in the great American capitalist being abruptly shown the door by the apparently insolent young aristocrat.

The last resulted in the deposit by Gould of negotiable securities amounting to several millions of dollars in the hands of Lord Gordon Gordon as evidence of good faith on the part of the American in a transaction whereby the British investors were to be outwitted through the breach of faith of their supposed agent.

The game was a gigantic one; for a boy only out of his teens was seeking to outwit on their own ground the shrewdest financiers of the American continent. He succeeded after a certain amount of vacillating litigation in New York. He escaped successful criminal prosecution through the dubious character of the original transaction and the alleged complicity of Gould in his scheme against the British investors.

Lord Gordon Gordon was next heard of in St. Paul, Minn. It was the time of the construction of the great transcontinental railway, the Northern Pacific, then being built under great financial difficulties. The arrival of a millionaire and a British lord in one and the same person could mean only one thing—investment in the wild prairie lands of the embarrassed railway. He was treated royally by the officials, excursions were made to prospective town sites, a great buffalo hunt was arranged, and on many a site of a new prosperous Minnesota and Dakota town the historic banner of the Grand Gordons of Scotland and the Stars and Stripes fluttered before the marquee of a youth who was befooting a confidant to the fullest.

CLOUQUET WON TWO GAMES

Defeated Grand Rapids in a Double-Header on Sunday.

Cloquet, Minn., Sept. 11.—Cloquet and Grand Rapids played a double header on Sunday and the locals won out in both games. The first game was the swiftest ever seen on the home grounds. Fine pitching and swift fielding were features as the score, 2 to 0, indicates. A triple play on the part of Cloquet created enthusiastic cheers from the 2,000 spectators. Sheehy and Rasch for Cloquet, and Stafford and Gerte for Grand Rapids held the pole position.

The second game, which was played, was one-sided. Cloquet winning by a score of 12 to 2. Rasch pitched for Cloquet and Houle caught. Three Grand Rapids pitchers were knocked out of the box. The second game demonstrated conclusively the staying qualities of the Cloquet team.

BRIDGE ALL TAKE SAME RIGHT

"If Anything Wrong I'll Tell You" Says City Engineer.

All Parts But Running Gear in Perfect Condition.

"The bridge car loaded with passengers and teams does not weigh over about three-quarters as much as one of the large mogul engines," said City Engineer McGilvray this morning. "The bridge car has thirty-two wheels to sustain the weight and an engine has eight or ten. Every other part of that bridge is in perfect condition. The idea is right, and every other part of that bridge is fully up to expectations. Now don't you believe that we can find wheels in this country that will bear the weight of that car, when the strain won't be as heavy as on an engine?"

"When there is anything seriously wrong with the bridge, I promise you I will let you know about it," he added. "I thought there was anything radically wrong, I would say so."

The city is not paying for all the work that is being done on the bridge at present. This all comes under the company's guarantee, and the expense is born by the company. Neither the city nor the company is to be paid for the cost of the ferry service which is maintained while the bridge is out of commission.

Not a heavier truck is being put in position this week. It was hoped to have the car running by Saturday, but some unexpected delay will prevent the regular trips being resumed before next Saturday at latest.

GRAND JURY REPORTS

Forgery and Larceny Indictments Are Made Public.

Seven indictments, five of which were not made public, were returned by the grand jury shortly before noon today.

Harry M. Johnson, who is alleged to have passed a forged check of $10.25 on Tilton Lewis of the St. Louis hotel, Aug. 12, is indicted for forgery in the second degree. The bogus check had the purported signature of W. Medd, and was drawn on the City National bank of this city.

Paul Dugal is indicted on a charge of grand larceny in the second degree. It is charged that Dugal entered the home of C. O. Flynn, on 12-11-12, while the owner was absent, and stole some saws, blankets, boots, tools, a clock and a can of bakelite.

Charles O'Brien, the young man from West Duluth who is indicted for indecent assault, appeared in court today before Judge Cant and entered a plea of not guilty. O'Brien has furnished bail in custody of the sheriff to await his trial.

Matt Hemilla, who was arrested on a criminal charge in one of the range towns, was ordered discharged from the custody of the sheriff this morning. The grand jury finding no true bill in his case.

WARM DAY FOR SEPTEMBER
Thermometer Had Climbed to 81 Degrees By 2:30 O'Clock.

Here's another fine chance to yell about how hot it is.

There have been only four other days this summer when the thermometer today in point of temperature and only one which has equalled it in the matter of humidity.

The thermometer showed the mercury at 81 degrees at 2:30 this afternoon and that will probably be the hottest point reached today. The morning started out warm and it has been gradually growing hotter as the sun came up higher. The humidity of the air is unusually depressing and one feels the heat much more than on a clear day when it is merely a question of temperature.

There have been only four other days this summer when the thermometer today in point of temperature and only one which has equalled it in the matter of humidity.

The thermometer showed the mercury at 81 degrees at 2:30 this afternoon and that will probably be the hottest point reached today. The morning started out warm and it has been gradually growing hotter as the sun came up higher. The humidity of the air is unusually depressing and one feels the heat much more than on a clear day when it is merely a question of temperature.

DEATH LIST NOW REACHES TWELVE.

New York, Sept. 11.—The death list in the elevator wreck has now reached twelve, the following being added:

ALBERT WELSER, New York; died in hospital.

EMMA KONHOVEN, New York; died in hospital.

SHRINE HERE

Dispensation for Its Establishment Is Received in Duluth.

Is Known as Aad Temple; Starts with Many Members.

Those interested in the establishment of a council of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine in Duluth will be interested to know that the required dispensation has been received in Duluth, today. Scores of Duluth Masons who belong to other lodges in the city, and who are, or will be, members of the new shrine, which will be known as Aad Temple, will start off with about 250 or 300 members at the first meeting.

Not much has been learned about the matter yet as the notification came from the imperial council in Boston only this noon. Jesse Norton is the first postulant of the Aad Temple. A meeting will be called for some evening this week.

CITY BRIEFS

Independent ferry to Superior, 5c. Fire broke out in the top floor of the Arena building, 2nd and Michigan street, shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon. The fire was caused by a gas stove in the kitchen. The damage was very slight.

The winter shall be 500 to 1,000 feet per second, and that there shall be enough water to discharge from 1,000 to 2,000 cubic feet per second additional from the latter part of July for a period of from sixty to eighty days.

PRISONERS' PETS.

Whether because they feel that the hand of mankind is raised against them, and therefore they are forced to turn to dumb animals for love and companionship, or whether it is to divert their minds during the long dreary hours behind prison walls, it is a noteworthy fact that many of the convicts in the penitentiary, says the Columbus Press-Post, evince marked fondness for animal pets and show remarkable tact and patience in their care and training.

Many of these prisoners, who during their confinement have by their loving care and tender patience won the devotion and fidelity of the dumb friends were noted during their freedom for cruelty and brutality. So, these convicts who are so strongly attached to their pets that they would risk their lives in protecting them, and therefore they are forced to turn to dumb animals for love and companionship, or whether it is to divert their minds during the long dreary hours behind prison walls, it is a noteworthy fact that many of the convicts in the penitentiary, says the Columbus Press-Post, evince marked fondness for animal pets and show remarkable tact and patience in their care and training.

One of the prisoners is Morgan McSweeney, about 60 years old, who is serving a life sentence for a murder committed in Washington county. He was received at the prison in 1898, and has since then been working in the kitchen. This pump is situated in a dark, dismal corner of the kitchen basement, and is entirely shut off from the rest of the prison. The prisoners are employed in the kitchen, and the rats are kept in the holes and crevices of the crumbling walls and beneath the broken flooring of the building.

Gradually the rats grew accustomed to McSweeney's presence, and McSweeney, in turn, grew accustomed to the rats. Because of his lonely existence he began to take an interest in watching the rats, and he would sit on the floor and watch them as they came out of their holes and stare at him, ready to dart back again at his slightest movement.

The old man watched the rodents the more interested he became in them and their habits. They were his only living companions, and as he felt kindly toward them he took the quickest and easiest way to win their affection. He would sit on the floor and watch them as they came out of their holes and stare at him, ready to dart back again at his slightest movement.

McSweeney placed the food farther and farther away from the rodents' holes and closer to the chills, and the rats, in turn, grew more patient, persevering, never offering to harm or scare them, he won the confidence of the rats, and he would sit on the floor and watch them as they came out of their holes and stare at him, ready to dart back again at his slightest movement.

GOOD TIMES WAVE IS SWEEPING OVER LAND

An Unequaled Era of Prosperity In Every Line of Industry.

Every Indication For Greater Advance In Nation's Wealth.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—The Record-Herald says: Unprecedented prosperity is the present lot of the United States of America. A greater prosperity is the promise of the immediate future.

The year 1905, just turned into its last third, already has smashed records right and left. Everything that goes to make up business and industrial life is on the boom, and the barometers of finance, of commerce, of agriculture, of building and of manufacturing, one and all indicate the continuance of fair skies. There isn't a cloud visible anywhere on the horizon.

Figures, such as are within the grasp of statisticians, are everywhere showing that the country's trade and development are staggering in their magnitude. The rebound from the conditions that depressed many lines of industry for a period of years is now in the summer of 1905 has exceeded the expectations of the most optimistic. And on top of the general conditions making for an upward tendency there now comes a harvest of record crops to augment prosperity.

Bank clearings in the United States for August, though only a trifle larger than those for July, exceeded those for the same month in 1904 by $10,000,000, an increase of $2,000,000 over the corresponding period of 1903. The total number of sales recorded for the previous year's period—while the sales of bank negotiables were $75,000,000, an increase of $20,000,000 over the corresponding period of 1904.

The stocks and bonds barometer of Wall street makes a showing of $3,272,000 more shares of stocks traded in for the same month in 1905 than during the corresponding months of 1904—$1,235,700 more than the total number of sales recorded for the previous year's period—while the sales of bank negotiables were $75,000,000, an increase of $20,000,000 over the corresponding period of 1904.

In the iron and steel industry, for example, the greatest of all its branches, no one is so stuporous that it would require a large store, a larger stock and better facilities, to supply your fall jewelry wants fully and economically.

You will find here a fuller assortment of the latest ideas in fine jewelry, a better selection of best-grade watches, a finer showing of silverware, etc., than we have ever had before—and at the fairest prices that equal qualities are offered for in Duluth.

You can always be sure of fair treatment and full value for your money here, and that we will promptly right all mistakes and make good all statements.

HAMBLY GETS IT

Is Made Chief Rate Clerk of the South Shore.

The Northern Milcage Bureau Practically Extinct.

R. O. Hambly, for the past four years chief clerk in the office of T. E. Blanche, general agent of the Northern Pacific in Duluth, has been appointed chief rate clerk of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic Pacific and W. Walker, general freight agent of the South Shore. Mr. Hambly will succeed W. A. Cleland, who left Duluth recently to take the position of chief rate clerk for the Northern Pacific at St. Paul. The appointment took effect today. The name of Mr. Hambly's successor in the Northern Pacific office has not yet been announced.

NEARLY EXTINGUISHED.

Northern Milcage Bureau Almost Thing of the Past.

After this month the northern milcage book will be sold no more in Michigan. In place of it the Michigan association book, of its own good over the Michigan line, has been secured. The Crosby line of steamers, in fact all of the members of the Northern milcage bureau, have been secured, as stated. Considerable cruising and prospecting is going on all through that region near the old Mallot property and away on the east for miles.

One fortunate feature is that the new milcage in this old district is tributary to the old logging spur of the D. & I. which simplifies and cheapens the transportation side of the matter.

Every Indication For Greater Advance In Nation's Wealth.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—The Record-Herald says: Unprecedented prosperity is the present lot of the United States of America. A greater prosperity is the promise of the immediate future.

The year 1905, just turned into its last third, already has smashed records right and left. Everything that goes to make up business and industrial life is on the boom, and the barometers of finance, of commerce, of agriculture, of building and of manufacturing, one and all indicate the continuance of fair skies. There isn't a cloud visible anywhere on the horizon.

Figures, such as are within the grasp of statisticians, are everywhere showing that the country's trade and development are staggering in their magnitude. The rebound from the conditions that depressed many lines of industry for a period of years is now in the summer of 1905 has exceeded the expectations of the most optimistic. And on top of the general conditions making for an upward tendency there now comes a harvest of record crops to augment prosperity.

Bank clearings in the United States for August, though only a trifle larger than those for July, exceeded those for the same month in 1904 by $10,000,000, an increase of $2,000,000 over the corresponding period of 1903. The total number of sales recorded for the previous year's period—while the sales of bank negotiables were $75,000,000, an increase of $20,000,000 over the corresponding period of 1904.

The stocks and bonds barometer of Wall street makes a showing of $3,272,000 more shares of stocks traded in for the same month in 1905 than during the corresponding months of 1904—$1,235,700 more than the total number of sales recorded for the previous year's period—while the sales of bank negotiables were $75,000,000, an increase of $20,000,000 over the corresponding period of 1904.

In the iron and steel industry, for example, the greatest of all its branches, no one is so stuporous that it would require a large store, a larger stock and better facilities, to supply your fall jewelry wants fully and economically.

You will find here a fuller assortment of the latest ideas in fine jewelry, a better selection of best-grade watches, a finer showing of silverware, etc., than we have ever had before—and at the fairest prices that equal qualities are offered for in Duluth.

TO BEGIN WORK

Shenango Interests to Commence Work on Eastern Mesaba.

Test Pitting and Drilling Crews Put In the Field.

Six test-pitting crews and two drill crews will begin work at once on the eastern Mesaba. The work is being done by the Shenango Iron company to W. A. Barrows, Jr., local representative of the Shenango furnace interests, of Sharpsville, Pa.

Test-pitting was started very successfully on these holdings by Franklin W. Merritt and it is understood to be Mr. Barrows' purpose to keep up the work until the ore body is sufficiently well defined to begin stripping. The ore thus far shown up is very high grade and, therefore, very desirable. John Helmer of Duluth, a well-known explorer, will have charge of the drill work. In a short time, three additional drills will be started.

The Eastern Mesaba was the scene of the first explorations on that range and the results were not satisfactory in that day. Recently, more scientific, careful and exhaustive work has shown up some very good ore bodies in that locality and those interested in lands and leases are very hopeful for the future. E. J. Longyear has had good success east of Mesaba station and it is reported that the Hill interests are finding some good ore in section 21, 30, 14, A. B. Coates, of Virginia, and A. M. Miller, Jr., of Duluth, have proved a body of high grade ore and are expected to begin shipping next season.

The Duluth-Mesabi company has holdings in sections 11, 12 and 13 on which good results already have been secured, as stated. Considerable cruising and prospecting is going on all through that region near the old Mallot property and away on the east for miles.

One fortunate feature is that the new milcage in this old district is tributary to the old logging spur of the D. & I. which simplifies and cheapens the transportation side of the matter.

LAUNCHES HUNG UP.
Fog holds picnickers until early hours.

All kinds of craft were caught in the fog on St. Louis river last night and this morning and some until later. Many picnickers had not put in an appearance at noon today as they were trying to catch up. When they did get in they awakened everybody on their line of march howling for something to eat.

Among those hung up on the river all night were Walter Williams, Harry Gifford and Cory Phillips. Williams claimed that there were fully fifteen launches in the same plight.

MRS. WESTBY DEAD.

Former Duluthian dies in the Southwest.

News has been received in West Duluth of the death of Mrs. Carl J. Westby at Albuquerque, N. M., which occurred last Tuesday. Mrs. Westby was married to the late Carl J. Westby, who died in 1903. She did not survive the operation. She and her husband lived in West Duluth last March. Mrs. Westby was 55 years of age. She was well known and both were members of the West Duluth council of Modern Samaritans. Mrs. Westby leaves one child.

INTERFERE

In Fight Over Inspection of Grain By Minnesota.

Washington, Sept. 11.—From what can be learned, unofficially, the department of justice, in the absence of any federal legislation governing or regulating the inspection of grain, will not interfere in the fight that is in progress between the states of Minnesota and North Dakota relative to the validity of grain inspection at Minnesota's terminals.

Attorney General Moody has referred the case to one of his assistants to look into, and a reply will soon be made to the North Dakota complainants do not expect any relief from the department of justice. Back of all their efforts looms the project which has for some years been before congress, to-wit: federal grain inspection.

The championing of this measure is Senator Porter J. McCumber, who for several sessions has pressed his bill for re-enactment in each of session. Senator McCumber has gathered to his aid such men as George F. Reed of the Boston chamber of commerce; John O. Fearing, president of the National Association of Grain Inspection of the United States; and several members of the New York produce exchange.

New, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Boston and Eastern commercial interests generally would like to see the day come when Minnesota No. 1 hard wheat loses its prestige. Senators and representatives from the East have blocked anything and everything that would lead to a possible arrangement with Canada whereby a high grade of spring wheat can be admitted free to the Minnesota flour mills.

The father and staunch advocate of the Minnesota grain inspection law is Senator Knute Nelson. He is one of the most influential senators in the upper house of congress, and as a member of the committee on commerce ranks very high.

Senator Nelson is opposed to federal inspection. He has always stood for the Minnesota laws, and whenever they do not work well he was quick to amend them.

It is claimed that the present prosperity of the wheat growers of Minnesota, and the prestige of the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth Chamber of Commerce, and the high reputation of the state in the commercial annals of the world is due to the practical workings of the Minnesota inspection.

All would be completely changed should federal inspection prevail. Outsiders, under the civil service, would be appointed as inspectors and eventually Minnesota would no longer be at the head of the grain movements of the Northwest, but there would be a diversion of routes, and new terminals established under federal inspection.

Wiped Out. Many New Faces Among Pupils and Teachers.

With the opening of the school year and the assembling of 2,000 children in the different positions among the cities of the country, in being absolutely free from all kinds of contagious diseases, there is not a single case of scarlet fever, diphtheria or smallpox existing in the city today, the last patient being released from quarantine this morning.

"I don't believe there is another city of 5,000 people in the country that can point to such a condition of affairs," said Health Commissioner Murray this morning. "It has never happened before. The last case on health department bulletins was wiped out. No trace of the robbers has been found as yet."

The smallpox hospital has been closed now for some time. The things we have to do before school opened, is an epidemic in the schools of one of these diseases. We have to be constantly guard against.

"The arrangement of programs and friends, and until 9 o'clock the halls were filled with the returning pupils and a large number of the grade school graduates who had come to the high school for the first time. The chapel exercises were held at 9 o'clock, and the opening exercises as usual by Principal C. A. Smith.

Two new rooms have been opened for the high school year, in spite of the fact that first year was crowded into the old building at West Duluth for the pupils of that portion of the city.

The schools of the city opened for the year. The attendance was large in all of them, many little tots entering.

New Building Laws Cover Nearly 150 Typewritten Pages.

Covering nearly 150 typewritten pages, the new building ordinances of the city of Duluth will probably be presented to the council this evening by the committee on ordinances.

The ordinances are based upon the laws now in force in other cities in the country, and embody the results of the agreement reached at the conference between representative contractors, the council committee and the building inspector, held several months ago. The changes made from the old laws are chiefly in regard to the thickness of the walls required in brick buildings and in certain measures required for fire protection in large public buildings. The proposed alterations have been published several times.

An attempt has been made to avoid technical language in the new ordinance, so that any person reading it may understand what is required by law. Parts of the old ordinance were so technical that they were written by an experienced contractor or architect.

The ordinance is all complete, with the exception of the approval of the city attorney. He has had an active part in its preparation, and if not too much engaged in court today, will read over the ordinance and provide for the council on its provisions.

In time to have it submitted to the council this evening.

The foregoing note was found by Frank Byer, who lives on a claim near Hiddenwood, this county. It was written by one of his harvest hands called Frank, who has disappeared. In the letter the writer, who signs himself Charles Herzog, says:

"Dear Mr. Byer—In the early seventies Charles Sterling, a supposed tramp, was tried for the murder of Lizzie Grambsacker, a beautiful young woman residing near Youngstown, in Mahoning county, Ohio. I was convicted and hanged for the crime in the county jail at Youngstown. Charles Sterling was an innocent man. I am guilty of the murder of that young girl."

The personal injury case of Louise Marcotte against the city is being heard today in the municipal court, before Judge Cutting.

Mrs. Marcotte, who is employed as a barber, claims damages to the extent of little over $400 for injuries claimed to have resulted from a fall on a broken sidewalk on West First street, near Eleventh avenue.

She claims to have been walking along the street late one evening, when she stepped through a hole in the sidewalk, spraining her knee. The injury, she alleges, confined her to her bed for some time, and she lost several weeks from her work. She asks to be reimbursed for her lost time, as well as for her medical expenses, and the pain and inconvenience resulting from the injury.

The case is being defended by City Attorney Bert Fiebler, and Albert Baldwin representing Mrs. Marcotte.

A GAMBLER CREW.

The gray-bearded forty-niner was telling the young man from Tonopah about the good old days in California during the first rush to the golden land, says the New York Telegraph.

"One of the stories the boys used to tell," said he, as he dozed his whiskey, "was about a lot of gamblers who got in wrong and shipped aboard a sailing vessel as able seamen."

Know the least of the burocrats. This crowd had made the journey overland from the East, but hit the gold bridge, the sea of the prospectors were recovering from the onslaught of one bunch of sick gamblers, and the Easterners out of camp in short order.

"Picking up a mark here and there was hard graft, and before many weeks had passed the gang were broke. Too lazy to flirt with a pick and shovel, they hoisted it to Frisco, in hopes of better luck, but every man who could walk was in the hills hunting for gold, so they were up against it hard."

"One day they wandered down to the water front, where lay, in enforced idleness, vessels of every nation, for the crews had deserted and joined in the wild search for gold."

A Yankee skipper was disconsolately viewing his vessel from the wharf when they came along, and the leader of the gamblers had an idea.

"Do you want men to work your vessel, Cap'n?" asked he, respectfully. The captain, his face illumined by sudden hope, declared he surely did, and in ten minutes the crowd had signed with him for a cruise on through the straits around the Horn to New York. Gayly they ran aboard, and all day they sweated and toiled, putting in the cargo that lay ready under the sheds. Where they stowed it, only the gamblers themselves knew, for they simply laid a barrel or box in any vacant spot, leaving its future to luck. When the tug which took them out of San Francisco in only a sailor ran to port, having started the sailing vessel on her long cruise, the serious work began for the men.

"Let go the halyards and look alive there!" suddenly sang out the captain. The only response he received was that his crew, who had been busy tripping over one another as they vainly tried to 'walk nautically' gazed at him in surprise. Not a man could have boxed the compass to save his soul.

"While the vessel was being towed out the sailors had slipped down the decks in very lubberly fashion, coiled up the ropes, and were doing odd jobs which required no particular knowledge of the ways of the sea. This was under the direction of the mate, who had been the ship's painter before the former crew had deserted. This worthy knew little more than the new recruits, else their awkward stumbling about the decks when she began to rock must have aroused suspicion in his mind."

"Here, you damn dogs!" roared the captain. "What you starin' at? Lay aloft there, another hand! Cast off that leech line, you see, you see, caught? Hey? What the blank you doin' you in the red shirt? Don't you men know a rope from a doorstep?"

"Go to hell!" suddenly returned an outraged gambler, not aware of a sea captain's privileges when addressing his men. For answer the captain furiously drew his gun and advanced toward the stupidly staring gambler, threateningly. "Forgetful! Lay there! Up you go, bully! What ails you, you starin' maniacs?" He leveled his weapon, and in a second all the gamblers faced him with drawn guns.

"None of that here!" exclaimed one, "we'll work your ship, but don't try that!"

"What d'ye mean gasped the astonished skipper, for in those good old days a common sailor and a dog occupied the same position in the minds of their masters."

"Just this," explained the spokesman, "we shipped with you, and we'll obey orders, but you'll have to tell us what to do, because we're Eastern gamblers and never saw a ship before."

"You shipped as able seamen, is this mutiny or what?" shouted the bewildered captain. "D'ye mean you ain't sailors?"

"We had to do it," apologized the gambler, while the captain gasped and his gallant mate looked on with a feeble grin.

"The captain reflected hastily that he also had to get there, and had better make the best of a bad bargain. They were all big, husky fellows, ready to work or fight, so he pursued the only course left and addressed them more quietly."

"Now, men," said he, "listen here. You've got the best hand, so I'll make the best of it."

"Spoken like a game sport!" burst an admiral sailor, but the captain glared at him sternly, which effrontery withered him.

"Has any of you a pack of cards?" continued the captain. Every man instantly produced one.

"The captain nodded approvingly. 'Now,' said he, 'this is what we'll do. Give me the cards; now upon every part of the schooner you'll be required to handle I'll tack a card, and you can call them by the cards instead of their regular names. Now, like on this forward hatch we'll nail the king of diamonds, and following that shall be the five of clubs on the main mast, and the queen of spades in the rigging, the ace of hearts on the wheel, the ten of diamonds on the chart-room, and a six of clubs on the companion way door. Everything aboard that you'll have to use shall have a card tacked to it, and just begin right away."

"Under the captain's orders, the gamblers got the ship started, while three of their number, with much cheerfulness, tacked playing cards to each side of the mainmast, and every coil of rope and piece of sail, not leaving one inch of the companion way door. In two days every man knew each part of the ship, and when the captain shouted, 'Clear away the nine of diamonds!' Let go the jack of spades! Up with the deuce of hearts! the gamblers would rush to the side, grab the lead from the stern and clamber up the rigging to the crow's-nest with all the willingness in the world."

"All wanted to hurry toward New York; so did the captain; and all was peace as the good ship sailed through the seas toward home."

"When one water would go below to turn in the mate would roar second watch with the cry, 'Jack of diamonds turn out for second watch! The crew would tumble out on deck, for they knew it was eight bells."

"There was no friction, and but two rows during the voyage, one occurring when the captain, having heard the sailor's sign for the deck, in loud tones, that some one was 'holding out' the ace of spades."

"A great commotion ensued, until it was found up the sleeve of the man at the wheel."

"When the time the captain's men found the cards gone from their stations, and by diligent search discovered a four-handed dealer game, with the cards of the evening's supply of grog for the stakes, going on in the hold, with the ship's signs for the deck, for the other cards were locked in the captain's cabin."

"The game was broken up and the cards tacked back into position again. 'It was a common thing for a sailor to forget the whereabouts of a card, and find the seven of hearts, and go galloping madly along the length of the ship for it.'

"They knew it was eight bells, the compass on its four sides with the four suits, that his sailors might know where they were at."

"When the Harpoon, with Capt. Stuart, dignified old sea dog that he was, standing on the deck, with his duties, came steaming up Long Island sound to the port of New York no better manned ship was ever seen."

"When she was made fast at her pier men came aboard and made the great that a deck of playing cards should adorn the parts of a ship in such a peculiar manner, but neither her captain nor crew offered any explanation, and the cards remained in place."

FLAGSHIP OF ADMIRAL TOGO BLOWS UP AND GOES TO BOTTOM, CAUSING LOSS OF 599 LIVES

BARON KOMURA MAY MEET WITH A HOSTILE RECEPTION

Minister From Tokio Says People Are Greatly Wrought Up.

Rumor Says the Envoy's Family Has Been Assassinated.

Japan Needs Money to Avoid an Economic Depression.

Seattle, Sept. 12.—That Baron Komura, the Japanese peace envoy and his party may be met with a hostile demonstration on his arrival in Japan, is the opinion expressed last night by Rev. H. Kozaki, a prominent Japanese minister, who arrived in this city yesterday to attend the meeting of the American Board of Missions.

Rev. Kozaki says, however, that if the class of people who are responsible for the present uprising learn the true conditions of the peace settlement before the arrival of Baron Komura, that he may not be molested.

He also states that it is the intention of this government to take up the work of enlightening the Chinese immediately, and that there are at present some 5,000 students from the best Chinese families attending educational institutions in Japan, some of them being young women. The minister states that unless the Japanese receive the indemnity agreed on as reimbursement for the expenses of taking Russian prisoners, that economic depression may result for a year or so. If this money is received within a short time, however, this danger will be averted.

Rome, Sept. 12.—The Tribune today published a rumor from Tien Tsin to the effect that the family of Baron Komura (the Japanese peace envoy now in New York city) had been assassinated.

In view of the fact that recent dispatches describing the disturbances in Tokio have apparently been uncensored, it is not believed that the above rumor is well founded. The fact that it originated in Tien Tsin would also tend to discredit the report, as Tien Tsin is not a favorable locality for the receipt of important news from Japan at first hand.

POINT OF TRANSFER
Of Chinese Railroad a Very Important Matter.

Golitsyn, Manchuria, Sept. 3.—The peace terms became known here today. The majority consider them offensive to Russian honor and dignity. It is not clear at what station the railroad is to be turned over to the Japanese, at Kwang Cheng Tse or Chantufu. This question is very important. If the turn over occurs at Kwang Cheng Tse, then Russia cedes to Japan a hundred miles of yet unoccupied line and likewise the only important locality of the province. From Chantufu start all the trade routes to the very rich Kirin province and still other important provinces of the Japanese to Kwang Cheng Tse, the complete possession of Chantufu would be very unduly advantageous for Russia. Kirin province which has supported the Russian army for six months would remain Russian, which would be particularly advantageous because the southern portion of the province has no natural outlet. This and many other questions such as the Russian rights to maintain consular officials and commercial agents at Liaoning, Mukden, Port Arthur and Port Dainy should, it is claimed, be settled before the armies withdraw from their strategic positions. A high officer declared today that it would be impolitic to permit the Japanese to settle in Kwang Cheng Tse for fear in case of another war they could reach Harbin in fifty hours, occupy Kirin and cut Russia off from the Amur regions. It is announced by the Associated Press from Portsmouth, N. H., August 30, that the formal recognition of Japan's possession of the Chinese Eastern railroad below Kwang Cheng Tse involves the payment by Russia to China of a sum estimated at $75,000,000. This is the Chinese interest in the road and for it China must be remunerated.

CONDEMN GOVERNMENT.
Japs Pass Resolutions on the Peace Terms.

Tokio, Sept. 12.—A mass meeting at Osaka passed the following resolution without hindrance on the part of the police:

"The peace that has just been concluded between Russia and Japan forfeits the fruits of glory and sows the seeds of future complications and danger. The government's high-handed and unconstitutional measure has resulted in unexpected disturbance to the peace of the city in which the mikado resides. The empire's honor has been sold and the spirit of the constitution lost. Never has our country been brought to face greater danger, therefore, be it

NEGRO MESSENGER SIGNED NOTES FOR THE NEW YORK LIFE

Acted as "Dummy" In Transactions of Hundreds of Thousands.

"Dummy" Bonds a Common Thing In Financial Concerns.

Committee Say They Had No Record of Transaction.

New York, Sept. 12.—Inquiry into the methods pursued by life insurance companies was resumed today by the special legislative committee appointed for that purpose at the special session of the legislature last spring. Today's session was the fourth held by the committee, and the inquiry was resumed where it was broken off by adjournment on Saturday, when E. D. Randolph, treasurer of the New York Life, explained the transactions by which the New York Life disposed of assets objected to by the Prussian government.

The examination of Edmund D. Randolph, treasurer of the New York Life, was resumed when the session of the committee opened today. The removal of the preferred stock of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad from the assets of the company to satisfy the Prussian government, which was under consideration at the last session of the committee, was again taken up. Mr. Randolph testified, Friday, that when the insurance company had to remove the stock from the trust, it was turned over to the New York Trust company as collateral for a loan for which notes were given by George B. Marshall, a colored messenger, employed by the life insurance company at $600 a year. The trust company was owned by officials of the insurance company. Charles E. Hughes, counsel for the investigating committee, endeavored today to ascertain who authorized the transaction. Mr. Randolph was asked today to point out in the minutes of the finance committee the sale of the stock. The committee had no record of any "dummy" notes given by Marshall, or another messenger employed by the company. Mr. Randolph declared:

"It is a recognized custom in financial concerns to have dummy bonds. I am sorry the name of George Marshall was brought into ridicule. The transaction we carried it along for the property of the policy holders. The transfer of the Chicago & Northwestern preferred stock from the life insurance company to the trust company, which was also forced by the Prussian government, was also reviewed.

NORWAY AND SWEDEN
MAY YET HAVE WAR.

Christiania, Sept. 12.—The tone of the Norwegian newspapers indicates that the negotiations between the commissioners of Norway and Sweden regarding the dissolution of the union have reached an impasse. Norway being unable to accept the conditions laid down by Sweden. The Dagsblad, commenting on Sweden's refusal to discuss an arbitration treaty until Norway had accepted the Swedish conditions, declares that even war would be preferable to a peace bought at the expense of national humiliation.

EX-QUEEN LIL IS 70.
Honolulu, Sept. 5.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Ex-Queen Liluokalani celebrated her seventieth birthday on Sept. 2. A reception, attended by natives, was held at her home.

TURBINE STEAMER FLOATED.
Montreal, Sept. 12.—The Allan line turbine steamer Victoria was floated today and is on the way to Quebec, where she will be placed in dry dock. The Victorian ran aground on Sept. 2, humiliating peace agreement will be broken and the government will resign.

In accordance with established usages, the cabinet ministers have presented an official statement to the mikado, explaining the necessity of instituting martial law at the capital, and at the same time asking the imperial judgment as to whether they should remain in office or retire. The emperor's reply, which was made yesterday, advises them to retain their respective posts.

ELUSIVE PAT CROWE VISITS IN LINCOLN

Calls at Bryan's Commoner Office and Later Disappears.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 12.—Pat Crowe, the noted outlaw, who has been wanted for several years on a charge of kidnapping the son of Edward Cudahy in Omaha, was in Lincoln yesterday and talked for half an hour with Richard Metcalfe, associate editor of William J. Bryan's Commoner. Crowe was in Lincoln but a short time, and then, as is his custom, he disappeared just before the police heard of his presence here. Frank Gallagher, a local newspaper man, had been asked by the Lincoln police to inform them if Crowe called on him. The local police received their "tip" from Omaha. Crowe entered the Commoner office while several gentlemen who knew him were there, and asked to see Metcalfe alone. They talked for some time, and then Crowe disappeared. There is now no reward for him, and the police could only file a charge of vagrancy if they caught him.

CRUSADE BEGINS AGAINST EMPLOYMENT OF CHILDREN

St. Paul, Sept. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—A crusade against child labor which they say will probably result in the extinction of that form of violation of the law, and escort many prominent business men who are child employers to the police court on a criminal charge, will be begun in earnest today by Factory Inspectors Lewis P. Torgeson and Frank W. Murray, who will swear out warrants for the arrest of employers in several well-known commercial establishments of Minneapolis. The inspectors are working under the instructions of W. H. Williams, state labor commissioner, who has given orders that a crusade be started which will in time take every child from every known business establishment. Orders have been given to the labor commissioner that department stores, theaters, messenger corporations, grocery stores and all establishments employing boys be thoroughly investigated and that every boy under 16 years be sent back to school and his employer arrested.

These instructions imply not only that employers who work boys throughout the day be arrested on a criminal charge, but that employers, such as theater managers who employ boys in the evening only, be charged the same and made to answer to a crime.

LIGHTNING VISITS CAR SHOPS

Minneapolis, Sept. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—A bolt of lightning which entered the shop office at the thirty-first street car barn set the building afire at midnight last night, entailing a loss which totals about $5,000.

Night Foreman Brinker, who was in the main car barn at the time the fire was started, became aware of the flames through the window. Rushing to the shops he entered in business, intending to get to the office and turn on the lights, that he might learn the origin of the fire.

Fortunately for Brinker, however, he never reached the switchboard, for the lights were turned on, but was stricken to the ground by an electrified wire in the shops. Had he reached the switchboard he would in all likelihood have been electrocuted. As it was, he gained his feet and reached the office in time to get the fire department. The fire was extinguished in about five minutes, but none was seriously injured. The damage is covered in most part by insurance.

A HOLY WAR.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 12.—A holy war has been proclaimed in the Caucasian districts of Zangezur and Jevabul, where Tartars are massacring the Armenians without distinction of sex or age. The country is swarming with their chiefs. Many thousands of Tartar horsemen have crossed the Perso-Russian frontier and joined the insurgents in destroying Armenian villages. At the village of Minkend 300 Armenians were slaughtered. Dispatches say that mutilated children were thrown to the dogs, and that the few survivors were forced to embrace Islamism in order to save their lives.

Naphtal firms are cut off from the delivery of oil fuel to the shipping companies, which are now confronted with the necessity of suspending their services and discharging their employees, which would result in leaving thousands with no means of subsistence.

The salt works at Baskinchak have been obliged to close owing to the scarcity of fuel, and this will paralyze the fishing industry.

This, Sept. 12.—A hundred Social Democrats were killed or wounded today in a conflict with Cossacks at the town hall, and many were trampled to death in a subsequent panic. Two thousand Social Democrats had forced an entrance into the town hall, which was closed owing to the celebration of a religious holiday, celebrating the beheading of John the Baptist. Revolutionary speeches were made, and the chief of police ordered them to disperse. Part of the crowd obeyed, but the remainder refused, and some revolvers were fired. A large force of Cossacks, drawn up outside the building, then fired a volley into the crowd, and time again, killing thirty and wounding upwards of seventy. In the

DESPERATE FIGHT WITH A BURGLAR

Prominent Woman Seriously Shot ---The Robber Escapes.

Greenwich, Conn., Sept. 12.—Mrs. C. W. Morell, daughter of E. C. Converse of New York, an officer of the United States Steel company, was shot by a burglar who entered her residence here early today. The bullet struck her chin, shattering the jaw bone and imbedding itself in her shoulder.

About 2:30 a. m. a nurse who has a room on the second floor of the Morell home was awakened by a flash from the burglar's lantern, and she screamed, and the man attacked her with his revolver, breaking two of her fingers. A woman guest of Mrs. Morell heard the screams and when she entered the nurse's room, the burglar, who was still struggling with the nurse, fired a shot, but the bullet went high and struck the ceiling. At this juncture, Mrs. Morell appeared on the scene and the man aimed at her, the bullet taking effect as described. The burglar dashed through the door and escaped.

Several hours later a man was arrested at the Greenwich railroad station on suspicion of being the burglar. He said he had been at the Morell residence to see the cook last evening, but he denied any knowledge of the assault.

The Morells were in the city for the night of Aug. 8, on her trip here from Laysan Island. He was a Japanese member of the crew and died clutching the wheel. He was found still holding it and the vessel, though greatly damaged by a hurricane which is supposed to have caused her to drift from overboard, reached port in safety.

The Woodbury is the schooner for which the United States tug Ironsides recently left here to search, when she was long overdue from Laysan. It was found that she had put back after the vessel, which was in command, says that his vessel was swept along at the rate of nine knots an hour without a stitch of canvas on her. He gave up hope of saving her and said goodbye to Captain Schlemmer of the Laysan, who was a passenger. But the vessel was knocked away to keep the decks clear of water and oil was poured on the ocean. The schooner ran for five days and nights before she was sighted, but the captain being able to take an observation by either sun, moon or stars.

The Japanese who died complained of feeling unwell when he took his place as steersman, and he asked a companion to stand by him for a time. No one saw him die. He was found dead and stiff and holding the wheel as when alive. He had fallen forward, but his hands held on and the vessel was holding her course fairly well.

MOTORMAN SAID TO HAVE BEEN RECKLESS DURING WHOLE TRIP

New York, Sept. 12.—Detectives continued scouring the city for Paul Kelly, the missing motorman of the Ninth avenue elevated train which jumped the track yesterday at Fifty-third street junction and in the second car and severe injuries to a large number. To all appearances, Kelly has made good his escape. A story reached the police last night that his sweetheart had managed, during the afternoon, to draw Kelly's money from a savings bank.

The motorman was a strike breaker who entered the company's employ six months ago. He came here from St. Louis. According to some of the passengers on the ill-fated train things went wrong with the motorman from the beginning of his trip down town. At Fifty-third street, he started the train with such a jerk that a woman carrying a baby was thrown down and the side of the first car and the baby was hurt. Kelly came out of the motor box to see whether she was badly injured, and a number of men passengers spoke to him with some roughness, which he resented. The passengers assert that the train continued its course down town with sudden stops and starts, which caused much alarm long before the accident.

No additions to the casualty list were reported during the night. There remained in Roosevelt hospital two injured, and in Bellevue hospital five. Twenty-two others had been treated and sent to their homes.

ELECTRICITY KILLS ONE AND INJURES TWO MEN.

Waterbury, Conn., Sept. 12.—Joseph Ring of this place was killed, Edward Saun, residence unknown, was injured, and John Ross, who was the first to come in contact with the dangerous wire. Ross received the full force of the current, but will probably recover.

A strange feature of the accident is that Ring and Saun received their injuries in rescuing Ross who was the first to come in contact with the dangerous wire. Ross received the full force of the current, but will probably recover.

SHIP TAKES FIRE

Which Causes an Explosion of Her After Magazine.

Sinks at Once, Carrying Men to Watery Grave.

Was One of Most Noted Battleships During War.

Tokio, Sept. 12, 2 p. m.—The navy department announces that the battleship Mikasa has been destroyed by fire and the explosion of her magazine causing the loss of 599 lives including men of other ships who went to the rescue.

The fire started from an unknown cause at midnight on Sunday night, Sept. 10. Before the officers could be rescued the fire reached the aft magazine, which exploded a hole in the port side of the vessel below the water line and causing the ship to sink.

An investigation is now being held to determine the cause of the fire. The Mikasa was a first-class battleship of 16,200 tons displacement. She was built in England, and was launched in 1902. The battleship was 400 feet long, had a speed of over eighteen knots, and carried a crew of 935 officers and men.

She was heavily armored, and carried four 12-inch guns, fourteen 6-inch guns, twenty 12-pounders, and a number of smaller rapid fire guns. She had four submerged torpedo tubes.

The Mikasa was the flagship of the Japanese navy, flying the flag of the Admiral Togo, the commander-in-chief. She was present at all the principal engagements during the war and was on several occasions reported severely damaged in action. In the battle of the sea of Japan she led the fleet, and in connection with some of the most stirring events of this famous sea fight.

In this battle the Mikasa was the heaviest loser of all the Japanese ships, having sixty-three killed and wounded. She approached nearer to the Russians than any other battleship.

The Mikasa was also the flagship of Admiral Togo after the great naval battle fought off Port Arthur on Aug. 10, 1904, on which occasion the Japanese flag was also captured by the Russians, but continued in the fighting line. On that occasion the Mikasa had four officers and twenty-nine men killed, six officers and twenty-nine men severely wounded, and four officers and twenty-nine men slightly wounded.

ROBBERY

May Have Been the Object of Thompson Murder.

New York, Sept. 12.—Although half a dozen detectives have been continuously engaged on the case, no progress has been made in running down the murderer of Jacob J. Thompson, an auctioneer and editor of this city, who met his death Thursday night. How a man without an enemy could be brutally assaulted and robbed in a quiet hotel, such as the one where Mr. Thompson lived and without attracting the slightest attention from the occupants of rooms on both sides of the apartment in which the tragedy occurred, is something which puzzles the understanding of the police. Something in the nature of substantiation of the theory that the murder was merely for the purpose of robbery and that the deed was done by some one familiar with the conditions inside the hotel, was obtained last night when it was learned that within the last six weeks two robberies occurred in the hotel.

TWO OPERATIONS

Performed on Richard Mansfield, the Actor.

New York, Sept. 12.—Richard Mansfield, the actor, is just recovering from the effects of two very delicate and serious surgical operations, according to an announcement made by the Herald today. The first, which was performed three weeks ago, failed to relieve Mr. Mansfield, and another was decided on last Wednesday, when the actor underwent a trying ordeal at the hands of the surgeons who were called to his New London, Conn., home.

For several years Mr. Mansfield has been a sufferer from nervousness brought on by a grave intestinal disorder that grew steadily worse. Three weeks ago his condition became so serious that his New London physician decided on the necessity of an operation.

The second one was a very delicate and successful and the actor is now progressing rapidly toward recovery.

RANCHMAN KILLED.
Helena, Mont., Sept. 12.—Aaron Connor, ranch member of the state legislature, and rancher of Missoula county, met with an accident while riding his horse near Hamilton a few days ago by being struck on the head with a piece of fly-rope which he was holding. He died instantly.

DULUTH WEATHER REPORT—Fair tonight and Wednesday. Cooler tonight with frost. Fresh to brisk northerly winds.

President Roosevelt

recently made this statement in Chicago:

"Back of the city stands the state; and back of the state stands the nation."

We can think of no better way to compel your attention to the statements made in our advertisements than to paraphrase the president's remark and say to you:

"Back of every assertion made in our advertising stands the reputation as well as the reliability of this house; and back of this house stand the foremost clothes-makers of whom we purchase our merchandise."

It is with this understanding that we hereby announce that our men's suits for fall and winter surpass anything we have ever been able to show previous to this season; but that in spite of the splendid improvement, the price (to you) has not increased one penny.

Our Suit Prices run from $6.50 to $30.00.

Crackmen Secure $240

By Robbing Store

at Manvel.

NORTH DAKOTA.

Grand Forks—Some time in the night the safe in the general store of E. G. Bonifas at Manvel, this county, was blown open and checks and cash to the value of $240 taken. Entrance to the building was gained by the use of tools stolen from a local blacksmith shop, and the safe was blown open with nitro-glycerin or dynamite. Citizens heard two distinct explosions, but credited them to belated chickens, and the robbery was not discovered until the store was opened in the morning. A clock over the safe stopped at 2 o'clock.

Rev. J. Christman, the divine healer who has been at Grand Forks several months, where he made some miraculous cures, according to all accounts, delivered two lectures at the Metropolitan theater on divine healing. He is stopping at a local hotel, and will remain in Grand Forks several weeks, during his stay in Grand Forks he visited the city of Grand Forks, and the railroad men found the run through that city one of the hardest on the line.

Several hundred dollars in an envelope, the large number of crimples to be taken care of on the train.

Chicago—North Dakota loses its pioneer editor and one of its public officials in Col. G. A. Lounsbury, who leaves this week for Washington, where he has been assigned to duty in the general land office. The colonel edited the first paper in the state at Bismarck and was famous for years as a political and Indian correspondent.

The police are watching for the safe-breakers who burglarized the postoffice at Christine. The safe was dynamited and $40 in cash secured. The thieves overtook several hundred dollars in an envelope.

There is another session between the Fargo street railway and the business men over the construction of a switch track in the central business district. It is being put in to relieve the congestion on Broadway. A special meeting of the city council was called to hear protests, but a quorum was not present.

With his time in jail almost up, Frank Zukle, a blindfolded man who had been a "trustee," could not stand it any longer and skipped. He was captured near Georgetown, Minn., by a constable, who was given a $25 reward.

After being barred from sales in the state some time, the representatives of the Horchle company are here endeavoring to make their peace with Pure Food Commissioner Ladd. His objections to the goods were because of the large amount of wood alcohol. This, it is supposed, will be remedied.

The decomposed remains of August E. Yohansson were found in the Red river here Saturday afternoon, and identified.

IT PROVES THEY WANT NOTHING TO COME

Manager Case Says Semi-Nebraska Germans to Annual Report Plan Start a Settlement Is Poor. Near Payne.

Statement of Department Advance Guard Has Al- to Council For Half ready Bought Land— Year. Party Coming.

The rule of the charter requiring semi-annual reports of the condition of the city's gas and water plant is commented on by L. N. Case, the manager, in his latest report to the board of water and light commissioners, just out, as compelling a statement that does not show fairly what the department is doing. The semi-annual system is unfair, because the first half of the year is always that of the largest expenditures and the smallest receipts. In giving examples of this, he says:

"In 1904 a very large reduction was made in both water and gas rates, and the first six months of the year showed a deficit of $1,200, while the year's operations showed a net increase of $7,125 of receipts over expenditures. He also cited other years showing the same condition."

Mr. Case also calls the attention of the board to the fact that the reduction in rates both for water and gas makes a great difference when the figures for this year's business are compared with those of former years. In speaking of this, Mr. Case says:

"Gas rates in 1904 were 50 cents per 100 cubic feet for all consumption, and during the present year 30 cents for light and 75 cents for fuel, an average of 53 cents. The receipts for gas were $2,928, which at the rate of 1904 would have amounted to $2,616.30, an increase of $312.68, or 24 1/2 per cent. A reduction was also made in the water rates, amounting in the first half of the year to 10 per cent and in meter rates to 30 per cent."

According to Mr. Case's report the difference made by the reduction in rates proper of the department are:

Gas rates	$42,815.33	$39,849.84
Water rates, meter	$5,709.39	$3,324.24
Water rates, flat	$1,842.90	$1,961.04
Real estate, revenue	$32.00	$77.50
Water services	$23.87	$121.10
Gas services	$6.50	$3.06
Plumbers' licenses	$9.50	$2.00
Hydrant rentals	$1,018.46	$782.50
Tax levy	$744.15	$3,113.00
Gas and pumping	$2.00	$1.25
Accrued interest	$1,633.39	$611.11

Total $112,829.52 $110,970.67
In estimating the increase of business for the month of September, the manager of the preceding year, the decrease in rates are as follows:

The reduction in gas rates	$2,656.72
The reduction in water meter	$1,239.02
The reduction in water flat rates	$2,095.85
Making a total of	$5,991.59
To this add the actual increase	$2,735.44
In receipts	$2,356.85

Making the total increase $2,735.44

The report of the board of water and light commissioners to the common council, is as follows:

"The work of laying the water and gas pipes that was contracted at the beginning of the season is progressing as rapidly as the weather permits. It is expected that the work to be completed before cold weather sets in will be completed within a few weeks, but the crossing of the canal cannot be made until the spring."

The pipes are already laid under the work, and the new reservoir is under construction. The new reservoir is to be built on the site of the old one, and will be completed by October 15, and work on it is progressing rapidly.

The board deemed it wise to build a reservoir of ten rather than five millions of gallons of water, and to build a larger water storage capacity should be provided for the city. The board also decided to build a larger water storage capacity should be provided for the city.

HERO OF BIG POKER GAME

On Atlantic Liner Was Norman B. Ream of Chicago.

Toledo, Ohio, Sept. 12.—Norman B. Ream of Chicago and New York, it develops, was the hero of the big poker game that started in the middle of the Atlantic about a week ago, which was told in dispatches from New York.

George Westinghouse, the man who invented the electric light, and the honest man recently selected by Thomas F. Ryan as the head of the three trustees of the Erie Railroad, were the players in the game.

arrived yesterday, and more are expected during the week. We promise you that when all our purchases are here, there will be no Boys' and Children's Department in Minneapolis or St. Paul better equipped than the second floor of The Columbia at Duluth.

It is a far-seeing policy that prompts us to pay so much attention to the boys and to sell them the best clothes to be had at the lowest possible prices. We don't care about making money in the Boys' Department, but we want to win the trade and the confidence of the young folks, so that they will be good and true Columbia customers when they grow up and earn money of their own.

Come in and have a chat with us about the new styles, and see the pretty new garments now ready for your inspection. Come whether you are ready to buy or not—look around, boys, and if you see anything you like, tell mother about it.

Two-piece suits—$1.05 to $10.00.
 Norfolk and Blouse Suits—$2.50 to $12.00.
 Long Trousler Suits—$5.00 to $20.00.

SOME FAMOUS BELLS.

There is a bell at Washington, D. C., whose history dates back to the very beginning of modern civilization on this continent, says Leslie's Weekly. It is a trifling affair, as regards size, its dimensions being only 8 by 6 1/2 inches, yet its notes have sounded to call the great discoverer Columbus to prayer and worship. It was brought from Spain in December, 1493, and set up in a church at San Domingo. It was the special of King Ferdinand, and bears the initial of his name, "F." In old Gothic characters upon its surface, When La Vega, the new city of the plains, was founded, church and bell were bodily removed to it.

Among the largest and most complete chimes in the United States is the one hanging in the bell tower of Holy Trinity church, Philadelphia. Most chimes are made up of from

PIKE LAKE SALOON LICENSE REFUSED

Commissioners Decline to Permit Sale of Liquor There.

Conditions at That Place Well Aired Before County Board.

The death knell of the saloon project for Pike Lake has been sounded by the county commissioners. All the morning the commissioners deliberated over the matter, hearing both sides, and when the body adjourned for the noon recess the issue was left with a committee.

When the board reconvened this afternoon the committee reported unfavorably on the applications for liquor licenses made by Joseph Stover and J. J. Torgerson. This practically ends the controversy over the saloons at Canosa, at the north end of the lake.

The larger portion of the morning session of the commissioners was given over to a discussion of the moral atmosphere about the north end of Pike Lake, in the town of Canosa, due to the presence of blind pigs and establishments where virtue is an unknown quantity.

Against the application of Stover seeks to have licensed would be within 1,500 feet of the schoolhouse. Torgerson's proposed saloon would be something over three-quarters of a mile from the schoolhouse and at a considerable distance from the lake. A petition signed by about forty of the settlers sets forth that such an establishment would be a proper thing for the reason that it would cause the shutting up of the so-called blind pigs, for no person will pay a license to sell liquor and permit any other person in the community to dispense booze without a license.

Besides receiving the petitions and affidavits, the board was waited on by a delegation of Duluth property owners at Pike Lake, and a number of citizens from that locality, who expressed their sentiments.

On the other hand, Henry Hanson, one of the school district officers at Pike Lake, claimed that the town authorities were hand in glove with the alleged blind piggers and intimated that their graft out of it consisted in free drinks.

C. Poirier of this city, who takes his family out to Pike Lake every summer for an outing, first protested against the granting of a license. He argued that the property owners are against a licensed saloon, but that if the board really believed that such a place would have the effect of bettering conditions and shut up the blind pigs, they would favor the grant of a license to a responsible party. He held that popular sentiment does not favor either Stover or Torgerson as proper persons to have licenses.

Commissioner Fred Kugler said he had been investigating the condition at Pike Lake, and expressed his opinion that neither of the applicants should be granted licenses. One of them, he said, is backed by a woman, and the other has no backing at all.

Leg Ball, a Duluth attorney, whose family spends the summer at Pike Lake, said that the hotels, postoffice, school, and telephone exchange are all situated at the north end of the lake, while a number of people having improved places to reside on the south side. The men, he said, are compelled to come to Duluth during the week to attend their business, leaving their wives and children alone. It is necessary for them to go to the postoffice, the telephone station and the store on numerous occasions, and in doing so Mr. Ball alleges, they have been witnesses of things that ought not to be allowed to exist. He argued that if a license were granted, the tendency of the person holding it would be to run the saloon without restraint, and to the detriment of the community.

get all the money he could regardless of the conditions that might follow. He claimed that without any license operative, the persons who may sell liquor on the quiet are interested in preventing drunken persons from showing themselves, and besides the places would be conducted illegally, and the people would have a remedy in the law. Mr. Ball also took the position that if the board insisted on having a licensed saloon, the permission should be given to the right sort of a person, if such can be found, and not to either of the two men who have applied.

W. W. Sanford, another Duluth attorney, spoke along practically the same line as Mr. Ball. He said more and more people are going out to Pike Lake, and that things certainly need a cleaning up, and the place should be run in a more orderly manner.

E. J. Swanson, a property owner at the lake, called attention to the fact that persons have been prosecuted time and again for running blind pigs at Pike Lake, but that the practice seemed to continue. He said that the only difference appeared to be that the prosecutions had made them a little more cautious, and that at one place the liquor sign has been painted over by the board, and the people are still running blind pigs.

Frank McComber, a farmer told of carousals participated in by women as well as men. He expressed the belief that the board would solve the problem, if it were located far enough from the village and the schoolhouse. Henry Hanson, another Pike Lake farmer, said he signed the petition for a saloon, not because he believed in such places, but because he thought a legalized saloon would tend to shut up the blind pigs. He declared that the people would like to see a place where the law would be right in with the applicant, Stover.

Commissioner Kauppi stated that while he did not like to see a saloon at Pike Lake in the absence of police protection, he would not want a license some responsible man so long as the settlers there have indicated by their petition that they want a licensed saloon. He did not favor a saloon near the schoolhouse or the village.

A. Jordan, a Pike Lake resident, said that it was a matter of general knowledge that blind pigs have been operated there, and said the people desire to shut them off. He voiced the opinion of others in stating that a licensed saloon would probably solve the problem, if it could be situated far enough from the schoolhouse. He told the county commissioners that if they would license a saloon, the people would be satisfied.

The board of supervisors of the town went on record in a communication in which they gave it out that they favored a license to a responsible party, and insisted that they have assisted the county attorney in his prosecution. He said that when he wanted a license he would go to the board, and did not have to come to Duluth after it. Mr. Jordan also advanced an argument that the town of Canosa requires a license for a saloon, and that it would like to raise it in a legitimate way.

Following the discussion the board went into regular session. Notice was received from County Attorney McClinck that the county appeals to district court the decision of the board to refuse a license to Stover and Torgerson. The appeal was filed August 10, allowing a certain period of time for the board to reconsider its decision. The board's decision was to refuse a license to Stover and Torgerson, and to allow a license to a responsible party.

John Slossom, a farmer residing in Canosa, expressed his opinion that neither of the applicants should be granted licenses. One of them, he said, is backed by a woman, and the other has no backing at all. He argued that the property owners are against a licensed saloon, but that if the board really believed that such a place would have the effect of bettering conditions and shut up the blind pigs, they would favor the grant of a license to a responsible party.

Charles E. Swanson, auditor of heretofore county, Minn., asked that his county be reimbursed by St. Louis for the expense of examination of Ellen Rody and her commitment to the state insane asylum. The claim is made that she is a resident of this county. The expense referred to is $23.35. The matter is being investigated by the county attorney's office.

L. Hammel & Company notified the board that one of the firm's fancy driving horses broke through a bridge on the Pike Lake road, and that the county would be held for the damage done as soon as it can be determined.

Twenty taxpayers in the unorganized town of 6218 have petitioned the board to organize the town under the name of Angora.

Peter E. Nichols and twelve other taxpayers in school district No. 5, in township 51-14 have asked for the return of a new district out of a portion of the old one. They claim to have forty-four children of the school age in the portion that is asked to be set aside for a new district.

The reports filed with the auditor from the various county officers were as follows:
 Clerk of court, receipts, $501.15; sheriff, receipts, $334.60; disbursements, $501.57; register of deeds, receipts, $769.31; registrar of titles, receipts, $50.
 The board adjourned until 1 o'clock this afternoon.

A WOMAN JOCKEY.

Nervy Owner Rode Her Horse To Victory.

Like the conception of a writer of melodrama is the true story of a woman who rode her horse to victory. The story is that of a woman who rode her horse to victory. The story is that of a woman who rode her horse to victory. The story is that of a woman who rode her horse to victory.

The brilliant and novel feat was witnessed by thousands of delighted spectators, who were prepared for this impromptu feature of the program. Two men in a gallop, the fair jockey wrestled from her more experienced male competitors.

Come at once, McManara can't ride Moorish Dance. Bring riding clothes. That was the message Mrs. Egan received at her home from her husband. Afterward I went to Island Park track, Albany, and met with good success.

In the riding I asked no odds and received none. In one heat I was disqualified on the charge that I had tried to crowd one of the jockeys off the track. All I was doing was trying to keep him from crowding me off. The judges decided against me and I lost the heat, but I came out all right, because I took the next two heats and won the race.

Once I had some rough experiences with one of the jockeys. He intentionally jockeyed me with his horse twice, and I think tried to put me out of the race by crowding me off the track. He apologized afterward, and taking it all in all, I think I have been treated very fairly.

I value Moorish Dance at $150 and I propose to race her until I get back all the money that I have invested in her. If I had not won the first race at Liberty, N. Y., my husband was there and I was at home. All went well up to the last minute, when my jockey failed me. The stake money was up, and it was at that moment my husband said to me, "I had some rough experiences with one of the jockeys. He intentionally jockeyed me with his horse twice, and I think tried to put me out of the race by crowding me off the track. He apologized afterward, and taking it all in all, I think I have been treated very fairly."

When I appeared on the track I caused a sensation. I know, I was a woman, and I was riding a horse. At the grand stand a round of applause greeted me, and the crowd was on its feet. It inspired me with confidence. I got a good start, and amid cheers and hand clapping, we were off.

But I was not in the least frightened. I was a woman, and I was riding a horse. At the grand stand a round of applause greeted me, and the crowd was on its feet. It inspired me with confidence. I got a good start, and amid cheers and hand clapping, we were off.

On and on we flew, and I was well in the front. But, of course, could not tell when one of the other ten horses might step up on me, and maybe fringe round. But I didn't give up hope and confidence for a single second.

Pretty soon the colors of the grandstand blazed in my eyes, and I realized that the race was about the end. I urged Moorish Dance with a gentle touch of the whip and a few words of encouragement, and then the cries of delight rang in my ears and I knew I had won.

I was very, very happy, because I wanted to win that race very much. The other riders had the advantage of me in weight, as I tipped the scales at 115 pounds.

ABSOLUTE ORDER

Against Remarriage of Divorced People Adopted
In Canada.

Bishop Morrison of Duluth Attended Synod
at Quebec.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—The Record-Herald says: Divorce and remarriage, a question which for years has caused bitter strife in the Episcopal church in the United States, has reached a solution in Canada. Hereafter no clergyman owning obedience to the Church of England in Canada, can solemnize marriage when a divorced person is involved, so long as the other party to the divorce is living.

The innocency of the person seeking to contract marriage is not to be taken into consideration, according to the new canon, adopted by the Canadian general synod at Quebec, at midnight Saturday. The law of the church is rigid and bishops and priests alike are shorn of any power of discretion.

So late advanced movement the Canadian branch of the Episcopal church is the pioneer. No such action has been taken by any other church in the world, except the Roman Catholic, although the question has been decided twice in the conventions of the Episcopal church in this country within the last four years.

The present canon of the American Episcopal church permits ministers, in their discretion, to marry the innocent party to a divorce granted on statutory grounds. It goes without saying that the action of the Canadian church will attract widespread attention and give impetus to the further efforts of those churchmen in this country who have been fighting for an absolute prohibition canon on the subject of divorce and remarriage. The effort, twice unsuccessful, will be renewed at the next general convention in the United States, which will be held in Richmond, Va., in the fall of 1907.

The general synod of the Dominion of Canada represents every diocese and part of that country from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from the American boundary to the Atlantic ocean. On the consideration of the divorce question, the bishops were unanimous, nineteen of them being present. Only eight of the clergy opposed the prohibitive canon, but there was a narrow escape from defeat in the majority of the house of deputies, the majority in favor being only nine.

All day Saturday a strong fight was waged in the synod between the contending forces. It is interesting to note that permission should be given as previously for the remarriage of the innocent party to a divorce. The argument of those opposing the proposed new canon was that there was grave injustice in punishing the innocent along with the guilty.

But arguments that satisfied the supporters of the most rigid rules within the synod, bishops prominent in the American church had crossed the border to participate in the synod at Quebec, in the United States, and even laymen from this side of the boundary line had come to the aid of the Canadian church.

The pronounced interest of these outsiders doubtless was owing to the belief that drastic action by the Canadian church would have a decided influence on the next Episcopal convention in the United States.

There were two especially convincing arguments, aside from a general assertion that there really is no such thing as an innocent party in cases of divorce. One was that regarding the facility with which Canadians obtain divorces and then remarry in that country, and the other pertained to a large number of Americans who have been divorced in the states and cross the border to marry again.

Many instances were related during the debate to show abuses that had grown up in the United States, and the Canadian church declared its intention to put an end to the "divorce party" plan. The extremely short time within which divorced persons, appearing in the United States, were permitted to marry in many instances was cited as ground for the contention that the only consistent way for the church to act is to draw the line according to the strictest interpretation of the Scriptures.

Rev. Daniel S. Pottle of Missouri, the senior bishop of the church in this country, and Bishops Doane of Albany, and Morrison of Duluth, were the government spokesmen. The Canadian church was represented by George C. Thomas of Philadelphia, to the effect that an American bishop had informed him that he dissolved ten times as many marriages as any Canadian minister.

MATES FINED FOR ASSAULT

Officers on Steamer Administered Summary Punishment.

Accused of assaulting two seamen, Albert Laher and Robert Polang, the first and second mates on the steamer Philip Munch, were arraigned in the municipal court before Judge Windom this morning.

According to the evidence of the case, the two seamen, whose names are Murphy and Westberg, deserted the steamer on her last trip to Duluth, while she was lying at the elevators. Later, when the steamer had been moved to the ore docks to load, the two men appeared, partly intoxicated, and demanded their pay. A quarrel ensued, during which one of the seamen picked up an axe and threatened to strike the mates. He was disarmed and knocked down, and after getting their money from the captain, the two men left the boat.

On reaching the docks they attempted to have thrown down lumps of ore at the mates, and the latter climbed up on the dock and gave chase. They overtook the men and administered a sound thrashing, as a result of which the two seamen were rather badly used up.

After hearing the evidence Judge Windom stated that while the men were technically guilty of an assault, he did not think they had gone farther than any ordinary workmen would have gone under the circumstances, and released them with a nominal fine of $1 and costs. The court heard evidence from the many witnesses, amounted to about $20.

CANDIDATES ARE RESIGNING

Withdraw From Ticket of the Philadelphia Organization.

Philadelphia, Sept. 12.—Chairman Miles of the Republican city committee, today received letters from the Republican organization candidates for the county offices to be voted for at the November election, withdrawing from the ticket. The candidates who withdrew are: Harry C. Ransley, candidate for sheriff; John B. Lukens, candidate for coroner; Hugh Black and Jacob Wildemore, candidates for county commissioner. A special meeting of the Republican city campaign committee will be held to fill the vacancies caused by the withdrawals.

Ransley is president of the select council and is one of the local Republican leaders. Lukens, Black and Wildemore are ward leaders and prominent in the councils of the party. They were nominated by the regular Republican convention held some time previous to May or Wednesday of last year.

Since then a committee of twenty-one citizens have endeavored to secure the nomination of an entire new ticket for the purpose of securing reform within the party.

The City party, a reform organization, and the Democratic party have announced their opposition to the ticket that may be named by the organization. The committee of twenty-one is composed of the Republican city committee for the purpose of selecting new candidates for the Republican ticket.

WARRANTS OUT

Several Grocers to Be Arrested For Selling Adulterated Goods.

Lemon Extract and Maraschino Cherries Contain Poisonous Matter.

Lemon extract containing wood alcohol, and Maraschino cherries containing coal tar and salicylic acid will cause the arrest of a number of local grocers, for which warrants have been sworn out by Harris Bennett, the local food and dairy inspector.

According to the claim of the inspector, some of the lemon extract sold in the city contains a large percentage of wood alcohol, and that the poison is in sufficient quantities to endanger the lives of those who eat food flavored with the extract. Samples of the extract were sent to the state laboratory to be analyzed, and the report of the state analyst shows the presence of salicylic acid was also discovered by the state analyst.

The Maraschino cherries sold in a number of stores, and served with soft drinks, are claimed to be colored with a preparation of coal tar dyes, which is very injurious, if not poisonous. The presence of salicylic acid was also discovered by the state analyst.

The blackberry brandy which is offered for sale in the city is also claimed to contain some injurious adulterants, and its sale may cause the arrest of some salaried grocers.

Evidence has been secured against a number of grocers, and it is likely that six or eight of them will be arrested this afternoon for selling the lemon extract and the Maraschino cherries. The complaints were sworn out by the assistant city attorney, but the papers have not yet been served, and the grocers are not likely to be brought into court before a late hour this afternoon, or possibly tomorrow morning.

The lemon extract case is said to be the most aggravated one that has come to the notice of the inspectors. A well-known physician, when shown the analysis this morning, said that if wood alcohol were present in such quantities, it might easily prove very injurious, and perhaps fatal, to a person eating any quantity of food strongly flavored with the extract.

LONG RIDE FOR A MADSTONE

Oklahoma Horseman Puts In Forty Hours In Saddle.

Beaver, Okla., Sept. 12.—As the result of a bite from a cat which was supposed to have hydrophobia, a "ride for life" was undertaken by a horseman from Oklahoma. The horseman, who is a well-known physician, was riding for endurance, was made here. Mrs. John Turner, living a few miles from the town, was bitten by a cat. The cat was considered dangerous to apply a remedy, and it might easily prove very injurious, and perhaps fatal, to a person eating any quantity of food strongly flavored with the extract.

Perry Hills started on horseback for Guyton to secure the stone. He was accompanied by a friend, and stopped long enough at each place to change his saddle and bridle from one horse to another. On arriving at Guyton he found the stone was rather badly used up.

When he finally located the stone he was asked to put his hand for its removal. He was fortunate enough to have a friend, who helped him out of that difficulty, and he started for home, arriving after having been in the saddle for forty hours. He had stopped long enough in that time to eat but two meals.

The stone was applied to the lacerated wound, and the patient was taken to the hospital. The stone is resting well and no dangerous symptoms have developed.

New York, Sept. 12.—Baron Komura, the Japanese peace envoy, who is ill at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, was somewhat improved today, his fever being abated appreciably. He was still confined to his bed, however, and members of his suite said that he was in too weak and nervous condition to be shown the report from Rome, that his family had been assassinated.

Mr. Sato, the official spokesman of the Japanese party said that no dispatches had been received by the peace envoy which could furnish any ground for believing the reported misfortune, and added that the other members of the Japanese party considered the report to be entirely unfounded.

Notwithstanding his weakened condition the baron is determined to leave New York on Thursday, to begin his homeward trip as originally planned. The report of the assassination of the Japanese peace envoy, Mr. Sato said, would wait for fuller details before expressing any opinion.

Y. M. C. A. Takes Up Question of the Pro-

International Secretary Arrives to Confer With Executive Committee.

For the purpose of advising with the executive committee of the Young Men's Christian association in regard to the erection of the proposed $150,000 building, C. S. Ward of New York city, the field secretary of the international committee of the Y. M. C. A., arrived in Duluth this morning, and is registered at the Spaulding.

Mr. Ward has general supervision over the work of the association in the Central and Northwestern states, and in his position as field secretary has been directly interested in the movements for new buildings in many of the largest cities in the country.

Recently he has been largely instrumental in the success of the building projects in Washington, D. C., and Omaha, Neb. In Washington a building costing more than $300,000, has been erected, and is all paid for but $30,000. In Omaha, a building, costing $50,000, has been completed and largely paid for. These two buildings, which were completed within the last few months have been built largely as the result of Mr. Ward's efforts, or at least under his direction.

Mr. Ward comes to Duluth at the invitation of the building committee of the Duluth association, which consists of John Miller, chairman; F. E. House, Watson S. Moore, John D. Stryker and Secretary Phil Bevis. He will hold a conference with the association executive board this evening, and upon the result of that conference will depend the time and manner in which the campaign for a new building in Duluth will be launched.

Whether or not the time is ripe for such a movement will have to be decided by the committee, and also the amount of money which the association feels it is able to raise. The committee has not yet taken any definite action in regard to the new building, but it seems to be the opinion that the association should erect a structure, to cost from $150,000 to $200,000, in a central location in the city, in properly cared for the growing needs of the work here. Such a building would be about in line with those that are being constructed in other cities.

The association now has between 500 and 1,000 members in the men's department, and about 400 in the boys' department, making a total of about 1,400 members.

To provide proper club rooms and swimming tank and baths, for this number of members, and also to increase that will doubtless come with the new building, is the problem which confronts the executive committee, and the members are anxious to get Mr. Ward's views on just what is required, and how they should plan to get it.

The State Secretary will also be in the city and attend the meeting tonight.

Traction Company Makes Provision For Lakeside School Children.

For the convenience of the school children who have to come up town, the traction company has put an extra car on the Lakeside line, leaving Lakeside nine minutes after the regular car at 8:01.

Over the fact that no announcement was made, however, the regular car at 8:01 was crowded yesterday and today. Yesterday morning 128 passengers crowded into it, and this morning there were 134 for Lakeside. The car had to pass many people on the corners between Lakeside and the city.

The 8:10 car, which runs five days in the week will get the children to school in plenty of time, and not compel them to idle about the streets for half an hour or fifteen minutes before school opens. If all the children would take it, the children would not be overburdened as it was this morning, and nobody would be compelled to stand in a car and watch the car whiz by without stopping.

Document Produced When Injured Woman Has Admirer Arrested.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 12.—"I hereby agree to take and protect Mrs. A. Couchoud and make her my wife as soon as she obtains a divorce from her present husband. All moneys belonging to me and all receipts I receive from my business at the fair grounds shall be deposited at the bank in the name of Mrs. Couchoud. Sincerely, Charles Williams, Proprietor American Hotel, Portland."

When the man who drew up the above original document appeared in the police court he declared his real name to be Charles Burke and he remarked to the magistrate when called upon to explain a charge of embezzlement brought against him by Mrs. A. Couchoud:

"Oh, it was just a bull, judge. I was giving 'her a little kiddin' to make a touch."

Mrs. Couchoud has an employment agency at 217 Powell street. Some time ago Burke appeared there and told Mrs. Couchoud that he had a well-paying hotel at Portland at the exposition and that he was in need of waitresses. He dallied there for some time after telling his business, talking away nothing into the ears of the waiting lady. The very next day he came again, and with the impetuosity that characterizes young lovers he explained, Mrs. Couchoud testified:

"Yesterday I was attracted to you. New I love you. Let us get married."

Then, says Mrs. Couchoud, in the ardent courtship which followed she gave the young man a ring—reversed the usual procedure—and also $300, in return for which he gave her the promissory note on future matrimony quoted above.

A few days ago, having lost faith in Burke, or Williams, she had him arrested. Burke admitted that he had been only a gay deceiver and had taken advantage of a trusting woman. He was given a term in jail to alter his ways.

Football League Among Grade Schools Will Be Organized.

Boys' Department Cabinet Holds First Meeting of Year.

A football league will be organized in the grade schools of the city under the same plan adopted by the baseball league last spring, and the teams from the different schools will compete for a championship cup.

This was decided upon at a meeting of the cabinet of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. last evening.

It was the first meeting of the new cabinet, and the organization for the coming year was effected. Ray Penton was chosen as chairman, Verne Claypool as vice, and Charles Bradley as secretary. The following members were then appointed to the different committees:

Sunday club committee: Edward Borger and David Duncan. Bible study: Willis Hamblin and August McConaghy. Social and house committee: Harwood Sturtevant and Charles Bradley. Music: Willis Burris and Gilbert Ketchum. Educational and club: Charles McLenahan and William Eklund. Entertainment: Verne Claypool and David Frodin. Athletic and gymnasium: Ray Penton and Philip Helmich.

Those appointed on the committees will meet during the week to select eight members for each committee. A meeting of all the members will then be held on Sept. 22 at the boys' department building, when a banquet will be given and addresses delivered by prominent association men.

The Sunday meetings will commence this coming Sunday. The Sunday club, which is for the older boys, will be addressed by Rev. Roderick J. Mooney on "The Message of a Poignant Sin."

The first meeting of the "Knights of Sir Galahad," which is the club for the younger boys, will be held at Corn Street Jim, or James Martin, a well-known evangelist, will address the boys. At last night's meeting, Secretary Norman D. McLeod extolled the appreciation of the association for the work done by Charles McLenahan, the retiring president for two years, and is succeeded by Ray Penton. The members are: Philip Helmich, Edward Borger, David Duncan, Charles Bradley, and William Eklund. Those present last evening were: Charles McLenahan, Gilbert Ketchum, Edward Borger, David Frodin, William Burris, Verne Claypool, David Duncan, Charles Bradley, Philip Helmich, Harwood Sturtevant, Ray Penton and Willis Hamblin.

THEY BRAVE DEATH.

Desperate Daring of the English Egg-Hunters.

London, Tid-Bis: "It is terrible, terrible!" exclaimed one Frenchman, "nonsense," cried another, while a third turned away his eyes with a third "be not to look," as the members of the International Ornithological congress, standing at the foot of the towering cliffs, looked up at the English egg-hunters.

She is survived by a brother, Joel Shill, big of Chicago, and four daughters and one son. Mrs. E. C. Grady of this city, Mrs. George B. Lett of Hamam, Mo.; Miss Ida S. Eby of Los Angeles, Cal., and Frank S. Eby of Kansas City, Mo.

The interment will be at Lanark, Ill. The remains will be accompanied by the grandsons, Ely G. Grady, leaving on the Northern Pacific train at 9 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Private services will be held this evening at 8 o'clock at the residence of the family, 1214 E. Grady by Rev. Alexander Mims, pastor of the Pilgrim Congregational church.

LEUPP STOPS FRAUD In Indian Land Sale in Upper Michigan. Washington, Sept. 12.—Indian Commissioner Leupp has stopped possible fraud in the sale of allotted Indian lands in Upper Michigan by ordering the cancellation of about 20 deeds from allottees of the L'Anse and Vieux des Sert reservations.

The cases were investigated by Special Agent Joseph Farr, who made an appeal from four to eight times that amount. In many cases deeds called for the payment of $50 where actual value was from four to eight times that amount. Commissioner Leupp will allow purchasers to present new deeds showing the consideration which they propose to give for the lands, which must, in each case, be accompanied by proper certificates of deposit or other exchange covering the price named.

LITTLE BUSINESS TALKS.

If it is better to know things about prices than to guess and wonder and fret, then it is worth while to read the ads every evening.

Merchants must furnish shoppers, all of the time, little "buying chances," opportunities to save a dollar on their purchases. Only regular readers of The Herald ads, keep in touch with these opportunities.

You are not a "good manager" unless you are a regular reader of The Herald store ads, for your money will not "go" nearly so far if you are a little "rusty" on prices, and places and times to buy.

"What would did ever heal but by degrees?" If your business has been crippled by poor advertising, or by none at all, do not expect it to recover in a day.

Uncle Sam—When that body gets to work on the Panama Canal proposition there'll be all kinds of digging.

has taken no fewer than 500,000 eggs from the cliffs with his own hands. And how do they work these daring egg-hunters of the grim Yorkshire cliffs who risk their lives so lightly for eggs which they sell for a profit of 100 per cent? Their methods cannot be better described than in the words of Mr. Clark, a well-known Yorkshire naturalist and himself an expert cliff climber.

The climber wears round his waist a stout leather strap, to which are attached two pieces of webbing passing around the waist and fastened to the top of the cliff. The climber is then lowered down the cliff by the rope, and is used in a second rope fastened to the end of a dizzily-awakening rope 100 feet and more above their heads in search of the eggs of guillemots and kittiwakes.

And indeed the spectacle of one of these reckless egg hunters, suspended at a dizzy height from a frail rope and awaying pendulum-like against the stark, face of a cliff more than 100 feet over his head, is a sight to fill the mind with a shiver of apprehension and awe.

But to the climber himself it is his day's work, which inspires no more fear in him than if he were driving a plough or raking hay. Generation after generation his forefathers have been doing the same thing, and he laughs at the very suggestion of danger in what is perhaps the most risky calling by which man earns his daily bread.

It is on the towering cliffs of East Yorkshire that you can see the "climber" at his best. There are three stretches of cliffs at Bepton, Sproston and Buckton—leaved by different gangs of "climbers," and here, year after year, the harvest of eggs, of razorbills and guillemots, puffins and kittiwakes, and many other sea birds is reaped; and so plentiful is the crop that it is said, William Wilkinson, in 20 years, high as the cross of St. Paul's to the rugged rocks below, and who, swinging at the end of a rope with a hundred angry birds are shrieking and whirling round his head, calmly proceed from dizzy ledge to ledge, filling his basket with the spoils of eggs.

The spectacle of the "climber" at work at an exciting moment is thus graphically described by an on-looker: "The craziest man whirling his stuff thence among the shrieking birds, that circled round his head, planted the most of it against the rock above him and pushed vigorously. He swung at the end of his rope, his feet fastened to the top of the cliff, and forth through the air, gaining force at every thrust of his staff, till he touched the platform in his forward swing, and the very birds in his hand, as he watched him. At last with a heave and a supple bend, he swung on to the ledge and straightened himself, with a jerk. That platform yielded rich toll."

Naturally, accidents—fatal accidents—happen to the most expert and careful of these egg-hunters, but fortunately they are rare. More frequently, however, are their escapes in thrilling circumstances. In one case, through the slipping of a sheepskin loop, the rope which supported the climber broke, and to his horror he saw he was hanging by a single strand. At any moment that strand might break and send him hurtling to the earth. But with marvellous self-possession and daring, he swung himself off into space to ward the guide rope. Once, twice he failed the rope, but the third time he clutched it, and as he did so the single strand that had been his only lifeline of death snapped. A few minutes later he had climbed the guide rope, hand over hand into safety.

Two necessities for sudden emergencies are hot water bags and a little alcohol lamp, both of which can be bought for $1.25 or $1.35 and can be packed easily in handbags. Most women agree on Jamaica ginger and essence of peppermint.

These cases are made of leather and are really one piece lined with silk or a light colored kid. In the center there is a row of loops to match the lining in which the bottles are packed. Seven or eight one or two-ounce vials with good stoppers of glass or cork are put into the bag, and when fastened with a small steel clasp are about four inches wide.

One of the bottles in the case, especially if the children are young, will be filled with paregoric. Peppin or soda mint tablets are thought to be indispensable in cases of indigestion, and from many applications they know just how these medicines or lotions affect their little ones.

Some kind of cholera cure is, of course, put in the medicine case for emergency, and is probably used more frequently during the hot weather than any of the other remedies. Nearly every mother has one particular kind of medicine that she prescribes by physicians.

Spirits of camphor and camphorated oil, as well as chloroform liniment for external application, have their places in this little emergency case.

Cathartic pills, Epsom salts and bicarbonate of soda have many champions among women, who are anxious to tell their children to tell their children with these remedies.

Then there is a bottle of spirits of nitre that some mothers believe in always having with them when home as well as when traveling.

Other women declare they would never leave home with their children unless they had a bottle of ammonia or an inch and a half wide that might be needed in cases of accidents and the like. There is a bottle of ammonia or an inch and a half wide that might be needed in cases of accidents and the like.

Cold cream and talcum powder, though usually included with the toilet articles in preparing for a summer's outing or for a month of travel, are relied on sometimes to the extent of being put in the medicine case with drugs and tablets.

Plasters, the old standby of mothers and grandmothers for home treatment are made from mustard and flaxseed. Breast milk poultices, as well as those made from onions, are frequently found to be of the greatest benefit in quickly relieving the little ones.

WILL TRY PLAN

Several Operators Are to Experiment With Steel Piling.

Will Work In Quicksand With It—Miners Interested.

Other operators beside Pickands, Mather & Co., who have to deal with quicksand in getting at the ore in the iron mines are contemplating the adoption of the interlocking steel piling plan to keep the water out of the shafts.

Among those contemplating the move is George A. St. Clair, who has very extensive interests on the Minnesota ranges. Others are going to try the new method, as an experiment, of course.

C. H. Munger, Pickands, Mather & Co.'s agent, thinks that the new plan is going to prove a great success. It will probably be tried on the properties he is interested in some time this fall.

"This interlocking steel piling has been tried in coal mines and found a success, and I see no good reason why it could not be used in working through quicksand levels in iron mines," said Mr. Munger, this morning. "Of course the ordinary timber crib can be used until the quicksand level is reached and our crib is already in. All we are waiting for now, in order to test the piling, is the arrival of the stuff. It will undoubtedly arrive in time to permit some experiments this fall, however."

"These steel piles are driven down as deep as necessary, one at a time. But they lock together, and are set, when properly driven, to be practically water tight. After a shaft of this kind has been completed, timbers are placed across to prevent them from caving in, the water pumped out, if there is any, and you are ready to go to work at your ore, which is below."

"I don't know how soon others are going to try this, but I think that if the few who are trying it find it a success, every mine owner in the Northwest, who has to contend with quicksand, will begin to use the piling."

BLEW UP THE SHIP.

Crew Took to Boats and Made Their Escape.

Helsingfors, Finland, Sept. 12.—Customs officials on Saturday discovered 600 carabines of Swedish manufacture with bayonets and 120,000 cartridges on a barge in the Gulf of Bothnia, near Jakobstad. On Sunday morning a boat belonging to the customs service discovered a 3,000-ton steamer near Jakobstad. The captain and members of the crew, who spoke in English, declared that the steamer was fully loaded with rifles and cartridges and thereupon the customs officials ordered the captain to take his vessel into port and discharge the cargo. The steamer proceeded toward the shore, the customs boat going in the meantime toward a nearby island. Suddenly several explosions were heard from the steamer and the customs officers on returning found the vessel sinking. Her crew in lifeboats disappeared hurriedly towards the south. The officers immediately pressed into service the customs boat and, when they had most of the ammunition on the boat. The steamer grounded in shoal water. Her name was painted over only the letters "John Dash Pion," being visible. American and German flags were found on board the vessel. On the night previous to the discovery of the rifles and ammunition on the island, a fisherman declared he saw a small steamer cruising in a curious manner in the offing.

CROOKSTON MAN KILLS HIS FATHER-IN-LAW.

Crookston, Minn., Sept. 12.—Fred Wilde is under arrest here for beating to death his father-in-law, John Kismann. Wilde was working on his farm, when his horses became mired. He took a pitchfork and was prodding them, when his father-in-law rushed to the house, and soon afterward died. Mrs. Wilde was afraid to advise her husband of her father's death, and remained locked in the room with his dead body until yesterday morning, when she escaped to a neighbor's house and gave the alarm.

PRICE OF COPPER

Recent Reaction Splendid For It, Stopping Run-away Market.

Some Chinese Copper Bought and Resold—Copper Shares.

George L. Walker says in his last letter that there was some manipulation of copper as charged, but that it was to a peculiar kind. Some broker bought back copper sold to China and then resold it again at a much higher figure, pocketing a nice profit. The talk that it occurred, however, he says resulted to the benefit of the market by causing buyers to hold off and thus preventing a runaway market. Walker also goes into a somewhat lengthy discussion of copper shares. He says:

"Copper continues strong at approximately top prices. Sales are being made daily at 10 1/2 cents for the far delivery in November and December, and sales have been made for deliveries well into next year at 10 cents. As far as can be learned there is practically no spot copper to be had. Some have been sold as high as 17 cents per pound. Consuming bars of supplies and are urging early deliveries on existing contracts. There is unprecedented activity in every branch of the trade, and from now on all demand for copper must be supplied direct from the mines, as all stocks of metal have been exhausted. Under these conditions, there is little prospect that the price of copper can be gotten back to a 10-cent basis for several months to come."

The assertions that there has been manipulation of the metal market are now known to be true. It has been such a paradoxical manipulation that it has wholly mystified me from the time it began. It seems that a certain metal brokerage agency was able to buy back a small amount of copper from the Chinese agents at about 10 cents per pound, the only reason for the sale being the profit of 1 cent. This copper was then disposed of to the domestic trade at a slightly higher price, and it is estimated that the broker determined upon a unique campaign. Certain trade newspapers were acquainted with the fact that the sale referred to and were fooled into believing that there would be a general resumption of Chinese copper. This resulted in the published misapprehensions and the sale of the past three or four weeks, and while it was on the order of 10 cents, it has now picked up several lots of metal at around 10 1/2 cents. At the same time, the price of copper has risen to about 17 cents, and it is netting a splendid profit. Walker was certainly not to be commended about this campaign. It really had a beneficial influence, the bear talk did much to quiet the fears of nervous consumers and helped to put an end to the scramble to buy copper at the rapidly advancing prices.

There is reason for the belief that the Calumet and Hecla company has disposed of all its surplus copper, except for future dates, is out of the market. None of the Amalgamated companies have any unsold copper on hand. Phelps, Dodge & Co., like the leading metal selling agency, has no copper contracts for delivery at any time during the remainder of the year. The sharp advance in prices, there is no doubt, has caused the agencies are overwhelmed with orders of futures being made daily at the price named.

"It may be well enough to again repeat that the London and New York Metal exchanges are not doing business in copper. There has not been an official exchange of copper quoted since London in the last two years. The G. M. B. or Standard Copper Exchange, which was organized in 1902, has been unable to do business since it was organized. It has been possible to manipulate the price of real Lake or electrolytic copper."

COPPER SHARES.—A leading copper man sizes up the local market situation as follows: The ultimate influence of the attacks now being made on the metal market and the copper shares by Lawson and certain New York papers is being felt. It is a very weak point in the situation. The copper market is being undermined by the copper shares and by doing this they have been able to bring the price of copper down and put the market on a rock-bottom foundation. Even the copper shares of the Lake Superior Copper Co. have been sold at a loss. It was always his practice to sell prices up to the limit of his power, and he has taken the market down to the level of 10 cents. It was that sort of manipulation that brought copper stocks into more or less disrepute in some banking and brokerage circles.

The present progress is just the reverse. We have the bullish copper and the local market situation is a great deal better than it was a few weeks ago. The copper shares of the Lake Superior Copper Co. have been sold at a loss. It was always his practice to sell prices up to the limit of his power, and he has taken the market down to the level of 10 cents. BRUIN IS AROUND

Bears Getting Busy In Upper Part of West End.

Breaking Into the Chicken Houses and Other Preserves.

Heretofore the East end of the city has been having an exclusive hold on bear hunts, but the West end has now cut in and may be looked to from now on for exciting bear stories. A day or two ago a small boy who lives with his parents just above the boulevard, near the cup out in the West end, was told by his father and explained that a nice little dog was outside, but in spite of the attempts to catch it, the doggie would not come into the house. The boy wanted his father to come out and get the dog for him.

The father went out and was led to the supposed dog, which turned out to be a fairly good-sized bear cub. The boy had been feeding it sweets and the father had been told that the cub was looking for more things of the same kind. Shortly afterwards the mother of the cub put in an appearance and in a few moments both disappeared. The cub had been seen about the top of the hill at the West end and the father and mother had been looking for the cub for some time. The father thought there may be something to the cub, and he had been looking for it for some time. MATTER OF WIRES

Held Up For One Week By City Council.

There has been considerable of a tussle between the Duluth Telephone company and the residents of the West end over the matter of erecting poles or burying wires and now it is up to the council. The company wants to erect poles and string wires in First alley from Eighteenth to Twenty-sixth avenue west and in Second alley from Eighteenth to Thirtieth avenue west. The residents out there want the wires buried instead of being strung on poles.

AGED MAN FOUND DEAD.

A. Engstrom, Settler Near Tenstrike, Dies Suddenly.

Benjamin, Minn., Sept. 12.—The dead body of Andrew Engstrom, a homesteader living five miles north of Tenstrike, was found Sunday morning at 9 o'clock lying by the road over which he was passing while returning home from Tenstrike. Engstrom, in company with four companions, had been hunting for muskrats. They arrived in Tenstrike Saturday. They remained about town during the day and set out for their homes at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Thompson, Leum and Hansen rode in a wagon while Engstrom and Adamson followed behind. When they had reached a point two and one-half miles north of Tenstrike Engstrom stopped and he was found dead the next morning by a fire which he had evidently built to keep warm by and which was not yet quite burned out.

The party of five men of which Engstrom was a member visited several places during their stay in Tenstrike, and the last place in which they were drinking before their departure was at Sturdevant's saloon. They were in good humor, however, and it is not suspected that foul play is in any way connected with the death of the homesteader.

THE WORLD'S END. Some Prophecies Which Have Caused Great Panics.

Thousands of people believe in an end of the world, says the London Mail. Thousands of people have been expecting the end of the world for years, and have been disappointed. One of the latest prophecies has been foretelling the end of the world for thirty years or more. It is an awkward thing to let the tense of your business premises fall in anticipation of the end of the world. The latest date fixed by the prophet for the last day of this age is either Tuesday, May 2, 1910, or April 9, 1911—but he is still uncertain which. But between now and then, if a thousand of states are to be reduced to the ten of Caesar's original Roman empire, before this cataclysmic transformation is completed there are to be wars and earthquakes, famines, commotions, and pestilences. In the latter months of the year, the world is to be visited with plagues of noisome sores, the sea, as well as the rivers and fountains, is to turn to blood, the sun is to sear men for fifteen days, there is to be total darkness for three days, and then earthquakes are to shake down all cities.

As no time comes used to be the grand terror. Given educated people, including astronomers, supposed that one day a comet would bump against the earth and either set it ablaze or shatter it into space. In the middle of the nineteenth century the greatest alarm was manifested all over Europe lest the comet which then appeared should crash the children came out of their homes and watched with white, drawn faces the long, luminous tail sweeping through the sky. In due course the comet disappeared from view, and nothing happened. London has had several comets of the world. The famous Whiston once predicted that the comet of 1811 was to fall on a certain Oct. 13. The destruction of the mighty city of London, it was said, was to mark the beginning of the end. The inhabitants were seized with terror. Blinded faces were at every door, people thronged the streets terror-stricken. They rushed to the temples, and congregated in all the adjoining fields to watch and wait, feeling the worst, hoping for the best. Hour after hour they waited, till the day of another day. Then they felt safe, and tired and weary, went home, leaving the world intact. On another occasion a panic was caused in London by two earthquake shocks. The first shock occurred on Feb. 8, and down went several chimneys in Poplar and Limehouse. On March 3 another shock occurred, and a large number of houses in the districts of Illegate and Hampstead. The coincidence of the two shocks, which occurred at an interval of a month exactly, excited widespread commotion. Then it was that a crazy-headed soldier named Bell rushed through the streets proclaiming that the next catastrophe, which would occur on the corresponding day of April, would destroy London as a preliminary to the end of the world.

People began to tremble on the coming calamity. From brooding they frightened themselves into wild panic. Thousands of people crowded into the streets, and from London before the great catastrophe occurred. Numbers crowded into the villages for miles around as the day of doom drew near. Fugitives of all classes poured into Harrow, Highgate, Bloomsbury, Islington, and Hampstead, leaving extensive tracts for holding. The area of the panic quickly extended. Much people who had laughed began to tremble. Water seemed to offer greater protection than land. They rushed to the Thames, and crowded on the barges, and St. Paul's was crowded with the Londoners. Then there was a great rush home. Bell subsequently died in a lunatic asylum.

Some years afterward there was a panic on a smaller scale at Leeds, in Yorkshire. This happened because a hen laid an egg. It was not an ordinary egg, and it had with her certain writing announcing the end of the world. The faith of that egg was noted abroad, and strange to relate, that hen commenced to lay other eggs inscribed in a similar way. The place of miracle was soon besieged by crowds of people anxious to obtain a share of the miracle. This they did, only to discover that the eggs had been written on with corrosive ink, and brutally forced back into the hen's body. The panic ceased on the next day.

A few years before the great fire London was the scene of a panic even wilder than those which have been previously described. The prophets on this occasion predicted the destruction of the city, not from comets or earthquakes, but from the overflow of the river. On the first day of February, they said, the Thames would rise to such a great height that it would wash away 100,000 homes. One of the most extraordinary incidents in connection with the panic was that the prior of St. Bartholomew's closed the priory, loaded several boats with stocks of provisions and had them conveyed in wagons to a building he erected regardless of cost, at Harrow-on-the-Hill. Then he and all the monks, together with a number of expert rowers, departed to his well-provisioned ark, prepared for all emergencies. The day of the predicted devastation arrived. The river flowed on, unceasing and unconscious of the commotion it was creating in the course. Then darkness closed on the faithful scene, with London still dry, with the 100,000 houses left standing, with the prior of St. Bartholomew's still safe and sound, with the thousands on the heights wishing they had never left home.

CALLED BY JURY

County Commissioners Asked to Appear Before Tribunal.

Road Matters Said to Be Reason For Conference.

The grand jury is going to step aside from the routine of the criminal calendar and it is the impression that it will look into the matter of road bills. The members of the board of county commissioners were summoned to appear before the jury this afternoon; and although the reason for it was not announced, it is supposed to be in connection with the county roads. This conclusion has been reached in the fact that once before the grand jury taken upon itself the task of investigating road matters and settling controversies over the payment for work on highways in different parts of the county. As soon as the board had concluded the deliberation of the matters which were before it today it received the summons from the jury. A rigid investigation—for it must have been an investigation—was carried on behind the closed doors in the county building. The summons from the grand jury's room caused some little comment in the building, and there was no end of conjecture as to the significance of the conference.

COMMITTEE IN SESSION

The City's Tax Levy For 1906 Is Being Considered.

The conference committee is in session this afternoon, giving preliminary consideration to the fixing of the tax levy for city purposes for the year of 1906. It is possible that the levy will be informally fixed this afternoon, although final consideration will not be given until the meeting next Saturday. The chances are that the board of public works and the police funds will be given a slight raise, while some of the other funds will be lowered, keeping the rate at approximately the same figure as last year.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

Cambridge Man Kills Wife and Then Himself.

Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 12.—John Reeves of this city murdered his wife at their home here today and then committed suicide. Reeves was 39 years old and his wife about 45. From the appearance of the bodies, the police believe that Reeves first attacked his wife with a razor, as the body was almost decapitated. There was also a revolver bullet wound in the head. After killing the woman, Reeves shot himself through the temple. Reeves had not been living with his wife for some time.

BIG LAND PURCHASE

Daniel Horgan and Associates Buy Extensive Tract in Canada.

Daniel Horgan and associates of Duluth have purchased 12,000 acres of land in the Quill plains district, valley of the Saskatchewan, in Canada, from the Saskatchewan Valley and Manitoba Land company. Through the agency of Parker, Smith & Warner, Duluth agents for the company, it is understood that the purchase price was $7.50 an acre, making the total sum involved $90,000. The large tract is purchased mainly for speculative purposes, it is said. It is located in the vicinity of the survey of the new Grand Trunk Pacific road, and is said to be likely suited for farming. The Duluth syndicate will put a considerable portion of the land under cultivation, it is understood.

CHANGE IS ASKED

Some Board of Trade Members Ask For New Grade.

Would Have No. 1 Northern the Contract Grade Again.

Although only a few months have elapsed since the Board of Trade changed the contract grade of wheat from No. 1 northern to No. 2 northern, a petition is already before that body asking that a special meeting be called for consideration of a plan to make No. 1 northern the contract grade once more, with No. 2 northern deliverable at a fixed penalty. The petition has been signed by the requisite number of members, and was posted in the trading room today. A meeting of the board will be held September 16 for the purpose of considering this matter. After that, the board of directors will prepare ballots and duly announce the proposed change, and all members of the board will vote upon it. An affirmative vote of two-thirds will be needed to carry the proposition through.

When the contract grade was changed early in the summer, many wanted No. 1 Northern the contract grade with No. 2 deliverable. In fact, they asked just what the petitioners ask now. But the sentiment was overwhelmingly in favor of No. 2 as the contract grade then. It is thought that there will be much opposition to another change at this time. Those in favor of No. 2 Northern, as the contract grade, say that it has been given the fair trial, that the new crop is not in yet and that it would be very unwise to change again so soon. But many members feel that the proper way out of it is to have No. 2 deliverable. A large volume of trade has been carried on in the old September option and the trade in new September options—the No. 2 Northern—has been very dull. Last spring, an attempt was made to make No. 2 Northern the contract grade on the Minneapolis chamber of commerce, but it met with defeat. The vote was very close, however.

Band Home Again.

The Third Regiment Band of Duluth has returned from St. Paul, after being the feature of the closing days of the state fair. The band was furnishing the principal music on the grounds Thursday, Friday and Saturday, and much favorable comment was heard at Hamline about the organization from Duluth. It is not very often that a band from this part of the state is asked to play at the fair. The boys say that they had a very nice time.

PUPIL KILLS TEACHER.

Athens, Tenn., Sept. 12.—Prof. Albert Watchenberger was cut to death today by Ernest Powers, a pupil in his school. Watchenberger had attempted to chastise the boy.

It isn't only what we say, but what we actually do, that counts!

Any store can "promise" things in newspaper type—but it takes more than newspaper promises to satisfy "the woman of nowadays!"

The merchandise itself is, after all, the thing that counts. Styles must be right and values must be good—not only in looks, but in wear!

We pride ourselves on the character of our Tailored Suits, Coats, Wraps and Wearables of every kind—the cloths are of the very best—the linings and trimmings are of the very best—the tailoring of the highest grade possible to produce—in a word, we give you garments of quality, elegance and good taste, yet we keep our prices within a range that anyone who wants good clothes can afford to pay!

Even in our Tailored Suits at $15, $18, $20, and $22.50—or Our Coats at $9.75, $11.50, $13.50 and $15 you will find values that stores who make a specialty of Lower priced garments cannot equal!

Fashionable Furs, Too, are a Very Important Item With Us!

We carry stocks that are not only larger, but choicer—

Yet our prices are made with an idea in mind of doing a large business at small profits. As a result our values are unmatched anywhere in this vicinity!

"Missed the scenery."

A wretched thespian who "panishes from Broadway every summer and then turns up like a bad penny when the big show comes" had been "sighted in his usual haunts" yesterday, and the "New York Herald" reported:

"'Old boy!' cried one of his rathskeller friends. 'Where have you been since?'"

"'Oh, I was out on the Pacific coast. Had a delightful time. You know I am a wanderer.'"

"'So you told me. I suppose you came through Oregon, and then to the other Pacific coast?'"

"'Yes, I passed through nearly all of them.'"

"'And did you admire the Columbia river very much?'"

"'I passed near it, but I just

"That's strange. I shouldn't think any one with a love for the picturesque would miss seeing the Columbia river. But, surely, you feasted your eyes on the magnificent plateaus, giant ranges, and awe-inspiring ice-creeks of Colorado?"

"Didn't see any of them."

"What? You mean to tell me you traveled through the most picturesque part of America and did not even look out of the car window?"

"The trip didn't shock his head and smiled. The car didn't have any windows," he said. "I came across in a boxcar."

SELF-CONFESSE MURDERER'S BODY FOUND BY POSSE

Old Veil Around Neck Adds Truth to His Confession.

Was Used Thirty Years Ago By Him to Strangle a Girl.

Revelation of Miscarriage of Justice In Ohio Years Ago.

Minot, N. D., Sept. 13.—The dead body of Charles Herzog, who left a written confession of the crime of rape and murder committed near Youngstown, Ohio, over thirty years ago, has been found by a posse of searchers hanging to a tree in a secluded ravine just over the line in the unorganized county of Wallace. Pinned on his breast was a piece of wrapping paper on which was written the following: "My name is Charles Herzog. Over thirty years ago I murdered and raped a young girl named Lizzie E. Grombacher, near Youngstown, Ohio. Charles Sterling, an innocent man, was tried, convicted and hanged for the murder of this girl. If my body is ever found, notify my mother, Catherine Herzog, at Girard, Ohio."

If Herzog had not left a written confession and threat of suicide at the Byer ranch his body might not have been found for years, as it was hanging in a spot seldom visited. Around his neck was a piece of green veiling, such as women use for face veils. It is recalled by a former Youngstown man here that Lizzie Grombacher was such a veil when murdered and that part of it was used to strangle her. The piece found about Herzog's neck is supposed to be the remainder of the veil, as he showed such a piece to a fellow ranchman named Olson, to whom he told the story of his crime, declaring that he had kept it all these years so as to use it to end his own life some day. Olson recorded the details of Herzog's confession today.

Herzog's confession, left on a table in the home of his employer last Wednesday, is as follows: "Aug. 26, 1896.—Dear Mr. Byer: In the early seventies Charles Sterling, a supposed tramp, was tried for the murder of Lizzie Grombacher, a beautiful young woman, residing near Youngstown, in Mahoning county, Ohio. The trial resulted in his conviction on circumstantial evidence, and he was hanged for the crime in the county jail at Youngstown. Charles Sterling was an innocent man."

"I am guilty of the murder of that young girl, and have paid the penalty in a wretched, haunted life for over thirty years. Her face, distorted by the strangling clutches of my then powerful hands, made stronger by the power of brutal lust, insatiable, haunts me as I write these lines, and for thirty years nightly at my bedside, until now I am a physical and mental wreck, who can only find relief in death, which will soon be mine."

At the time I murdered the girl I was a young man of 20. A few weeks before committing the crime I removed with my family from Lockport, N. Y., to Girard, Ohio, where I believe my mother still lives, although I have not heard from her for years. One week prior to the murder with the hope of securing employment I went to the number of other men, Sterling being in the crowd, went to Boardman for work."

FREIGHT HANDLERS MAY NOT STRIKE

Will Seek Further Conferences With Larger Roads.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—Executive officers of the Freight Handlers union held a meeting today, to consider replies to the general managers of railroads, who have demanded for a 10 per cent increase in wages. The strike feeling abated somewhat when the union leaders interpreted the written replies of a number of general managers to mean that they were willing to enter into negotiations with the union. Representatives of the union determined to seek conferences with several of the larger roads. Demands of the members of the Freight Handlers union of Chicago for an increase of 10 per cent in wages or an arbitration of their demands and the demand for a conference were refused by the railroads. The general managers of the twenty-two railroads centering in Chicago notified President F. J. Flannery of the union that negotiations were ended. The news of the refusal of the general managers to grant their demands and the declaration to hold a conference was received angrily by the men. The meeting was arranged to call a series of mass meetings to consider the action of the roads.

At the meeting of the railroad officials there was little discussion as to what the action of the railroad should be. The meeting lasted only a few moments and before adjournment the officials of the railroad had pledged themselves not to deal individually with the union, but to deal with the union as a committee of the freight handlers. It developed after the meeting that the general freight agents and general managers had communicated with the freight handlers as individual employees and informed each of them that the railroads were paying the highest wages it was possible to pay. Notwithstanding a feeling of confidence said to have been created by the individual interviews with employees, that there will be no strike, the railroad companies are going ahead with preparations for one. The preparations are precautionary. Cots are being hauled to the freight houses and hundreds of men have been tentatively hired to take the places of the union men should they vote to strike.

Chief of Police Collins has been communicated with and he will furnish the freight houses with police protection.

One of the general managers at the meeting said: "While it looks like trouble, we are confident that the men do not want to strike."

The agreement which expired last June and which the union is seeking to re-establish with a 10 per cent wage increase is the one adopted as the basis of settlement of the big strike conducted by former President Curran of the freight handlers.

THE JAPANESE ENVOY, BARON KOMURA, IS ILL WITH TYPHOID FEVER

His Intended Return Trip to Japan Has Been Postponed.

Expert Nurses Summoned to Bedside of Distinguished Foreigner.

Temperature Very High, Though Fever Is In First Stages.

New York, Sept. 13.—Three physicians who are attending Baron Komura, the chief of the Japanese peace envoys, decided today that the baron has typhoid fever. His intended return trip to Japan, via Seattle, tomorrow, has been postponed, and nurses were hastily summoned to his apartment in the Waldorf-Astoria hotel today. The baron's temperature was 102 deg. today, and he was said to be very ill though only in the first stages of the fever. The decision as to his illness was reached after a consultation of doctors.

FUNERAL RITES
Will Greet Komura on His Return to Tokio.

Victoria, B. C., Sept. 13.—Advices received from Tokio by the Empress of India club at a meeting of the Dish India club, a newspaper association convened to express sympathy for Prof. Tomizawa, whose outspoken criticism of the peace treaty caused his removal from his professional chair at Tokio university, arrangements were made to receive Baron Komura with funeral rites on his return to Tokio from America.

MORE REVELATIONS OF PECULIAR DEALINGS OF THE NEW YORK LIFE

The Company Furnishes Money to Finance Big Syndicates and Gives the Members the Profits.

New York, Sept. 13.—Frederick H. Shipman, assistant treasurer for the last three years of the New York Life insurance company, was the first witness before the legislative insurance investigation committee today. He was examined on syndicate accounts. The Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo deals were then taken up and accounts were gone into in detail.

"How could the New York Life," asked Mr. Hughes, counsel to the committee, "retire Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo bonds?" "We bought them in 1904, when it had bought them while in the syndicate at 91?" "In the opinion of C. M. Gibbs, the treasurer at the time, was then 90. We credited the $4,688 to profit and loss."

Mr. Shipman, in reply to further questions, said the company had raised the bonds from 91 to 99, but that the profit had never been realized, and the company holds the bonds at the present time. "The New York Life in this case," said Mr. Hughes, "did not return bonds, as is customary, to the syndicate managers, but took them themselves and credited on the books a profit, which in fact had not been made."

Next Mr. Hughes turned to the joint account of Goldman, Sachs & Co. and the New York Life. The account was created in order to invest in Chicago & Northwestern railroad bonds, for an agreement for equal division of profits. Mr. Shipman said it should not be called a syndicate.

"How can you explain that on July 18, 1898, you buy and sell 750 bonds on the same day according to your statement?" asked Mr. Hughes. "The only way I can explain it," Mr. Shipman replied, "is that the New York Life held these bonds and wished to sell them. Therefore it named a fair price and transferred them to a joint account."

"You don't see the purchase is not for the syndicate, but for the New York Life?"

"I can't say; it is six years ago."

"Is it fair to say that the New York Life enters into an agreement with others and that they then buy the bonds, and then gives the members of the syndicate the profits of the sale?"

"Does it mean the New York Life pays one-half profits to bankers, to set them to handle the syndicates?"

"Yes, I think it is sometimes advisable ling smiles. It is the Chinaman on whose land the war was fought for nearly eighteen months. Today the roads around here are filled with happy, smiling Chinese men and women old and young, who in clumsy carts, loaded with their household goods, are proceeding in long lines back to their old homes. The Chinese greet the Russian soldiers with the one word, "Peace," which is repeated over and over again. Many of their homes have been devastated, but notwithstanding this, they express their joy at getting back to peaceful and industrious occupations. Furthermore, the game of neutrality to each side, which the Chinese have been obliged to play for so many months, has been a hard one, and peace has brought relief from this strain. It is no exaggeration to say that the Chinese are now the happiest people in Manchuria.

It is reported here that the Japanese has disbanded the Chinese bandit organizations which they operated during the war.

JAPS' CHANCES NOT GOOD For Crushing Russian Army, Reports Marshal Yamagata.

London, Sept. 13.—The correspondent of the Standard at Shanghai sends the following: While the peace conference was sitting at Portsmouth, the emperor of Japan, perplexed by contradictory reports from the front, and Gen. Linewitch's constant frustration of Japanese attempts to outflank him, sent Field Marshal Yamagata and Gen. Murata to inspect the positions at the front, and to report on the chances of crushing the Russian army. Field Marshal Yamagata spent twelve days with Field Marshal Oyama, and ultimately reported unfavorably on the chances of a signal victory. It is suggested that this may have influenced the emperor in agreeing to the terms of the Portsmouth treaty.

WARM THANKS
Extended By Witte to President and People.

Oyster Bay, Sept. 13.—Baron Rosen, the Russian ambassador and associate of Mr. Witte as Russian peace plenipotentiaries at the Portsmouth conference, was a guest today of the president and Mrs. Roosevelt at luncheon. The engagement was made on the request of Ambassador Rosen but the nature of his mission here was not disclosed.

One eve of his departure from America Mr. Witte, the Russian peace envoy extended to President Roosevelt his "heartfelt thanks," for "the cordial welcome," and "the uniform courtesy" given to the envoys by the American government and people.

The text of Mr. Witte's message to the president follows: "New York, Sept. 12, 1905.—President Roosevelt: Before leaving the hospitable soil of the United States, I beg in my own name and on behalf of my fellow workers, to offer my heartfelt thanks to you, Mr. President, to the government of the United States and the whole American nation for the cordial welcome given to us on our arrival and the uniform courtesy shown us during our stay here. The memory of which will live in our hearts forever."

PRESIDENT SCORES CORRESPONDENT OF THE PETIT PARISIEN

Says Alleged Interview With Him is Base Fabrication.

Tells Writer That His Conduct Was Highly Dishonorable.

Secured Reception By President Under False Pretenses.

Oyster Bay, Sept. 13.—President Roosevelt has denounced as a fabrication and as wholly without foundation in truth the report of an interview with him regarding the terms of peace between Russia and Japan published today in the Petit Parisien of Paris and cabled to America and published here this morning.

As soon as the purported interview was called to his attention the president directed Secretary Lusk to send to the correspondent of the Petit Parisien who was received at Sagamore Hill the following telegram: "Oyster Bay, Sept. 13, 1905.—Gaston Richard, Hotel Lafayette, New York: The president directs me to say to you that the alleged interview with him published in this morning's papers is not only an absolutely untrue fabrication without basis of truth, but that your conduct in obtaining permission to see him under false pretenses is thoroughly dishonorable."

"When you came to see the president you informed him that you were the grandson of Marshal Augereau; that you had been at the battle of Morden with the Russian army and with the Japanese army afterwards; that you understood thoroughly that you could have no interview of any kind, and that you simply wished to pay your respects to him. Under these circumstances the president received you and listened to your account of your experiences with the Japanese and Russians, and spoke to you also of the deeds of Marshal Augereau and of Napoleon and other generals. The president had no conversation with you about the terms of peace, and your account of your alleged interview with him is a fabrication from beginning to end without any foundation in fact, and both your untruthfulness and your obtaining permission to see him under false pretenses, the president considers highly dishonorable."

WILLIAM LOEB, JR., Secretary."

PRESIDENT ASKS THE CANAL ENGINEERS TO HURRY PLANS

Washington, Sept. 13.—Upon the occasion of the recent visit of the members of the board of consulting engineers of the Isthmian canal at Oyster Bay, the president addressed to them a few remarks which will be printed shortly and presented to the members. After bidding them welcome, he urged them to use all the speed they could safely make in coming to a conclusion as to the best plan for digging the canal so that he might have ample time for studying the report before sending it to congress.

TRANSPORT LOST WITH 126 MEN

Victoria, B. C., Sept. 13.—Particulars regarding the disaster to the transport Kinjo, Aug. 23, in the inland sea of Japan, involving the drowning of Maj. Kobori and 126 soldiers returning from Formosa, are received from passengers on the Empress of India. The British steamer Baralong, under charter to the Nippon Yusen Kaisha, collided with the transport, which displayed no lights. When the captains sighted each other's vessel, they signalled, and both shifted courses to starboard, but the speed of the transport was less than that of the Baralong, which crashed into the side of the transport. The Baralong at once put out four boats, and thirty-eight, including fourteen of the crew, were picked up, but 126 were drowned when the transport went down. The Baralong was damaged about the bow, and was taken to Kawasaki yards for repairs. The Kinjo was formerly the British steamer Northumbria. She was insured at Tokio for $50,000.

SWEDISH CONDITIONS MUST BE ACCEPTED

By Norway Before Sweden Will Discuss Arbitration Treaty.

Stockholm, Sept. 13.—Political circles disavow any desire on the part of Sweden to oppose the arbitration treaty demanded by Norway, but they point out that only this preliminary negotiations in regard to the form and contents of such a treaty can be discussed at present, as the conclusion of a treaty is impossible until Norway has accepted Sweden's conditions and the latter has recognized Norway as an independent sovereign state. The Swedish intentions it is declared are wholly pacific.

Karlstad, Sweden, Sept. 13.—The Norwegian and Swedish delegates appointed to discuss the dissolution of Norway and Sweden have all arrived here to resume the negotiations. A two hours' session was held before lunch when the delegates adjourned for the afternoon. The same secrecy was observed as at the previous meetings.

ATTACKS LAW

Attorney Claims Peddlers' Ordinance Is Not Valid.

Maintains That It Imposes Tax on Interstate Commerce.

Claiming that the Duluth peddlers' ordinance imposes a tax on interstate commerce, and is therefore invalid, Attorney W. E. Whipple, representing Miss L. C. Leary, a traveling agent, is attacking the measure today before Judge Cutting in the municipal court.

Miss Leary is a representative of a Detroit fur house, who has been stopping at the Spaulding hotel, and taking orders for furs, which were forwarded to the house in Detroit and filled from there. The police swore out a warrant for her arrest, claiming that she had violated the ordinance regarding peddlers.

Attorney Whipple claims that the ordinance is unconstitutional, because it imposes a tax on interstate commerce, contrary to the federal statutes. The license fee he claims, in this case is a tax levied on goods brought into the state from Michigan, and maintains that the city has no right to place a tax on any goods brought in from another state, and that the only goods that can be brought under police regulations are those which are meant to defraud, such as phony jewelry.

The argument was not completed at 3 o'clock this afternoon, and Mr. Whipple was still citing cases to support his point.

The same point was brought up on a previous occasion by Attorney R. R. Briggs, in defense of a young man who was arrested for taking orders for cutlery to be filled from a Chicago house. The case was heard before

DULUTH. SUPERIOR.

AMUSES EVA

Superior's Hue and Cry Does Not Worry Grain Inspector.

Wisconsin Folks May Talk, But New System Satisfies.

"The charges of the Superior folks that the Minnesota inspection of grain is tying up the freight cars in the yards there is, in my opinion, most absurd," said F. W. Ewa, the state grain inspector, who is in Duluth today.

"Disposition is made of all cars inspected before they reach the Head of the Lakes and so successful has the office inspection been found that, upon the request of the road and the grain men, the Northern Pacific cars will be inspected in the yards, instead of in the future, instead of in the yards."

"The officials of the railroads say that the inspection work at Sandstone and Cass Lake is not delaying them in the least and our men are doing good work. They are working fast and there are no delays. I have nothing to do with the railroads and I do not know anything about it, but I should think that the new system would be much more satisfactory, as when the cars arrive at the Head of the Lakes, disposition has been made of all of them. There can be no delays in the terminal yards here then."

"Of course, the Superior people are free to have their own opinion about it and they are not antagonizing them in any way. The office inspection has proved very successful and we shall continue it. It is better in every way. The men can work indoors and are not forced to get out in all sorts of weather and they are always assured of good light as there are plenty of windows in the inspection room."

"One company was dissatisfied with the Wisconsin inspection, and had a car switched over to Duluth in order to get Minnesota inspection. This has happened more than once, and the switching charges are no small item of expense."

Another man, very familiar with the inspection of grain, declared that Superior's complaint was all bosh, and that instead of causing delay, the new method of inspection adopted in Minnesota had greatly added the railroads in getting the grain to the Head of the Lakes and out of the way.

"Disposition is made of samples which arrive in the morning practically as soon as they arrive. Superior is certainly putting up a lame figure."

D. M. Phillips, assistant general superintendent of the Great Northern road, was not at his office in Superior today, being out of the city, so no expression could be obtained from him regarding the report sent out from Superior to the effect that incoming Great Northern trains, loaded with grain, were seriously delayed at Cass Lake and Sandstone by inspectors who were sampling the grain under the new rules.

It was announced at Mr. Phillips' office, however, that the delays were of no consequence, although, in some instances, they do occur. "The fact of Cass Lake and Sandstone being located each at the end of a division results in a delay of practically all freight trains passing through the inspection office. The grain is loaded with all by the inspectors, who can work from daylight to dark. Grain cannot be inspected at night, but by means of any kind of artificial light, some of the grain as arrives at the points mentioned during the night cannot be inspected until daylight the following morning. This is a delay, to be sure, but it is not by any means due to the inspection."

"The transfer of train crews consumes some little time on freight trains, but it is seldom that they would get out any quicker if they did not carry grain. Anyway, the delay is entirely unnecessary, and everything considered, the present method of taking samples at Sandstone and Cass Lake is entirely satisfactory, just as much so as when they were taken at the Head of the Lakes, and consequent delays are no greater. They are not at all serious; so very slight are they, in fact, that they should be given no consideration at all."

THREE LOSE THEIR LIVES

By Upsetting of a Boat Near Grand Marais, Mich.

Milwaukee, Sept. 12.—An Evening Wisconsin special from Newbury, Mich., says: A party of seven women and children who started out to pick blackberries were tipped out of a small boat while crossing the bay near Grand Marais, Alger county, and two women and one little girl were drowned.

The dead: MRS. ROSALIA NCASTRO, aged 30 years.

MRS. MARY PALAZZALO, aged about 40 years.

MARY NCASTRO, aged 10. The others saved themselves by clinging to the overturned boat for over half an hour until help arrived from shore. The responsibility for the accident has not yet been fixed.

BUYS BURROWS HOME.

Thomas F. Cole Gets Handsome Residence.

The M. S. Burrows home at the corner of Seventeenth avenue east and Seventeenth street, purchased by Thomas F. Cole, and the consideration is said to have been $30,000. The house is a very handsome one, and one of the most finely finished in Duluth, having a basement completely rebuilt three or four years ago. The site includes 100 feet of ground on First street, and a large and complete stable is also on the property.

This purchase places Mr. Cole in possession of every corner lot on Seventeenth avenue east, from Superior to Second streets. During the few years since Mr. Cole took up his residence on that avenue at First street, he has made it one of the finest residence localities in the city. A. J. Burrows, who has lived in the house, among the finest in the city, have been erected.

M. W. A. Members of Imperial Camp are requested to attend the funeral of Brother F. C. Lockhart, which will be held from the family residence, 105 East Tenth street, at 8 o'clock, Thursday, Sept. 14.

TWO SHOTS FROM CRUISER Caused Captain Post to Decide to Surrender.

Cleveland, Sept. 13.—Capt. Thomas Post of the fishing tug Bertha M. Cockrell, owned by Booth & Co., arrived here today from Port Dover, Ont., and made an official report regarding confiscation of the boat by the Canadian revenue. The tug was on the charge of poaching. The tug carried a crew of six men. The tug is valued at about $7,000. She had on board 6,000 pounds of herring and 10 nets. The members of the crew were released and the tug turned over to the Canadian customs authorities.

The fishing tug attempted to escape, and led the cruiser a lively chase for half an hour. Finally, however, the tug was forced to surrender.

TO GO INTO MORALS

Grand Jury Has City Officials and Hack-drivers Summoned.

Others Expected to Appear—Much Discussion Aroused.

There is considerable consternation in connection with the grand jury meeting which is being held at the courthouse these days. This morning there was a fine aggregation of officials and others about the courthouse awaiting their turn in the sweat box. The members of the county board are in attendance and so are most of the city officials.

To add a little sensation to the cast of characters, there are present also nearly all of the hackdrivers of the city; and some other people are expected to be summoned. The presence of the officials would not count for much were it not for the fact that the hackdrivers were summoned. The county officials, it is believed, are in connection with some road work matter; but the city end of the deal is a different matter.

It is the general supposition that the grand jury is going into the moral affairs of the city and that that explains why the hackmen are asked to appear. It is generally supposed that hackmen could, if they would, tell lurid tales of the doings of the town and its denizens, tales which would do things to marital combinations, and that they should they choose to admit it, the best authority on the morals of the town. But the hackmen have a habit of reticence in such matters which it is hard to break them of.

MAN, WIFE AND TEAM ARE BLOWN TO ATOMS.

Clarksburg, W. Va., Sept. 12.—David M. McKay and wife were instantly killed, and a team of horses and a wagon blown to atoms by the explosion today of forty quarts of nitroglycerine. McKay, accompanied by his wife, was driving to the Salem oil field with the explosive to shoot a well. Only the axle of the wagon was found.

MALINGERERS.

Men Who Sham Diseases For Various Reasons.

The art of shamming disease has reached a high level of perfection, says the London Lancet. This is mainly to be attributed to the fact that the North American continent is a hotbed of malingering. Fresh in the minds of all is the recent case of a professional malingeringer, who, by the use of voluntary paralytic limbs stirred up the lively curiosity of the community, and of the poor, of that charitable gifts flowed into his ready hand.

This case has excited some little attention, chiefly because the police have been unable to find the man, and he is only one of many.

It is, however, in connection with the naval and military services that the art of malingering finds its chief exponents. Of no word, malingering is first applied to the attempts of soldiers to evade military service, and it is of interest to notice the difference that exists between countries in which conscription exists and those in which only voluntary service exists. In the former the malingering is a crime, and in the latter it is a disgrace. In the former it is a crime, and in the latter it is a disgrace. In the former it is a crime, and in the latter it is a disgrace.

In the days when it was necessary for a soldier to lead his musket it was no disgrace to be taken to have one or more teeth extracted or filed down so as to obtain exemption. In connection with the naval and military services that the art of malingering finds its chief exponents.

There is an old tale, in all probability true, that a man who was a malingeringer in the army, and who was given his discharge, as he went off from the barracks on the top of the coach was in the days before railways, he waved a hearty goodbye to his comrades who were to be parted from him. He seemed deaf to all sounds, and at no time uttered a word. He was able to swallow food, both solid and liquid, and indeed he made signs with his lips and tongue when he wanted nourishment. He was brought back to England, but no improvement followed, and the "unconsciousness" lasted for thirteen months. Then it was resolved to raise the depressed portion of the bone. Flaps were made, a trephine was applied and the bone was cut through. An elevator was then introduced to raise the bone, and the bone was lifted up, and the patient was returned to the barracks. He was given his discharge, as he went off from the barracks on the top of the coach was in the days before railways, he waved a hearty goodbye to his comrades who were to be parted from him.

Probably the best example of the performance which a service which they desire to be found in a case under the name of "Olimp." The patient was a sailor in the British navy, and it is worth noting that he was a "robust" man. He fell on his head and a slight depression of the skull was produced. Immediately he became unconscious and all efforts to rouse him failed. He lay quietly in his hammock and never moved. He seemed deaf to all sounds, and at no time uttered a word. He was able to swallow food, both solid and liquid, and indeed he made signs with his lips and tongue when he wanted nourishment. He was brought back to England, but no improvement followed, and the "unconsciousness" lasted for thirteen months. Then it was resolved to raise the depressed portion of the bone. Flaps were made, a trephine was applied and the bone was cut through. An elevator was then introduced to raise the bone, and the bone was lifted up, and the patient was returned to the barracks. He was given his discharge, as he went off from the barracks on the top of the coach was in the days before railways, he waved a hearty goodbye to his comrades who were to be parted from him.

SAYS RICH ARE WASTEFUL.

Clergyman Denounces Extravagant Dinners.

London, Sept. 13.—The extravagance of the rich, who spend on a single dinner enough to keep a workman's family for a year or more, was denounced recently at a meeting of the West Ham unemployed in Barking road.

The Rev. Dr. Courney Benwell said that it had been complained that some of the men made violent speeches. It might be so, he said, but it was surely to be wondered at if they did. Only the other day he said he went to a dinner given by a rich American which cost $125 a head. He thought that such reckless and vulgar expenditure is disgraceful—a statement which met with the unanimous approval of the meeting.

"What," continued Mr. Benwell amid sympathetic cheers, "would $125 in money mean to you in your audience? It would keep a workman and his family in comfort for a year and a half, and it is painful to think that a man would thoughtlessly spend what would keep a number of other human beings for eighteen months on giving a single friend of his own a dinner."

Tom Adams referred to the recent arrival at Liverpool of Harry Payne Whitney, the young American millionaire, and his hiring of a special train at a cost of $60 to take him to a grouse moor. He was contrasting the luxury of this mode of traveling with the want, existing among the unemployed workmen, when several men in the body of the hall produced newspaper clippings relating to recent festivities and to dinner parties of a particularly expensive character. The fact that these unemployed workmen carried these newspaper clippings around in their pockets is taken as an indication of the dissatisfaction prevailing among the lower orders of society regarding the costliness of the functions given by the rich.

MANY OFFERS

To Marry Woman Who Drew Lottery Prize.

Paris, Sept. 13.—Madame Hoffer, the cantiniere of a dragoon regiment at Sedan, who became a millionaire through winning the big prize of the Press lottery, has received Paris and has drawn her money. She is converting her million francs into gold and securities. The cars of wealth are beginning to wear upon this buxom lady.

The correspondence which she has received is enormous. Half of the letters are offers of marriage. Every post brings a score of these. She might become, if she wished, at a single bound, a millionaire or countless, dozens of impetuous noble men having proposed, or the wife of a retired judge of the supreme court, or a German admiral. So far she has rejected all of these addresses, having a sort of suspicion that the suitors are after her money.

The other one-half of her correspondence consists of begging letters, chiefly from inventors who would double the lady's million in a few weeks, if only she would advance the capital. The total of the sums of money she has been asked to give or lend far exceeds her $200,000.

In the neighborhood of the country house which she has just bought, she cannot stir out without being mobbed. She is moving into a flat in Paris and has implored those who know her address not to disclose it.

FUGITIVE CAUGHT

Portland Man Arrested With $1,870 In Gold Coin.

Caught By Detective When He Claimed His Wife's Baggage.

With gold bullion to the value of $1,870 sewed up in a belt which was buckled about his waist, under his clothes, Charles Winter of Portland, Or., was arrested this morning by Detective Terry at the request of the Portland police, who have a charge of embezzlement against him.

Winter was formerly in the employ of a brewing company at Portland. He was given a large sum of money, amounting to nearly $2,000, to pay off the employees, and, according to the claim made by the police, he embezzled it and left the city.

The manner in which he was located sounds like a piece of detective fiction. The Portland police shadowed Winter's wife, and found that she left Portland for Spokane. The Spokane detectives took up the trail from the time she left the train there, and followed her until they found she had purchased a ticket for Duluth. As soon as she was on board the Northern Pacific train for this city, the Duluth police were notified, and giving a description of the woman, and also of her husband, whom it was suspected she was about to join in Duluth. The number of her baggage check was also given.

From the time the train arrived, Detective Terry of the local department was stationed in the Union depot baggage room, and watched the baggage described by the Spokane police. It was hardly hoped that Winter himself would call for it, but the police believed that this would be the easiest way to positively identify the woman, and trace her to her stopping place in Duluth. The man for whom they were searching showed up himself and claimed the baggage. He was promptly arrested by the detectives and taken to headquarters.

Here, on being searched, the belt was discovered, containing $1,870, all in gold coin.

The Duluth police have no particulars of the crime for which Winter is wanted beyond the fact that it is embezzlement. The Portland police were notified by a telegram this morning of Winter's arrest, and probably send instructions this afternoon as to the disposition that is to be made of him.

VERDICT FOR THE RAILWAY

Ann Jane Bloomer Fails to Recover in Damage Suit.

In the damage suit of Anna Jane Bloomer, administratrix of the estate of John Bloomer, deceased, against the Duluth Street Railway company, the jury in the case in district court today returned a verdict which, when opened this morning was found to be for the defendant.

This is the only case decided in district court this morning. In Room No. 1 the suit of the Leisure Lumber company against the Red Cliff Lumber company concerning the matter of a lumber contract and which has been on trial for several days, will likely go to the jury before court adjourns.

Both sides rested their case this morning and the attorneys began their arguments to the court on the case to the jury.

In Room No. 2, the damage suit of August Johnson against the North Shore Abrasive company, was begun by the attorneys opening at the case of the day. Johnson claims that his leg was broken and that while under the care of the company he was injured by falling from a defective scaffold at the north shore. He asks $2,500 damages.

In Room 3 the suit of Robert Pettit against the East Portage Lumber company is still on trial before Judge Cullen. The plaintiff rested their case shortly before noon and the defendant's briefs are to be read on a logging contract.

In No. 1 two cases on the calendar were continued over the term. They are those of John McIntosh vs. the Virginia Lumber company, and of John Pilsdrom vs. George C. Swallow, and others.

TWO INCORPORATIONS.

Local Companies File Articles With Register.

Articles of incorporation were filed this morning with the register of deeds for the Opper Grocery company of Duluth, and the Hudson-Lewis company of Duluth. The former will do a general wholesale and retail mercantile business and the incorporation is to run 30 years. The capital stock is to be $10,000, and the liability limit is to be the same. The incorporators are August K. Keller, Herman Opper and Frank H. Keller, all of Duluth.

The incorporation of the Hudson-Lewis company is to run thirty years and the company will conduct a general real estate, loan and investment business. The capital is $50,000 and the limit of indebtedness will be $100,000. The incorporators and officers are: William H. Lansom, president; A. B. Irvine, vice president; Opper and Frank H. Keller, secretary and treasurer.

STARTLING STORY

Told By Woman Who Asks Divorce Be Set Aside.

Signed Papers Under Duress—Wealthy Widow Is Involved.

Newcastle, Ind., Sept. 13.—Mrs. Frank W. Cooper has filed a motion in the Henry county circuit court to set aside the decree of divorce granted her husband, a wealthy business man of Middletown, Ohio, one week ago, in which she makes some startling accusations, involving her husband, G. L. Swain, an attorney of Middletown, and a wealthy and beautiful widow, also of Middletown.

People here were astounded when they learned that Frank Cooper had been granted a divorce. The affair was carried on with much secrecy, and none but those interested had any inkling of it until the divorce trial was dispensed with and the decree granted, on the ground of cruel treatment.

In her motion Mrs. Cooper alleges that she has been faithful and true to her husband, and that there was no trouble prior to the time that he became the business agent for Mrs. Anna Welsh, who is reputed to be worth $250,000. Since that time she alleges he has paid attention to Mrs. Welsh, neglecting his wife and daughters. She further avers that he would spend his evenings in the home of Mrs. Welsh, would drive about the country with her in an automobile, or in a buggy, and that she was not apprised of the fact that he contemplated asking for divorce until only two days before the divorce was granted.

That he, in the presence of his attorney and a friend named C. C. Druley, told her of his intentions, and that he and those associated with him secured her signature to the agreement of a property division, which, she alleges was obtained under duress, giving him property valued at $5,000 which was rightfully her own. She further alleges that he gave her the impression that she could be imprisoned and punished for remonstrating with him in regard to the attention he paid the wealthy widow, and that while under excitement, and suffering from the shock attending the announcement, she signed the papers, and that she was otherwise injured by her husband employed G. L. Swain to represent her, and said he would pay the attorney for representing her, but that when she asked them to wait a couple of days until she could consider the matter, she was told that the matter must be settled immediately. She avers that she told G. L. Swain, the attorney employed for her by her husband, the morning the divorce was granted, that she did not want the divorce granted, and that she wanted time to consider the matter, but that he came to Newcastle and represented her without her authority, and neither she nor Swain had ever seen the complaint of her husband prior to the time that the divorce case was heard.

It was said at the court house that only an hour elapsed between the time Cooper's complaint was filed and the time that the divorce was granted. This was all done in her absence, Mrs. Cooper says, and that she was not even served with a summons from the court and that the trial was held without her consent, knowledge or authority. She prays the court to set aside the decree of divorce.

Mrs. Cooper also alleges that her husband has enticed their daughters, Carrie and Edna from her, and that they are staying with their father at the hotel which is owned by Mrs. Welsh, and where Mrs. Welsh is also residing.

The Coopers are prominent people, and Mrs. Welsh is the widow of Dr. Welsh, who was reared near Oxford, Ohio, where several surviving relatives live, among whom is Allen Welsh. She is the daughter of J. C. Barber, a retired farmer of Brookville, Ind., and because of her work in Middletown in the way of promoting public improvements and utilities she is regarded as among the foremost women of the county. She owns a large hotel at Middletown, built the electric light plant at that place, was always an ardent worker in the Methodist church and contributed freely to its support.

A dispatch from Anderson is to the effect that Mrs. Cooper and her attorney were in that city and employed the firm of Klittinger & Diven, of Anderson, as associate counsel, and that suit may be filed against Mrs. Welsh for $50,000. Mrs. Welsh is an experienced traveler, having visited and toured the Holy Land, has made a complete tour of Alaska, and even braved the cold atmosphere there, whither she went to look after a claim owned by her husband at the time of his death. Her business agent accompanied her on this trip.

DISTRESS IN CORFU.

People of Island Lazy and Resources Undeveloped.

Athens, Sept. 13.—Advices from Corfu state that, in contrast to the prosperity which more or less prevails throughout Greece, there is much distress in Corfu. This picturesque island, since it was handed over, together with the Ionian islands, to Greece by Great Britain in 1864, has made little progress in comparison with the other provinces of the kingdom. After its annexation to Greece, the islanders, having been deprived of the lucrative employments and the circulation of money to which they were accustomed during the British occupation, have done little or nothing to discover new resources.

Agriculture is still rudimentary, and no rural industry has been developed in spite of the exceptional fertility of the soil. About three-quarters of the rural districts are covered with olive trees, which have never been cultivated. Wine which is the other principal products of the island, is of bad quality and remains unsold. Unfortunately, the Greek government has not been able to raise the peasants from their idleness and ignorance by establishing an adequate number of agricultural schools, or by giving them debts, which has prevented

In the town of Corfu and its suburbs, numbering about 25,000 inhabitants, a large portion of the trade is with Italy and Greece. Some foreigners recently commenced to build a gambling house, but the works have been stopped in consequence of the discouraging attitude of the Greek government. Negotiations are now going on between the Austrian agent and some foreign capitalists who are disposed to buy the palace built at Gostour village by the late Empress Elizabeth and transform it into a sanatorium. The Italian language, a sort of Venetian dialect which had been introduced into Corfu during the Venetian occupation, is still much spoken in the town. This is due to the influence of the excellent schools maintained, both by the religious orders and by the Italian government.

TO IMPROVE SUBMARINES.

Better Ventilation and Effective Periscopes Planned.

London, Sept. 13.—A great deal of interest was taken in naval circles here regarding President Roosevelt's recent trip in a submarine.

As a result of discussions raised regarding the safety of submarines some important experiments are shortly to be entered upon at Portsmouth.

The chief purpose of these experiments is to test the best methods of eliminating foul air from the interior during a long spell of submergence. A new type of periscope also will be tried. By a public coincidence the craft selected for these experiments is the Albatross, which was run down by a liner, owing to the limited range of her periscope not permitting her occupants to see the approaching liner until too late.

The principle upon which it will be sought to eject the foul vapors is by keeping up a continuous circulation, partly by fans and partly by jets of compressed air. The noxious gases invariably settle to the bottom of the boat by reason of their density, and the up-take of the constant powerful drop entering the exhaust pipe leading out through the deck about the conning tower will, it is expected, keep the interior sweet and stocky. The new periscope, it is claimed, will render the whole of the surrounding sea visible to the occupants of the submerged boat, instead of only an arc of it, as with the present pattern.

CITY'S TAX RATE IS DETERMINED

Conference Committee Fixes It at Last Year's Figure.

Some Funds Are Cut Down and Others Raised.

The deliberations of the city authorities over the determination of what the tax levy of the city of Duluth should be for the coming year would seem to be a matter in which the public has as much an interest as any of the officials, and upon which they are entitled to know everything. The Herald reporter was informed yesterday afternoon when the conference committee was meeting for the purpose of fixing the levy, that the session was an executive one.

The general public will, therefore, have to be content with the results given out. The session was held in the mayor's office, and the conference committee fixed the city's rate for the taxes of the year 1906 at 14.5 mills, the same figure as last year.

Final action was not taken, but the figures agreed upon are not likely to be changed, and at the meeting next Saturday will doubtless be adopted and sent to the council for approval.

The council has power to lower the levy or shift the amount apportioned to the different funds, but it cannot raise the total amount.

While the tax rate remains the same this year, the amount of taxes levied by the city is not the same. The increase in the assessed value of city property, the committee in fixing the levy figured on an increase of $400,000 in the value, which will probably prove to be conservative figures. At a rate of 14.5 mills this would give an increase of $5,800 in the amount to be raised by levy.

The committee this year estimates the general fund receipts at approximately $250,000. The general fund receipts are derived from liquor licenses, $100,000; licenses and fees of various kinds, $100,000; the amount of the city's share of the state and federal taxes, $50,000; although the amount actually received was several thousand dollars more than this. This means a decrease of about $5,000 in the estimated receipts this year, which will leave the total estimated taxes about $2,000 more than the estimate for last year.

The principal increases made this year were in the board of public works fund, the police fund and the park fund. The board of public works fund was increased by $1,000, the police fund by $1,000, and the park fund by $1,000.

The police fund was increased about $1,000. The park fund is anxious to purchase twenty acres of land adjoining Chester park on the northwestern corner and reaching to the boulevard. It has an option on this land for $10,000, and the board can be purchased for $10,000. The increased appropriation will allow the board to purchase the ground, which is considered a valuable piece of property.

A substantial saving has been made in the interest fund taxes collected last year, which proved greater than expected. There will be a balance in the fund this year, and the appropriation for next year was cut down to $10,000.

This cut was made owing to the fact that no appropriation will be purchased this year, whereas last year allowance had to be made for a new engine and other equipment.

A few hundred dollars was cut off the health department fund, and the municipal court fund was decreased $1,000, which was found to be possible.

The printing and supply fund had to be increased about $2,000 to allow for the printing of the new compilation of the city ordinances.

Another increase made this year which could not be avoided was an allowance of $100,000, or growth of the will, for persons. This was fixed by the law passed at the last session of the legislature.

The following table shows the amount of money apportioned to the different funds by the conference committee this year as compared with the amount actually determined on by the council last year.

THE DEMOCRATIC CHIEFTAIN.

Easily the most commanding figure in the rather confused ranks of Democracy, William J. Bryan can always secure a hearing from the rank and file of that party, and indeed the rank and file of American citizenship are always anxious to hear what he has to say. Throughout the various experiences of Democracy in recent years he has been almost the one calm, abiding figure, and he has borne himself with a consistency and honesty that has given him high standing outside of his party as well as inside.

Last night he talked in Chicago, and naturally the ovation that was given him by the Jefferson club took something the nature of a proffer of the presidential nomination, informally, when his name was mentioned in that connection. His attitude toward it was not uncertain.

"I want to make my position perfectly clear to you," he said. "I want to say that not only am I not announcing a candidacy, but I am not permitting a candidacy."

There is no lack of certainty in this utterance. Whatever he may be later—indeed he specifically denied having said that he never again would be a candidate—he is not now a seeker after the honors of nomination. That events may shape themselves so that he may be the Democratic candidate in 1908 is not at all unlikely, but that is three long, pregnant years away.

The feature of his talk was the manner in which he drew the line between the Democratic and Republican ideas of popular government, and applied the distinction to the much-discussed subject of federal control of trusts and insurance companies. He makes a sharp distinction between giving the federal government full control of interstate traffic and giving it complete control of these or any industries in such a manner as to take away the existing rights of the state. There are two ideals of popular government, he said, that tending away from the people and that tending toward popular control. Neither of these ideals is wholly realized in any one nation, but most nations are tending toward the fullest measure of popular government. In this country the Republican party tends toward centralization, away from the people instead of toward them, while the Democratic ideal is strongly toward state rights and popular control.

Mr. Bryan declared himself firmly against any national chartering of industries that would permit them to override state laws, as being contrary to the principles upon which the government was founded. Such proposals, he said, were inconsistent with the spirit of democracy as the Democratic party had viewed them from the beginning.

THE CITY TAX RATE.

The threat of a possible increase in the tax rate for city purposes appears to have been averted, the conference committee having in charge the fixing of the 1906 tax levy having met last night and experimentally set it at 14.9 mills, the same as last year. The committee meets again Saturday to formally decide upon it, but it is said that there is no probability that it will be raised.

This is better than an increase in the tax rate, but it is still a slight increase in taxes, which should have been avoided if by any means possible. With a large increase in the valuation of the city, to keep the tax rate at the same figure as last year means an increase of taxes. Had the expenditures been kept down to last year's figures, there would have been a reduction in the city tax rate, which is the end that should be sought.

To put it another way, had the expenditures for the coming year been estimated the same as this year's, and the tax levy made the same as that made last year, the increase in the assessed valuation of the city would have increased the tax rate. Instead, the levy is increased enough to eat up the increase in valuation, so the rate remains the same.

The next body to make up its levy will be the school board, and it is to it that the taxpayers will now have to look for any decrease in the total tax rate there may be beyond that already made by the county.

TODAY'S OPPORTUNITIES.

There are more opportunities than there are young men to take advantage of them. As always, young men must help make their opportunities. The trouble with young men of today is that they expect opportunity to come to them, and expect to reap almost as soon as they sow. Energy, system, perseverance, these are the great components of success in a young man's life, and with them he is bound to succeed today as well as he ever succeeded.—James J. Hill in New York interview published in The Herald last night.

When "Jim" Hill talks for publication, it is pretty safe to count on something worth while. He has about him a sort of hard-headed common sense, a kind of homely philosophy that explains his own success in life and that serves to point the way to success for young men with sense enough to follow its directions. This is no exception to the general rule that he says something worth while when he talks. Somebody else might have said the same thing; somebody else doubtless has; but it means more to have "Jim" Hill say it because he has lived and worked and known.

In the interview which The Herald published last night, Mr. Hill pointed out that the reason a lot of young fellows of today are complaining that the day of opportunity is gone is that they have been sitting back and waiting for opportunity to come and beat its way into their heads by force of might. Such methods never brought success in any day or any age. Always, it is the young man who keeps a weather eye out for opportunity, who embraces it when he sees it and who never lets it go out of his sight again, that wins. Opportunity, like fortune, is manifestly feminine, and therefore to be wooed and won by persistence and energy. Faint heart ne'er won fair lady, nor did faint heart ever win fair fortune.

It is to know what you are going after, and to go after it, that counts. Aimless batting away at everything in sight, or idle waiting for something to come, are wasteful, fruitless. To have an aim, to have a system of following it up, to keep everlastingly at it; these are the secrets of success. To those who comport themselves after this manner does opportunity most frequently present itself. How many a man knows opportunity when it arrives if he has no aim in life, no knowledge even of his own ambitions?

One's own will and strength of purpose have more to do with success than lazy folks dream of.

HUNTING WITH GATLINGS.

A writer in Shields' Magazine announces that a new automatic shotgun went on the market a few days ago, and announces at the same time a systematic fight against the use of such a gun in hunting, to take the form of appeals to the various legislatures to make its use unlawful. The principal advantage of the new gun appears to be that it is a rapid-fire repeating shotgun, and therefore the hunter will stand more chance of killing birds with it than he will with the ordinary double-barreled shotgun, or even with the repeating "pump" gun.

It seems that if a man is armed with one of these guns and gets into a covey of birds, all he has to do is to pull the trigger six times without removing the gun from his shoulder or reloading, and six charges will be fired into the covey.

Why not explode a charge of dynamite under the covey while it is sitting, and accomplish the same result? That would be just as sportsmanlike as the use of such a Gatling gun as the one thus described, it appears to The Herald. Certainly the gun must be designed for pot hunters and those who hunt for the market, for surely no sportsman worthy of the name would use one in his hunting expeditions. It is quite as sportsmanlike as killing brook trout with dynamite—no more, no less.

The game-bird supply of the United States is dwindling rapidly enough as it is, without permitting the use of such methods. Those who hunt for the market, that the high-priced cafes of the cities may have game on their tables without regard to game laws, will undoubtedly find in the machine gun a very useful ally. But as to those who hunt for sport, it seems incredible that any of them should descend to the level of the fisher with dynamite and go hunting game birds with a Gatling gun.

The Herald hopes that when the legislature of Minnesota meets again it will make the use of such guns as illegal as the use of dynamite and other unsportsmanlike methods of game slaughter.

TALKING BY MAIL.

There is a French invention of recent date that amounts literally to "talking by mail," and it makes a very pretty variation both of the system of correspondence and of souvenir postal cards.

In brief, the idea is to send phonograph records in the form of postal cards, so that they may be placed in a phonograph and made to deliver their message in the voice of the sender. Thus a Duluth man, traveling in Germany, could buy a postal card upon which he could record a message. Then he could address it, affix a stamp, and trust it to the mails. Later his Duluth friends would receive it, place it in a phonograph and hear, in his own voice, what he had to say.

The idea of substituting a sheet of paper which may be sent as a letter, for the wax cylinder of ordinary phonographs, originated with Jules Verne, the French novelist of most fertile imagination, but the scheme was later worked out in the postal card form came from a French artist, M. Armbruster.

It is said that the apparatus necessary to accomplish this plan can be carried in small compass, so that it will not be burdensome to the ordinary tourist, and that its cost is low enough so that almost everybody able to travel may command it. It might be supposed that the record would be spoiled in sending, but this does not occur, it is said, the writing of the address over it and the stamping of the postmark not affecting it in the least.

It is a very pretty evolution of the souvenir postal card idea, and if it is as successful as claimed for it, it will undoubtedly be popular.

THE FIELD SURVEY.

The World—Hello, Japan. Where did you get that black eye?

Japan—Oh, you ought to see the other fellow!

Jacob Riis has refused to become a candidate for mayor of New York. Wise man. No mayor has ever been called "the most useful man in New York."

Hotel Gossip.

"I am greatly interested in America; it is a fine country," said Hans Von Schweinitz of Germany at the Spalding. Mr. Von Schweinitz is an engineer of the Royal Prussian administration of mines, and is now in this country for the purpose of gaining a knowledge of mining as conducted in the United States. This is the fifth week of a six months' tour. He returned from the range last Saturday, much impressed with what he saw there.

His trip is proving very interesting as well as very profitable, he continued. "If it were the mines themselves I was to study, I might as well have stayed at home. There really is no comparison. We have no such quantities of rich ore especially in the iron mines here, as they have in the United States."

"Mining methods are much alike in the two countries," he said. "The general conduct of the mines there is very little different from the conduct of the mines here. There are so many little things that to save time they are more rapid than the methods here. We can profit by them. The opportunity to get take advantage of having been established even to the details."

"Your range is much richer than the European range," he said. "I am much interested in the work there, for it is the only American mining method that has been established even to the details."

"Another point in which the American mining interests are better looked after than the European, is the fact that the students of your better schools, such as I have seen, are compelled to spend their vacation watching the mines. In Germany the students have the privilege of doing that, but it is not compulsory. That, of course, means that they do not take advantage of having been established even to the details."

"I don't think that your workmen are any better off than ours. They earn more, perhaps, but they spend a good deal more. They are more dissipated than the German workmen. They dress better, and they are more outside of that. A dollar in Germany is the equivalent of a dollar here, but in Germany it is worth more than it is here."

Von Schweinitz went from Duluth to St. Paul, and from there he will go to the Yellowstone region, thence to the coast, and finally to San Francisco.

Among the passengers who started down the lakes on the steamer North Star, from Duluth, were Mr. Manning and family of New York. Mr. Manning is a well-known mining engineer, and is a member of the executive committee of the American Mining Congress.

"Buffalo was holding their big convention this summer," said S. H. Spring of Buffalo, who is a member of the executive committee of the American Mining Congress. "The convention was a great success, and was a great benefit to the commerce of the two cities, and will also be a great benefit to the commerce of the Gulf of Mexico."

The Weather.

Now we are beginning to experience the quickening delights of Indian summer. This morning was crisp and cool and invigorating. The pedestrian stepped out with a smarter, quicker pace, and his walk yielded more enjoyment than it did in the warmer, lazier weather. And when, refreshed and invigorated by his walk, he settled down to his day's work, it was with a new energy and forcefulness that quickly made itself evident in the products of that work.

And the moonlight these nights is something wonderful. The moon is full, and when it is clear as it was last night, the world is bathed in molten silver. It is almost as light as day, yet there is the uncertainty of moonlight about it that adds a touch of weirdness to the scenery. The frost came last night, all right, and those who sank to slumber with light coverings mostly awoke in the night to the necessity of getting more bed clothes. CURED BY COOPER.

A Prominent Citizen of Milwaukee Praises the Philanthropist and His Remarkable Medicine.

It is doubtful if a more enthusiastic believer in the Great Cooper and his new discoveries in medicines can be found in this state than Mr. Feurhelm, a prominent citizen of Milwaukee, residing at No. 318 Wright St. Mr. Feurhelm was afflicted with stomach trouble and a severe case of indigestion. In a letter just received from Mr. Feurhelm he states that he had tried every remedy he could hear of, and had been under the care of a physician for several months without receiving any benefit. He heard so much of Cooper and his remarkable cures that he decided to consult him. After one week's treatment he felt like a new man, and a week later was able to go to work. Mr. Feurhelm says he is very glad Cooper came to Milwaukee, and heartily recommends the Cooper remedies to every sufferer from stomach trouble. Mr. S. E. Joyce, Mr. Cooper's special agent for Duluth and vicinity, states that the remedies are having a remarkable sale, and many cures are being reported. The new discovery sells for one dollar a bottle, or six for five dollars. The assistant remedy, Cooper's Quick Relief, sells for fifty cents. The medicines cure Stomach Trouble, Rheumatism, Catarrh, Deafness, Paralysis, and all the ailments of the blood. They are new discoveries in medicines.

HEARING GIVEN

Regarding the Reservoirs at Headwaters of the Mississippi.

Aitkin and Grand Rapids People Heard By the Engineers.

St. Paul, Sept. 13.—Dr. C. S. Kathon of Aitkin was one of the star witnesses at the public hearing yesterday before a commission of United States engineers, which is investigating the cause of the complaints received by the government regarding the operation of the reservoirs at the headwaters of the Mississippi. He gave to the commission figures to show that an unusual quantity of water had been released and permitted to flow down the city during the year, and that several floods have occurred since the installation of the reservoirs in 1884. He laid the difficulty to the management of the reservoirs, and asked that a drainage ditch be constructed to take the surplus water to another locality. Throughout his speech, Dr. Kathon made frequent use of the term "paramount interests" and insisted that the management of the reservoirs had been such as to favor the interests of the city of St. Paul at the expense of the interests in the Twin Cities. He declared that the people of the north were not getting what they ought to out of the system of reservoirs.

R. D. Brown of Minneapolis retorted that the only interests recognized by the government on navigable streams are those of navigation. William Lyon of the Burlington Lumber company, said that his company had been put to great expense through the necessity of raising trucks about Cass Lake because of the flood due to the reservoirs.

Formal application for the maintenance of the present system was entered by the Northern Paper company, the Northern Paper company of Cloquet, Captain William Lyon of the Burlington Lumber company and the Planet Steamer line.

C. C. McCarthy, representing the Itasca Paper company at Grand Rapids and the Northern Timber Supply company at Cohasset, was the last formal speaker of the session. He made charges that the last reservoirs are now managed expressly for the benefit of the manufacturing interests at St. Anthony falls and throughout Hennepin county. In support of this assertion he presented a list of names of the board of engineers.

"I'd like to see that interview," said Mr. Potter.

"All right, I have the paper here," replied Mr. McCarthy.

The statement in question was that "the reservoirs were built and are maintained to keep up the water level of the Mississippi river at St. Paul and the water power head at St. Anthony falls."

Mr. McCarthy declared that the reservoirs could be so managed as to benefit all the interests along the river, but they could not be so managed as to be abolished altogether. He said that the companies he represented did not want them abolished, except as a last resort.

"We ought to get from 800 to 1,000 feet a second. They are discriminating against us in favor of the lower places, and that is something that is unconstitutional and against the spirit of the government and all the laws of the country. There are 450 miles of rivers that are being ignored just to benefit the people down here."

"Do you know that with the natural flow of the river you would get only 400 feet per second?" asked Mr. McCarthy.

"Well, sometimes we'd get more than that," he said.

H. V. Eva of the Duluth Commercial club was present at the meeting, and reported, bringing before the board of engineers the case of Cass Lake. A. M. Yermian was on hand to represent the interests of the O'Neill Lumber company.

IS NOT TIME YET

To Choose Candidate For Presidency, Says W. J. Bryan.

Democratic Leader Speaks at Banquet Given In His Honor.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—William J. Bryan, soon to leave for a tour of the world, was the recipient of a notable testimonial of esteem in the form of a banquet given in his honor by the Jefferson club, at their rooms, Randolph and Clark streets. Covers were laid for 300 guests, and among those present were Congressman F. P. Rainey of Illinois, Ollie M. James of Kentucky, Mayor Edward F. Dunne of Chicago, Judge James B. Tarkin of Covington, Ky., Samuel Alschuler of Aurora, Ill., E. L. Masters, president of the Jefferson club, Clarence S. Darrow and other Chicagoans.

He introduced as first speaker Congressman Rainey of Illinois, who spoke of "Our Progress as a Nation." Mr. Rainey's address had as its keynote the expansion and the need of tariff revision. He concluded, amid applause, with expressions of admiration for Mr. Bryan, and wishes for a pleasant tour and a safe return for Mr. Bryan, "to those whom he loves and who love him."

Mayor Dunne was cordially greeted as he rose to speak on "The Progress of Municipal Ownership." He said in

"We have met tonight to do honor and wish bon voyage to our distinguished and admired guest, Col. Bryan. We admire and respect him because at all times, under all circumstances, and in every place he found himself he has stood for purity in politics, and placed man before mammon. Whether in victory or defeat, he always stood for the right, and the man who so acts must always earn, as he has earned, the respect and admiration of his fellow countrymen. Now that he is leaving us for a trip abroad, our good wishes go with him, and we wish him in his travels abroad, to note well the advantages and disadvantages of governmental institutions, and to bring back to us the benefits of his observation and experiences. And particularly we ask him to inquire into the reports to us the results which he discovers of the operation of great public utilities, in private and in public hands."

Mr. Bryan then rose to speak. He was greeted with an enthusiastic demonstration and it was some minutes before he could get a word in edgewise. He said that he had no doubt that the plan which he had submitted to the city council would be adopted, and that he would be glad to see the city council adopt it.

"The feature of the plan," he said, "has been successfully attacked. It has been subjected to abuse but not criticism. It has been subjected to inspection and straightforward investigation. The fact is that the plan has been subjected to the most thorough and complete investigation that has ever been made of a plan of this kind. Every possible obstacle will be thrown in its way by the traction companies. Every trick and artifice that the wily and well paid agent of the traction companies can devise will be brought to bear against it. But the onward march of the city and throughout the civilized world will be simply retarded but never defeated."

Ollie M. James of Kentucky, brought out round after round of applause for the speaker. He said that he was a democrat and that he was a democrat.

In a brief address Judge J. B. Tarkin declared that he was a democrat and that he was a democrat.

"You will look for a man who stands for something, and who is not a construction of the government, but a man who is a democrat and that he is a democrat."

"We have gained a reputation for having the best. We want to call your attention to the fact that it is our aim not only to have the best but to have original, artistic, jewels, that are not duplicated. The jewelry business is an art. It is a constant study with us to produce goods of taste and merit."

Our Mr. Bagley will go East one week from today and will superintend the making of the richest lot of hand ornament and precious stone jewelry that we have ever before shown.

PAUL INGHAM IS DROWNED

Well Known Duluth Man Meets Death Near Koochiching.

While canoeing with his brother near Koochiching yesterday, Paul P. Ingham, assistant superintendent of the Scott-Griff Lumber company, was accidentally drowned. The body was recovered from the water and taken to the Scott-Griff company, where it was placed in a coffin. The accident occurred while the two brothers were canoeing on the Koochiching river. Paul was 29 years of age and had been in the employ of the Scott-Griff company for some time. He was a native of Michigan and was an alumnus of the University of Michigan and an accomplished scholar. No arrangements have been made for the funeral yet.

Two Men Dead and a Woman Seriously Injured.
Washington, Sept. 13.—Two men dead and a woman seriously wounded was the result of a shooting affair last night in South street, Washington. The dead are George T. Morgan and Charles Souder, and Lillian J. Souder, wife of the latter, wounded. Souder and his wife were not living together, and the woman was living at the place where Morgan boarded. Souder met his wife as she was coming from her work and accompanied her home. Loud talk was heard by the neighbors, followed by the shooting, and when the first persons arrived the men were dead and the woman wounded. She was removed to Providence hospital, but was too weak to make a statement. The police theory is that Souder shot and killed Morgan, shot his wife and then committed suicide.

BRIEF TELEGRAMS.

The Harrison Line steamer, Wing, the French bark General Archard, six days ago, was captured by the Canadian customs on board 300 contract laborers from Colombia, who will disembark there. The alien liner Victor arrived at Quebec under her own steam. She is apparently not seriously damaged. Temporary repairs will be made there and she will be taken to England for docking and permanent repairs.

The American fishing tug Bertha L. Cockrell, of Erie, Pa., was captured about twenty miles off Port Burwell, Ont., by the Canadian customs. The vessel was carrying about 5,000 pounds of white fish and 100 nets were on the Cockrell. The tug was taken to Port Dover and turned over to the Canadian customs authorities.

In a severe electrical storm Monday night, Fred Erdman of Ladysmith, Wis., was instantly killed. The house he was in was struck and a brother was injured. The house was partly paralyzed. Representatives of the Dallas Typographical union called on the proprietors of the local printing establishments with the demand that they sign an agreement to work on an eight hour schedule on and after January 1, 1906. The demand was refused by the members of the local executive committee regarding the proposed structure. STILL THEY COME TELL Bears Have Fondness For Life In a Gay Metropolis. Says Rockefeller as to Public Opinion Concerning Himself.

It Is Usually a Short Oil King Looks to Future For His Vindication.

Life in a metropolis continues to attract the bears of the state, for they like them to Duluth in goodly numbers, and some of them never return to the wilderness again. When Duluth guns speak they obey the call of the wild.

Citizens residing near Eighteenth avenue east and Fourth street arose early this morning to inspect the remains of a big bear which was shot in A. L. Warner's backyard late last night. A. L. Warner, manager of the carpet and rug department in Premuth's, the killing of the bear was the latest one reported up to a late hour this afternoon, although, of course, the creature was long since dead.

It is said that none of those present at the shooting cared to remain long out in the night air, knowing the fondness of the bears for the neighborhood, but this story would probably be pool-poled by all of them in the bright, friendly sunshine of today.

The dead bear is a female specimen and weighs about 200 pounds. It was shot while in the act of robbing Mr. Warner's garbage can.

Dr. B. G. Peterson of 2120 East Fifth street fired the successful one of a number of shots hurled at a big black bear in the neighborhood of his residence last evening. The creature was first seen in the rear of M. M. Tillerquist's residence, and courting were going on. The bear was shot in the chest, and it fell to the ground. HUNGARIAN PREMIER RESIGNS HIS OFFICE.

Vienna, Sept. 13.—Gen. Baron Fejervary, the Hungarian premier, after long interviews with the king-emperor yesterday morning and afternoon, tendered his resignation. It is understood that the resignation will be accepted, and that his majesty will, in the next few days, receive Francis Kosuth and other members of the united opposition in the Hungarian parliament, with the view of endeavoring to arrange a compromise.

Complete uncertainty, however, prevails regarding the outcome of the crisis. It is understood that the reason the premier resigned was because the king-emperor refused to consent to the carrying out of his scheme for the granting of universal suffrage to the Hungarians, which he advanced as one of the means of bringing about the defeat of the united opposition.

Parliament will meet Sept. 15, when Premier Fejervary is expected to present a decree of prorogation, and at the same time accept the resignation of his cabinet.

I take a party of my friends South to spend a month. This is for the purpose of getting into the open air more than for the purpose of getting the milder climate. Mrs. Rockefeller always did something me against too long a stay in the South because she maintains, and she was the wife of Bruce McClellan, a wealthy American, who was so disgraced at his wife's actions that he cut his own throat in a Paris hotel.

Mrs. Dalton No. 2 says she will kill her husband and herself before she will give him up. Although people in this city have just learned of the existence of wife No. 1, Dr. Dalton's romance with No. 2 is well known to Denver society. He met her abroad seven years ago. She was born in Teheran, Persia. Her father was a satrap, with power over six provinces. He was implicated in a revolution and banished for ten years. Then he took his family to London, where his daughter, Vasyia, was educated. She married and traveled over Europe. Then she took Paris by storm with her violin and her beauty and famous dancing.

Dr. Henry Dalton, a brilliant young surgeon, taking a vacation from his post-graduate course at Heidelberg, met her and lost his head and heart. She ran away from home, it is said, and he followed her to Paris, where they were married.

TWENTY ARE COMING.
Large Delegation Expected From Minneapolis Board.
Twenty or twenty-five members of the Minneapolis real estate board are expected to come to Duluth Saturday to look over the city, the iron range and the water power, as the guests of the Duluth real estate exchange.

The same number is expected from St. Paul, but it is not known how many delegates to the Duluth real estate exchange will come over also.

The list of those who will speak at the banquet to be held Saturday at the Commercial club has not been announced.

DULUTH IS DROBBED.
Calumet Trims White Sox 11 to 1.
Calumet gave Duluth an awful drubbing in the baseball contest yesterday and the tarntestorng champions of the Northern league presented a sorry spectacle. Eleven to 1 was the way they emerged from the one-sided contest, and the large crowd of spectators lost considerable respect for the Y association which turned out these champions. The teams are playing again today.

PERSIAN ROMANCE
Leads to Bigamy By Prominent Denver Doctor.
Denver, Col., Sept. 13.—Dr. Henry Dalton, said to belong to an aristocratic Massachusetts family, a graduate of Harvard and Heidelberg universities and a well-known contributor to medical journals, is a fugitive, with a charge of bigamy against him. His first wife arrived here yesterday from her home in Cambridge, and exposed the doctor's double life.

His second wife, with whom he fell in love while he was studying at Heidelberg, was a famous beauty when he married her in Paris. At that time she was the wife of Bruce McClellan, a wealthy American, who was so disgraced at his wife's actions that he cut his own throat in a Paris hotel.

Another Large Audience Sees Great Production.
"Ben Hur" drew a large audience last evening, the better weather aiding the attendance materially. The production was again presented in a faultless manner, and with that excellence of stage management that always characterizes it. In spite of the great number of scenes requiring stupendous settings and many changes, the entire performance was con-

RESERVOIR HEARING ENDS

Engineers Listen to Address By Ex-Senator Washburn.

St. Paul, Sept. 14.—(Special to The Her-ald.)—The concluding session of the public hearing concerning reservoirs on the Mississippi, before the board of United States engineers, was held today in the old postoffice building. This afternoon the board held an executive session to consider the testimony submitted at the hearing, and tomorrow its members will depart for their several posts.

The principal address today was that made by former United States Senator W. D. Washburn of Minnesota. Senator Washburn declared that during the time that wooden dams were superseded by the present concrete reservoirs, there never had been the flow of water that exists at the present time at St. Paul.

"We are getting a much larger appropriation each year for the benefit of the lakes at Superior and Duluth than for the improvements along the Upper Mississippi," said Mr. Washburn. "Lake Superior improvements have received far greater assistance than any other river ever has and the government has been the cause of the establishment of the city of Superior by its great improvements there. The appropriations there have never been asked in the interest of navigation, as they have along the Mississippi river."

STORY SAID TO BE A FAKE

Suicide at Minot, N. D., Was Man Named
Young.

Youngstown, Ohio, Sept. 14.—There is little doubt that the alleged confession of Charles Herzig at Minot, N. D., is a fake. The man who is alleged to have died and really did die is Arthur Young, a wanderer. He left a note on his body when he committed suicide, saying his name was Young and that he formerly lived at Oregon City, Or. This was printed in the Minot Optic on the same day that the story was sent out from that city. A copy of the paper was received here today containing the story of the suicide, but making no mention of the alleged confession. The fact that the story was sent out from Minot and that Charles Herzig was in that city is fairly good evidence of the source of the story, which the newspaper men made use of. Herzig is a considerable of a joke and a prankster, and the newspaper men of the murder. He sent the paper to a friend in this city.

NEW RULING FOR SOME MEDICINE MAKERS.

Washington, Sept. 14.—The commissioner of internal revenue today rendered a decision that will affect a number of patent medicines composed largely of distilled liquors. He has reversed a ruling of his department made many years ago, and now decides that the makers of these medicines must take out licenses as rectifiers and liquor dealers and that druggists and others handling them will have to pay the usual retail liquor license.

SALE OF ARMS To the Public Again Prohibited In St. Petersburg.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 14.—A proclamation signed by Assistant Minister of the Interior Trepoft has been posted throughout St. Petersburg again prohibiting the sale of revolvers or ammunition to the public generally and also forbidding army officers to purchase revolvers or ammunition without the permission of their superiors. The orders recently issued forbidding the sale of arms or ammunition in the open markets were partly ignored yesterday. The authorities searched the markets, confiscated all the arms and ammunition which were for sale, and fined the dealers.

The chorus choir of St. John's English Lutheran church will resume rehearsals after several weeks' vacation. The first meeting will be held tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock.

Volney S. Wilkinson, United States stockkeeper at Northern Pacific dock No. 4, has received word that the nineteenth annual reunion of the Ninth Illinois Cavalry Veterans' association will be held at Grand Army hall, Chicago, Sept. 25 and 26. Mr. Wilkinson is a member of the association, and there are several others living in this vicinity.

Scenes of citizenship papers were issued in United States court today to Olaf G. Pearson, formerly of Sweden.

An unknown woodsman treated considerable excitement by falling to the sidewalk in a fit, in front of the St. Louis hotel this afternoon. The police took him to headquarters until he recovered, and he left without giving his name, saying he was subject to such attacks.

A drunken woodsman treated considerable excitement by falling to the sidewalk in a fit, in front of the St. Louis hotel this afternoon. The police took him to headquarters until he recovered, and he left without giving his name, saying he was subject to such attacks.

James A. Burchart of the St. Louis hotel, who has been seriously ill for several days, is now very much improved in health. It is believed that his complete recovery will be rapid. Plans are already being made for a trip for Mr. Burchart during his convalescence.

Mr. Cook, proprietor of the Union Clothing and shoe house, departed last evening for the Northern Pacific in the Eastern markets, where he has gone to complete the purchasing of goods for fall and winter.

The funeral of Thomas Ribbar of Hibbing was held yesterday from the St. Anthony German Catholic church. Rev. Father Schmitt officiated. The deceased, who was 34 years of age, leaves a wife and two children in the old country.

The Northern Pacific passenger train from Minneapolis due in Duluth this morning, was delayed by a collision with a small freight train near White Bear. Two freight cars jumped the track, overturning several others.

It is said there was no serious damage. The collision occurred at 4:30 East First street, about four weeks ago at St. Mary's hospital, by a tall, thin, critical condition. Her husband Adolph Olson, 25, was in the Gowen-Peyton-Twenty company.

PERSONALS

Mark Smith of 133 East Superior street returned to his home at Lakeview, Minn., Pa., accompanied by Roger Hayes of Duluth, who has been visiting him here for about three weeks.

A. M. Gow, assistant chief engineer of the Oliver Iron Mining company, is in Hibbing on business.

E. H. Gidley, who is in the office of Chief Engineer Weesinger of the Oliver Iron Mining company, has returned from Minneapolis, where he spent his vacation. Immigrant Inspector William H. Deen in charge of the patient, and has remained in Boston for a time to visit his mother.

John Mulloy left for St. Paul today. Norman Rose left for Minneapolis today.

H. H. Stone has gone to St. Paul. J. A. Ferguson and family are spending the week at Morris, Minn.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Albertson are visiting at Port Arthur, where Mr. Albertson's mother resides. She has reached there in the evening, and is very bright and well. She is quite well known to many Duluth people.

INDIAN FUNDS
Taxable the Same as Any Citizen's Property.

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 14.—Judge Munger in the United States circuit court today handed down a decision in which he declared that the Indian trust fund on heirship lands to which Congress has given a regular title, and funds deposited in banks to the credit of Indians coming from the sale of these lands is taxable the same as the property of any other citizen. DEMAND IS REPEATED

Freight Handlers Ask Higher Pay or Arbitration.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—Committees of freight house employees called today upon the officials of the various railroad companies here and repeated the union's demand for higher pay or arbitration of the wage scale. It was expected by union officials that the representatives would be universally opposed to the union demands. This proving to be true, the executive board planned to call a mass meeting of all organized freight handlers in Chicago and vicinity and let the rank and file vote as to whether they prefer a strike or wish to remain at work under present conditions.

IS TURNED DOWN

Capt. Jacob Mann Is Refused Special Pilot's License.

Carried to Supervising Inspector General and Is Denied.

Capt. Jacob W. Mann is not to receive special pilot's papers in spite of the fact that he and his attorney, John H. Norton, have made a determined fight for them. Capt. Mann lost his papers last year at the time his ferry boat, the Mary Mann was seized for carrying too many passengers. He applied at once for special pilot's papers but was turned down by Inspectors Monaghan and Chalk at this point. He applied again this year on May 23, but was refused the papers on the ground that he "was not trustworthy and faithful" under the specifications of Section 4442 United States revised statutes. Not satisfied with these turn-downs, the captain, through his attorney John H. Norton, appealed to John D. Sloan of Dubuque, Iowa, supervising inspector of this, the Fifth district. Following is Inspector Sloan's reply:

"From my knowledge of the methods practiced by you in navigating your vessel in the past, as the records of the local inspectors' office indicate, in wilfully violating the law governing the rules and regulations in over-crowding your passengers, in running without a licensed engineer, thereby jeopardizing the lives of passengers, I am therefore compelled to refuse your application for a special pilot's license."

Nothing daunted, Mr. Norton carried the matter to the next higher authority, the attention of George Usher, supervising inspector general at Washington, D. C. After looking the matter over, Inspector Usher wrote Mr. Norton on Sept. 8, as follows:

"I am sorry to hear of your decision sustained the action of the local inspectors at Duluth, refusing a license to you. I am therefore compelled to refuse your application for a special pilot's license. I am therefore compelled to refuse your application for a special pilot's license. I am therefore compelled to refuse your application for a special pilot's license."

Various creditors have petitioned the United States court to declare E. L. Bangle bankrupt, claiming that Bangle owes debts to "the amount of $5,000 and upwards." Bangle is a resident of Duluth, and is engaged principally in farming or the tilling of the soil. The petitioners, and the amounts they claim, are as follows:

Finch, Young & McConville, St. Paul, $1,038.84; G. Sommers & Co., St. Paul, $25.13; and DeJars & Co., St. Paul, $7.43.

In the matter of the bankruptcy of Andrew J. Hunsicker, bankrupt, assets and liabilities were filed today, and showed the assets to be $1,350, of which $750 is exempt, and the debts, $539.11.

Offices Southern Democrats Could Get If They Tried.

Eligible List of Southern States Is Too Short.

Washington, Sept. 14.—The discovery made through the personal investigation of Commissioner Henry F. Greene, of the United States civil service commission, that Democrats as a class refrain from participating in the civil service examinations in the South serves to explain in a measure a point which has puzzled the commission for a long time, namely, the difficulty in maintaining registers of Southern eligibles sufficiently large to enable the Southern states to receive their proper quota in federal appointments.

This information was obtained by Commissioner Greene, while in Kentucky, North Carolina and Tennessee on official business. Commissioner Greene lost no time in making public the results of his investigation, and now the civil service commission is doing all in its power to rectify this condition of affairs.

Various causes are assigned for the reluctance of Southern Democrats to enter the lists for federal plans. Mr. Greene obtained the impression that the main cause was the prevalence of a feeling that, despite academic assurance to the contrary, the spoils still belong to the victors, and that, therefore, a democratic government showing he might make in a competitive examination, stands but little show of appointment. To correct this impression, Mr. Greene has used the columns of several newspapers of the North to call renewed attention to the non-partisan character of appointments made under the civil service act and to cite the fact that the only reason why Republicans are in so great a majority in the minor federal offices of the South is that Democrats have steadfastly declined to take the examination, thereby leaving the commission a list composed entirely of Republicans from which to make the federal selections.

"Without a general participation of the public of all classes and parties in the competitive examinations held for filling positions in the classified service," says Commissioner Greene, "the intent of the law as to the non-partisan character of the appointments cannot be carried out. If, however, there is that general participation in the Southern states which prevails in the Northern states, the civil service commission will undertake to see that appointments are made on a basis of merit, without regard to the politics of eligibles."

The civil service rules positively prohibit employing in any examination paper any statements or recommendations of the applicant, on pain of having the examination canceled. The papers are forwarded to Washington and graded by a non-partisan board of examiners, who have no means of ascertaining the politics of those whose papers they are marking.

From these papers registers are made up for the various states, and from these registers names are selected for the several departments in the order of the grade obtained. If when a selection is made for a Southern state, the successful competitor is in nearly every instance a Republican, it does not mean partisanship on the part of anyone, but that only Republicans have become eligible for appointment.

The average rating obtained by competitors from Southern states is lower than that of the Northern states. "The Democratic party," being the dominant party, of course, comprises the better intelligence as a whole of the community. It is, therefore, evident that if the Democrats as a class should take the lists for federal appointment the standard of eligibles would be raised.

The result of the examination is encouraging, as it adds 312 to the eligible registers for bookkeepers. As calls are received for filling vacancies from the clerk or bookkeeper register in any of the departments, eligibles from the Southern states will be first certified, it being the rule to certify the three eligibles standing highest of the sex called for from the state which at the time has the least share of appointments.

The state entitled to an appointment at this time is Louisiana. It will take twenty-nine appointments from Louisiana to bring it up into the list of Northern states in the order of appointment. Unless a special effort had been made to induce applicants from examination it would have run further and further behind in its share of appointments.

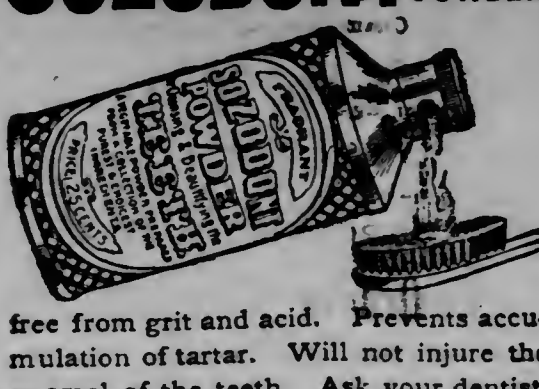

As it is, eight men and five women passed the examination for clerk, and one woman passed for bookkeeper. It will be observed, however, that this does not provide nearly enough eligibles to give Louisiana its due share of appointments.

The state next in turn for appointments after Louisiana is Alabama. This state will be entitled to thirty-five appointments to bring it up to the share which Illinois now has. The May examinations provided twelve men and six women eligibles for clerks, but this is not nearly enough to fill its quota.

Following Alabama comes Mississippi. This state is entitled to have twenty-three appointments to bring it abreast with Minnesota. It furnished only seven men and three women for the clerk register and one man for the bookkeeper register.

Taking the remaining Southern states in the order in which they are entitled to receive appointments, they are Arkansas, Texas, Georgia, Kentucky, Tennessee, nessee, Missouri, South Carolina and North Carolina. These states are each entitled to from fifteen to twenty appointments to bring up their quotas, and male stenographers will have an especially good chance of early appointment.

Eligibles of the South in Washington hope that the present efforts of the civil service commission will result similarly to the movement inaugurated by President Harrison, which resulted in some 200 Southern appointments in the federal service.

BRIEF TELEGRAMS.

Collector Newbury of Victoria, B. C., Wednesday seized the papers of the schooner Acropolis, formerly the Carmichael, and detained the vessel pending an investigation of the charge that it was carrying a cargo of opium.

The ship Yankee, owned by J. Maxwell of New York, left New York on Wednesday night for the Indian state fair at Newport, R. I. The yacht Acropolis was seized by the collector.

Five 5,000 people attended the second day of the Indian state fair at Newport, R. I. The special feature of the day was a race between a team of lower his own and the world's racing record of 1:56. He made the mile in 1:06. He succeeded, however, in reducing the track record 1/4 of a second.

Articles were signed at Salt Lake City Wednesday night for a 29 round contest between the heavyweights John Wille of Chicago and Gus Ruhlin, the winner of the prize money of $10,000.

Without a general participation of the public of all classes and parties in the competitive examinations held for filling positions in the classified service," says Commissioner Greene, "the intent of the law as to the non-partisan character of the appointments cannot be carried out. If, however, there is that general participation in the Southern states which prevails in the Northern states, the civil service commission will undertake to see that appointments are made on a basis of merit, without regard to the politics of eligibles."

MITCHELL WANTS LESS HOURS AND MORE PAY.

Mahoney City, Pa., Sept. 14.—President Mitchell, in a speech to the union here yesterday, came out squarely for recognition of the union and an eight-hour workday, declaring there would be no permanent or lasting peace in the coal and iron industry until the union is recognized and the eight-hour day is established.

"I am stronger than at any time in its history, and is prepared to move on in its own behalf," he said, "as it did in 1902. We demand a decrease in hours and an increase in wages."

TWO MICHIGAN BOYS ACCUSED OF MURDER.

Elkhart, Ind., Sept. 14.—Bert Tidy, 19 years old, whose father is a wealthy farmer, near Elkhart, Mich., and William Griffith, 17 years old, whose parents live at Spinks Corners, Mich., have been brought to this city charged with the murder of a young man named Robert Nodduff, who disappeared from an excursion train on the morning of Aug. 28 and whose body was found in the hydraulic canal. The prosecution was instigated by Fred Erick Nodduff, father of the dead boy.

HOSIERY MAKERS FORM ORGANIZATION.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—Representatives of twenty-two hosiery manufacturers in Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Illinois and Wisconsin met here yesterday, and formed an organization. Henry Starkweather, of Minneapolis, was elected president and W. L. Hixon of Mankato, Minn., secretary and treasurer. The purpose of the association is to regulate freight rates and discounts. The present discount of six per cent on orders is to be done away with, and goods will also be sold f. o. b. factory. It was denied that any advance in prices is contemplated.

NEW TOWN IS ORGANIZED

And Named French in Honor of an Early Settler.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The settlers in town 21-60, have been discussing the advisability of having the town legally organized for some time and pursuant to a call for an election of officers a town meeting was held in that township last Saturday and officers duly elected. The officers elected are as follows: Orange Nichols, chairman; John Duffy and D. A. Reinhold, supervisors; N. A. Thomas, clerk; William Hawkins, treasurer; William H. French, assessor; M. McCone and Joseph Deane, assessors of the road; William Ashton and Donald Campbell, constables; J. W. Sanderson, overseers of highways; James Carmichael, superintendent of township schools.

The settlers in the vicinity of Sturgeon lake are planning for their first annual picnic to be held on banks of French lake, Saturday, Sept. 23. Extensive preparations are in course of preparation and the settlers propose to make it to be remembered in future years as one of the pleasant events of the pioneer days of the town of French, the newly organized township in which that lake is located. Quite a number of people from Hibbing are preparing to attend the day's exercises and every settler in that section will be in attendance.

SKUNK SKINS AND SKUNK OIL

By Light of the September Moon, Massacre Begins.

Bangor, Me., Sept. 14.—The September full moon will be the time for hunting skunks. Ere in Maine about 100 of the unemployed country men will take dogs, and, going out to the meadows where the fat grasshoppers are asleep, will set the dogs to hunt the skunks and will kill and skin all the dark-colored ones. Those who will claim those of a lighter complexion to survive the winter as best they can and bring up the demand for next fall's killing.

Fashion in fur regulates the price of skunk skins. Since then the price of a dark skunk was worth from $2.50 to $3, and there were not enough to supply the demand. Since then the price of a light skunk was worth from $2.50 to $3, and there were not enough to supply the demand.

From 10,000 to 15,000 skunks are slain in Maine each year. The skins of the black ones and leaving those of a lighter color to perpetuate the race has been a long time. The skins of the light ones are sold for $2.50 to $3, and there were not enough to supply the demand.

MODERN FAGIN LANDED.

Induced French Schoolboys to Rob Their Relatives.

Breslau, Sept. 14.—Adolf Fellman, proprietor of a cycling track at Morgengau, has just been sentenced to five years' penal servitude for receiving stolen property, in connection with theft and forgery. The case, which has created a great sensation here, involves a number of school boys and college students of tender age. Fellman became acquainted with the boys through having supplied them with bicycles on hire. This modern Fagin secretly gave them instructions in burglary, safebreaking and shoplifting.

The boys soon became experts in crime, and for the last two years a band of them has carried on a regular system of robbery from the houses of their parents and their friends. Jewelry, clothing and other articles of an aggregate value of $5,000 were stolen in this way and turned over to Fellman, who sold them to retail dealers in other parts of the country. Feltman even supplied the boys with knuckle dusters with which to defend themselves against their parents and friends in the act of robbing them.

In return for their successful exploits, Fellman was in the habit of taking them for motor rides, treating them to suppers and visits to the theater, and in order to abate the suspicion of the school authorities, gave them certificates of illness, provided with the forged signatures of various doctors. In order to account for their absence while they were away on their excursions or occupied in robbing their parents.

The boys were further entertained at Fellman's house by drinking bouts, and readings of sensational songs from socialist books and newspapers. Fellman also gave them lectures on medicine and anatomy, illustrating his instructions with diagrams and magic lantern displays, based on clinical and surgical pictures in the latest medical works. In one case where a boy had been caught by his father

THOUSANDS OF ACRES Are to Be Thrown Open in California.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 14.—The famous old land grants of California are now being systematically opened for settlement by an organization recently formed in that state for this purpose. A new plan has been adopted whereby homesteaders are enabled to secure these lands with less cash outlay than is often required merely to file on government lands. Under the new plan land is distributed to several hundred families at a time at wholesale prices and easy terms, and the force of immediate population creates an unusually rapid increase in values.

The town of Clark City, founded some months ago in Monterey county, is a notable example of the work of this organization. About four hundred families secured lands with water rights at the wholesale price of $37.49 per acre, and values have increased from 100 to 200 per cent since the opening day in April last. A new town, with cement walks, business blocks, schools, churches, stores and a bank sprung into existence in a few weeks.

Each individual was entitled to buy two town lots at acreage prices, and in many instances the increase in values on these lots will soon equal the cost of each fruit farm. The plan is attracting widespread attention, and many Eastern families are taking advantage of the opportunity to secure homes in California.

SUPPLY SHIP IS SAFE IN HARBOR.

St. Johns, N. F., Sept. 14.—Urgent inquiry was received here yesterday by telegram from the Hudson Bay company concerning the whereabouts of the relief steamer Neptune, which, with the Hudson Bay company's supplies on board for the winter, has been expected in the Northern waters for more than a month.

The dispatch came from the Hudson Bay steamer Arctic, which has been patrolling the Northern coasts. The message from the Arctic expressed the fear that the Neptune had been lost. As a matter of fact, however, the Neptune has been lying in the harbor here for the past month while the marine and mounted police department at Ottawa are disputing as to which shall control her.

WOMAN ENDS LIFE.

New York, Sept. 14.—Miss A. W. Wilkey of Washington, D. C., was found dead in her room at the Manhattan hotel, yesterday, shot through the right temple and with a cup nearby containing the drops of a poison which had evidently been drunk some time before. A revolver with one empty chamber which lay beside the body caused the coroner to begin his investigation on the theory that the woman had taken her own life.

Pain from a Burn Promptly Relieved By Chamberlain's Pain Balm.

A little child of Michael Strauss, of Vernon, Conn., was recently in great pain from a burn on the hand, and as cold applications only increased the inflammation, Mr. Strauss came to Mr. James N. Nichols, a local merchant, for something to stop the pain. Mr. Nichols advised him to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and the first application drew out the inflammation and gave immediate relief. I have used this liniment myself and recommend it very often for cuts, burns, strains and lame back, and have never known it to disappoint. For sale by all leading druggists.

ROASTED "GUN TOTER."

Chief Justice Burford Scathingly Arraigned Habit.

Guthrie, O. T., Sept. 14.—A severe arraignment of the "gun toter" was delivered by Chief Justice John H. Burford, of the Oklahoma supreme court, in an opinion handed down. The opinion sustained the conviction in the lower court of William Baysinger of Greer county, who killed a fellow member of a threshing gang as the result of a trivial altercation, and set up a plea of self-defense at the trial. In concluding his opinion, Judge Burford says:

The jury and prosecuting officers are to be congratulated and commended upon the conviction in this case. If convictions in similar cases were more frequent and punishment more sure, human life would be held more sacred and homicides less frequent. The tendency of juries to acquit every man charged with murder who falsely swears to a fictitious case of self-defense has made it practically impossible for the courts to secure the punishment of this class of criminals. A few more convictions and the infliction of appropriate punishment in this class of homicides will inspire the hope that a brighter day is dawning and that the "gun toter" who regards life so cheaply will be less numerous. It is not enough that his fellow men dare not reach for his pocket handkerchief with which to wipe the perspiration from his brow, or produce the traditional pipe of peace, or attempt to obtain his social "plug" of Battie Ax or chew of Mountain Dew fine cut, without having his peaceful conduct attributed to hostile motives and his life taken in so-called self-defense. The period when the certainty of conviction and the fear of adequate punishment will insure a firmer appreciation of the value of human life and a greater regard for the enforcement of the law."

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

Tarpon Springs, Fla., Sept. 14.—At 6 o'clock last evening G. E. Paul, well known contractor, walked into the boarding house of Hiram Pent, of this place, and of this suicide came to meet him, at the dining room, Paul shot her down with a double barreled shotgun and then ran into the back yard, shooting himself with the contents of the other barrel. Paul was instantly killed but his wife lived ten minutes. No cause for Paul's act is known.
